Learning to Be Old Margaret Cruikshank, 2013-02-14 Margaret Cruikshank s Learning to Be Old examines what it means to grow old in America today The book questions social myths and fears about aging sickness and the other social roles of the elderly the over medicalization of many older people and ageism In this book Cruikshank proposes alternatives to the ways aging is usually understood in both popular culture and mainstream gerontology Learning to Be Old does not propose the ideas of successful aging or productive aging but more the idea of learning how to age Featuring new research and analysis the third edition of Learning to be Old demonstrates more thoroughly than the previous editions that aging is socially constructed Among texts on aging the book is unique in its clear focus on the differences in aging for women and men as well as for people in different socioeconomic groups Cruikshank is able to put aging in a broad context that not only focuses on how aging affects women but men as well Key updates in the third edition include changes in the health care system changes in how long older Americans are working especially given the impact of the recession and new material on the brain and mind body interconnections Cruikshank impressively challenges conventional ideas about aging in this third edition of Learning to be Old This will be a must read for everyone interested in new ideas surrounding aging in America today

Issues in Aging Mark Novak, 2018-02-02 Issues in Aging combines social psychological biological and philosophical perspectives to present a multifaceted picture of aging Novak illustrates both the problems and the opportunities that accompany older age This text helps students understand the tremendous variability in aging and introduces them to careers working with older adults This new edition reflects the continued changes in the way we age The fourth edition has been updated to include emerging issues in aging These include the prevalence of HIV AIDs in later life current research on mental potential in old age the creation of age friendly cities and new options for end of life care Each chapter begins with a set of learning objectives to guide students in their reading and concludes with a list of main points questions for discussion or study suggested readings and relevant web sites to consult Each chapter also includes up to date charts and graphs as well as key terms to help students understand the issues presented Break out boxes reveal the human side of aging through the stories of individuals in real life and in the media American Book Publishing Record, 1997 Families as Relationships Robert M. Milardo, Steve Duck, 2000-08-22 The field of family studies has recently seen the development of a more specialized focus on the character of particular relationships The nature of these relationships may take many forms but typically involves individuals who view themselves as a unit with a long term commitment to continue their relationship Traditionally at least in western societies families are defined in terms of two parents living together with responsibility for rearing their children However these so called nuclear families are becoming a rarer phenomenon Single parent families childless couples lesbian or gay male couples are also all represented in the broad mix of relations referred to as families Each of the chapters in this book deals with a primary relationship issue These include issues of early marriage how young relationships become enduring relationships parent and child relations conflict between partners the interface between work and family life marital quality and maintenance divorce and its impact on the family aging and older families This volume provides a useful reference for professionals whose research and or clinical practice focuses on family relationship issues This book is also intended for advanced students in the areas of sociology close relationships and family sciences Families as Relationships is one of a series of paperbacks dedicated to the study and application of processes by which individuals relate to each other in social and family settings Each book provides an expanded and up to date version of a section in the original Handbook of Personal Relationships second edition edited by Steve Duck The Psychology of Women Margaret W.

Matlin, 2004 Appropriate for students from a wide variety of backgrounds this comprehensive text captures women's own experiences through direct quotations and an emphasis on empirical research

The Cultural Context of Aging Jay Sokolovsky, 1997 This volume uses the concept of culture to explore the parameters of aging and being old in a worldwide context thus providing a true cross cultural and qualitative approach to social gerontology Containing both specific case studies and broader analytical articles this revised and expanded second edition focuses on the multitude of cultural solutions societies have available for dealing with the challenges problems and opportunities of growing old Composed almost exclusively of specially commissioned articles the text is organized around six topical areas which cover the major concerns of cross cultural social gerontology Each section is preceded by an introduction providing a framework for the chapters and highlighting key related issues Also included are state of the art resource guides including Internet sites special student resources data sets and annotated bibliographies of related readings The authors come from the fields of anthropology sociology gerontology social work psychology psychiatry and nursing Through explorations of the experiences of real people the contributors illuminate how elders actually live in such places as U S urban ethnic enclaves rural Kenya a South Seas island urban China or a New York City women's shelter Dealing directly with key practical issues relevant to those seeking to pursue a career in the aging field this volume covers policy implications of demographic aging culture and successful aging culture and caregiving gender and aging grandparenthood and the crisis in urban families informal social support homelessness and aging nursing homes and pet therapy assisted suicide and death hastening behavior the aging woman and widowhood rural aging self help groups and the cultural response to Alzheimer's disease This essential text allows students to understand fully how culture can dictate what may appear to be natural responses to elders and aging

Marriages and Families Karen Seccombe, Rebecca L. Warner, 2004 In this fresh more structural alternative to other texts for the marriage and family course Seccombe and Warner provide a comprehensive look at close relationships and the family in just 15 chapters Examining close relationships and families by placing them in social context the authors offer a unique emphasis on the structural and relational aspects of the family with a focus on family resilience The text weaves together a macro view social structural analysis of close relationships with the macro an individualist view The authors demonstrate the interaction of theory and methodology in family studies in Chapter 2 and blend cutting edge research and practical applications throughout Among the highlights of this first edition are the exceptionally thorough exploration of the topics of singlehood and cohabitation in Chapter 7 and the unique six chapter core 8-13 that focuses on all aspects of parenthood and the challenges and crises that families face today The authors emphasis on family resilience and how families can be strengthened is reflected in the Constructing Strong Families boxes that appear throughout the text These features encourage students to apply groundbreaking research on what makes a family strong to their own families and in the concluding chapter Looking Ahead Helping Families Flourish which examines the factors that successful families regardless of ethnicity culture or social class consistently exhibit Journal of Psychosocial Nursing and Mental Health Services ,1999
