"Code of Massachusetts regulations, 2016", 2016 Archival snapshot of entire looseleaf Code of Massachusetts Regulations held by the Social Law Library of Massachusetts as of January 2020 Encyclopedia of Chinese History Michael Dillon, 2016-12-01 China has become accessible to the west in the last twenty years in a way that was not possible in the previous thirty The number of westerners travelling to China to study for business or for tourism has increased dramatically and there has been a corresponding increase in interest in Chinese culture society and economy and increasing coverage of contemporary China in the media Our understanding of China's history has also been evolving The study of history in the People's Republic of China during the Mao Zedong period was strictly regulated and primary sources were rarely available to westerners or even to most Chinese historians Now that the Chinese archives are open to researchers there is a growing body of academic expertise on history in China that is open to western analysis and historical methods This has in many ways changed the way that Chinese history particularly the modern period is viewed The Encyclopedia of Chinese History covers the entire span of Chinese history from the period known primarily through archaeology to the present day. Treating Chinese history in the broadest sense the Encyclopedia includes coverage of the frontier regions of Manchuria, Mongolia, Xinjiang and Tibet that have played such an important role in the history of China Proper and will also include material on Taiwan and on the Chinese diaspora. In A-Z format with entries written by experts in the field of Chinese Studies the Encyclopedia will be an invaluable resource for students of Chinese history, politics and culture.

Aleutian World War II National Historic Area Calendar Compendium Francis Broderick, 2017. Beginning in 2006 the Aleutian World War II National Historic Area has produced calendars with each month focused on an illustrated history related to the program's interpretative themes. Each year the calendars interweave and build upon the two main themes of the national historic area: the Aleutian military campaign and the Unangax Aleut experience of World War II. The calendar stories also reflected the program's focus on the natural environment as well as historic preservation both in reference to Unangax culture and history and to the military campaign. The calendars also explored previously unknown sides of World War II Aleutian experience including primary research on the personal histories of soldiers and civilians in the Aleutian Islands. This calendar compendium draws from a wide range of histories from the 2011 through 2016 calendars.

Materializing Ritual Practices Lisa M. Johnson, Rosemary A. Joyce, 2022-07-15. Materializing Ritual Practices explores the deep history of ritual practice in Mexico and Central America and the ways interdisciplinary research can be coordinated to illuminate how rituals create, destroy and transform social relations. Ritual action produces sequences of creation, destruction and transformation which involve a variety of materials that are active and agential. The materialities of ritual may persist at temporal scales long beyond the lives of humans or be as ephemeral as spoken words, music and scents. In this book archaeologists and ethnographers including specialists in narrative, music and ritual practice explore the rhythms and materiality of rituals that accompany everyday actions like the construction of houses, healing practices and religious festivals and that paced commemoration of rulers, ancestor veneration and relations with spiritual beings in the past. Connecting the kinds of observed material, discursive practices that ethnographers witness to the sedimented practices from which archaeologists infer similar practices in the past, Materializing Ritual Practices addresses how specific materialities encourage repetition in ritual actions and in other circumstances resist changes to ritual sequences. The volume will be of interest to cultural anthropologists, archaeologists and linguists with interests in Central America, ritual materiality and time.

Living Under the Shadow John Grattan, Robin Torrence, 2016-06-03. Popularist treatments of ancient disasters like volcanic eruptions have grossly overstated their capacity for death, destruction and societal collapse. Contributors to this volume from anthropology archaeology environmental studies geology and biology show that human societies have been incredibly resilient and in the long run have often recovered remarkably well from wide scale disruption and significant mortality They have often used eruptions as a trigger for environmental enrichment cultural change and adaptation These historical studies are relevant to modern hazard management because they provide records for a far wider range of events and responses than have been recorded in written records yet are often closely datable and trackable using standard archaeological and geological techniques Contributors also show the importance of traditional knowledge systems in creating a cultural memory of dangerous locations and community responses to disaster The global and temporal coverage of the research reported is impressive comprising studies from North and Central America Europe Asia and the Pacific and ranging in time from the Middle Palaeolithic to the modern day Celebrating the Lectionary® for Primary Grades 2016-2017: Supplemental
