Lifelines Living Longer Growing Frail Taking Heart:

Lifelines Muriel R. Gillick, 2001 A specialist in elder care Dr Muriel Gillick examines the complications of lives lived far longer than ever before This book aims to help the frail elderly and their families cope with the often unforeseen dilemmas of aging the most common chronic ailments the acute problems and their impact on living options Tracing the stories of four people Dr Gillick highlights the various challenges and decisions that arise when frailty develops and discusses the importance of prevention and social responsibility in assessing treating and living with frailty G ives me hope that if the worst should come there is help to be found and meaning to be derived John Kotre author of Make It Count Living, Dying, Grieving Dixie Dennis, 2009 Taking a life education approach this resource offers helpful tips and techniques for mastering a fear of death suggests helpful ideas for taking care of the business of dying and encourages students to live longer by adding excitement into their lives Ethics, Law, and Aging Review, Volume 9 Marshall B. Kapp, JD, MPH, FCLM, 2003-08-15 This volume explores the concept of safety as applied in the long term care context Chapters examine the way in which the quest for safety may work either synergistically or adversely upon other worthy social goals Among the initiatives considered are promoting the decision making autonomy of patients clients and their surrogates enhancing the quality of care and quality of life available to long term care residents and providing fair compensation for injured victims when serious harm occurs Questions addressed that are of concern to legal and ethical theorists social science researchers and patient client advocates include To what extent do litigation and or regulation accomplish the safety and other legitimate objectives of public policy in the long term care arena Do the costs of various approaches outweigh the benefits in promoting safety and other goals How do litigation and regulation compare with alternative approaches to achieving the same goals in terms of an acceptable cost benefit balance It Pays to Talk Carrie Schwab-Pomerantz, Charles Schwab, 2002-12-24 Does your family talk about money Do your kids understand your money values Do you and your mate agree on how you spend and invest your money Do you know if your parents are financially secure These are the questions that Carrie Schwab Pomerantz and her father Charles Schwab ask at the beginning of this invaluable family financial primer The authors acknowledge that these are difficult questions but stress that families must grapple with them and come up with answers Despite the proliferation of the financial news media money remains a taboo subject in most families Often the mere thought of talking about money with a family member causes enormous personal stress and confusion But it doesn t have to be that way The goal of this father daughter collaboration is to bring solid financial advice into the context of family where it can be explored understood and implemented to the benefit of everyone The first essential thing that must happen is conversation and It Pays to Talk is filled with advice about how to start talking The authors are both working parents with a combined sixty five years of knowledge and experience in the investment field In this book they present a road map that every family can follow as they develop and implement an investment strategy and money management plan They begin by covering the fundamental principles that every investor needs to understand in order to succeed for the long term and then they move on to cover joining forces in marriage building your family's wealth regardless of market conditions investing for your children's future and raising money savvy kids retirement planning estate planning for you and your parents and dealing with the unexpected insurance divorce and investing a windfall Throughout the book the authors offer advice about how to start the often difficult conversations that lead to smart decision making as well as how to talk gently intelligently and respectfully about the many issues that define and shape our attitudes about money It does pay to talk This valuable and expert book will get you started and help you at every stage of your family's investment career

The Denial of Aging Muriel R. Gillick, 2009-06-30 You've argued politics with your aunt since high school but failing eyesight now prevents her from keeping current with the newspaper Your mother fractured her hip last year and is confined to a wheelchair Your father has Alzheimer's and only occasionally recognizes you Someday as Muriel Gillick points out in this important yet unsettling book you too will be old And no matter what vitamin regimen you're on now you will likely one day find yourself sick or frail How do you prepare What will you need With passion and compassion Gillick chronicles the stories of elders who have struggled with housing options with medical care decisions and with finding meaning in life Skillfully incorporating insights from medicine health policy and economics she lays out action plans for individuals and for communities In addition to doing all we can to maintain our health we must vote and organize for housing choices that consider autonomy as well as safety for employment that utilizes the skills and wisdom of the elderly and for better management of disability and chronic disease Most provocatively Gillick argues against desperate attempts to cure the incurable Care should focus on quality of life not whether it can be prolonged at any cost A good old age writes Gillick is within our grasp But we must reach in the right direction

Ethics, Law, and Aging Review, Volume 10 Marshall B. Kapp, 2004-12-06 Although the topic of decision making capacity and older persons has been discussed in the literature there still is much to be learned about it theoretically and practically Experts continue to disagree about which standards are important for assessing decision making capacity Questions such as When should a capacity assessment be done on an older person and by whom are covered by the editors Topics included in this volume are the application of an original framework for ethical decision making in long term care an elder's capacity to decide to remain living alone in the community the quest for helpful standardized instruments for evaluating decision making capacity and end of life liability issues

My Mother's Hip Luise Margolies, 2004 Some 400 000 hip fractures occur every year the vast majority among the elderly all too often these fractures are associated with death or severe disability After her mother's double hip fracture Luisa Margolies immersed herself in identifying and coordinating the services and professionals needed to provide critical care for an elderly person She soon realized that the American medical system is ill prepared to deal with the long term care needs of our graying society The heart of My Mother's Hip is taken up with the author's day to day observations as her mother's condition worsened then improved only to worsen again while her father became increasingly anxious and disoriented As both a devoted daughter and a skilled anthropologist Margolies vividly renders her interactions with physicians nurses hospital workers nursing home administrators the Medicare bureaucracy home care providers and her parents In the Lessons chapter that follows each episode she discusses in a broader context the weighty decisions that adult children must make on their parents behalf and the emotional toll their responsibility takes Here she addresses the complex practical issues that commonly arise in such situations understanding the consequences of hip fracture and its treatment preparing health care proxies and advanced directives enabling elders to remain at home and the heartbreaking dilemma of prolonging life Like many adult children Margolies learned her lessons about eldercare in the midst of crises This book is intended to ease the information gathering and decision making processes for others involved in eldercare Raising

Spirits Michael Goldberg,2010-08-01 Raising Spirits Stories of Suffering and Comfort at Death s Door springs from Michael Goldberg s experiences serving dying patients as a hospital and hospice chaplain Previously he had held positions as a management consultant a chaired university professor and a congregational rabbi Although each of those careers fulfilled some of his professional aspirations none filled his spiritual hunger to find purpose in his life In turning to chaplaincy and helping the gravely ill satisfy their craving for meaning at the end of their lives Goldberg discovered spiritual sustenance in his Raising Spirits is the first book to explore care giving at the end of life from a spiritual as well as clinical perspective It tells the stories of Michael Goldberg s journeys with patients their families and loved ones as they try to face the challenges awaiting them at life s edges In the process Goldberg himself is tested as a committed Jew who working largely among non Jews must continually reassess his identity and convictions He comes to see that spirituality need not refer to things occult or otherworldly but as Raising Spirits makes clear to things in this world that can at least start to lift our spirits and revive them The reciprocal process of gaining insight into patients and into oneself is possible indeed crucial for all who care for the sick both lay and professional alike Counseling Individuals Through the Lifespan Daniel W. Wong, Kimberly R. Hall, Lucy Wong
