Econometrics of Money and Happiness in India T. Lakshmanasamy, 2023-01-01 This book quantitatively analyses the puzzle between money and happiness in India both at individual and aggregate levels and at cross section time series and panel levels The relevance of the Easterlin Paradox a positive income happiness relationship at a point in time but a lack association between income and life satisfaction at the aggregate level and over time and hence economic growth does not improve the human lot is evaluated Using data for a long period of 24 years over 1990 to 2014 from the World Values Surveys the cross country analysis of the happiness literature is replicated with cross states analysis applying robust econometric techniques The effects of individual absolute income variously defined relative income measures NSDP per capita social comparison social capital and income inequality on individual average and aggregate happiness and life satisfaction levels across states and over time are examined The rigorous econometric results validate the Easterlin Paradox in India in that there is no long run happiness gain from the income growth and the income effects are not the same for all as the middle income groups do not gain in happiness from the rising average income Whatever short run gain in happiness is erased in the long run partially by the declining social capital and rising income inequality

Teenagers' Perspectives on the Role of Religion in their Lives, Schools and Societies. A European Quantitative Study Pille Valk, Gerdien Bertram-Troost, Markus Friederici, Céline Béraud, 2009

Religion is on the European agenda again The secularisation paradigm has lost its explanatory power and the newly coined term post secularism is used to describe the realisation that in the current social transformation religion cannot be ignored any longer The quantitative study presented in this book is part of the research effort by the REDCo project REDCo is the abbreviation for Religion in Education A contribution to Dialogue or a Factor of Conflict in Transforming Societies of European Countries The project brought together nine research teams from eight European countries England Estonia France Germany The Netherlands Norway Russia and Spain The research involved interdisciplinary cooperation between specialists in the different academic fields of education religious education sociology political science anthropology psychology theology and religious studies The book offers valuable interpretations and inspirations on the question how the students in the 14-16 year age group in Europe see the relevance of religions for dialogue and conflict in their daily lives in the school environment and in society as a whole The young respondents of the quantitative study are clearly aware that the diversity of religious and non religious worldviews is the reality of the European contexts they have to manage within Most of them are convinced that religion must be addressed in schools as it is too important as factor in social life and for the coexistence of people from different cultural and religious backgrounds throughout Europe to be ignored

Brümmer on Meaning and the Christian Faith Vincent Brümmer, 2019-10-01 This volume presents a wide ranging selection from the writings of a leading contemporary philosophical theologian Vincent Brümmer In his many books and articles Brümmer has demonstrated how the tools of philosophical analysis are not only fruitful but also essential for dealing with the central issues of systematic theology The title of this volume Meaning and the Christian Faith highlights two characteristic themes that recur throughout the many writings of Vincent Brümmer Much of his work has been devoted to exploring the meaning of the Christian faith and especially of its central claim that God is a personal being whose fellowship believers may enjoy On the other hand Br mmer has also shown that religious belief should not be understood as an explanatory theory but rather as a way in which believers understand the meaning of their lives and their experience of the world and direct their lives accordingly Thus in the Christian tradition believers claim that their lives are meaningful because they seek to attain ultimate happiness in the love of God In the introductory sections throughout this volume Vincent Br mmer describes how he came to pay attention to the various themes dealt with in his writings and explains why he came to deal with them in the ways he did
