Het Diner:

The Dinner Herman Koch, 2017-03-28 Now a major motion picture starring Richard Gere Laura Linney Steve Coogan Rebecca Hall and Chlo Sevigny An internationally bestselling phenomenon the darkly suspenseful highly controversial tale of two families struggling to make the hardest decision of their lives all over the course of one meal It s a summer s evening in Amsterdam and two couples meet at a fashionable restaurant for dinner Between mouthfuls of food and over the scrapings of cutlery the conversation remains a gentle hum of polite discourse But behind the empty words terrible things need to be said and with every forced smile and every new course the knives are being sharpened Each couple has a fifteen year old son The two boys are united by their accountability for a single horrific act an act that has triggered a police investigation and shattered the comfortable insulated worlds of their families As the dinner reaches its culinary climax the conversation finally touches on their children As civility and friendship disintegrate each couple show just how far they are prepared to go to protect those they love Skewering everything from parenting values to pretentious menus to political convictions this novel reveals the dark side of genteel society and asks what each of us would do in the face of unimaginable tragedy A European Gone Girl The Wall Street Journal Maatschappij-Belangen ,1908 Dutch Dorothy Thomas, 2012-12-03 American English edition See it say it Easy to use guide to Dutch for complete beginners Pictures show users what to say and how to say it covering a wide range of tourist situations from hotels and self catering to shopping bars and restaurants travel visiting the doctor and making friends Also includes an extensive menu guide and two way dictionary plus a brief grammar section showing how the language fits together All Instant books are written in collaboration with native speakers

Misunderstanding Cults Thomas Robbins, Benjamin David Zablocki, 2001-01-01 Misunderstanding Cults provides a uniquely balanced contribution to what has become a highly polarized area of study Working towards a moderate third path in the heated debate over new religious movements or cults this collection includes contributions from both scholars who have been characterized as anticult and those characterized as cult apologists The study incorporates multiple viewpoints as well as a variety of theoretical and methodological perspectives with the stated goal of depolarizing the discussion over alternative religious movements A prominent section within the book focuses explicitly on the issue of scholarly objectivity and the danger of partisanship in the study of cults The collection also includes contributions on the controversial and much misunderstood topic of brainwashing as well as discussions of cult violence children brought up in unconventional religious movements and the conflicts between alternative religious movements and their critics Unique in its breadth this is the first study of new religious movements to address the main points of controversy within the field while attempting to find a middle ground between opposing camps of scholarship Branding Books Across the Ages Helleke Braber, Jeroen Dera, Jos Joosten, Maarten Steenmeijer, 2025-10-01 For many literature and marketing are considered opposite phenomena This book discusses cases in which the two are closely connected It argues that literature is subject to the same mechanisms as other commercial products our experience of literary texts is prefigured by brands trademarks that identify a product and differentiate it from its competitors From the early modern period onwards literary authors and their texts are constantly branded and have been both the object and the trailblazer of a complex marketing process The authors of this volume analyze this branding process throughout the centuries focusing on the Netherlands To what extent is our experience of Dutch literature prefigured by brands and what role does branding play when introducing European authors in the Dutch literary field or vice versa By answering these questions Branding Books Across the Ages seeks to show how literary scholars understand branding a phenomenon that has long been intertwined with literature

Eline Vere Louis Couperus, 1940 The Classic Myths in English Literature and in Art Based Originally on Bulfinch's Age of Fable Thomas Bulfinch, Charles Mills Gayley, Purpose of the Study Interwoven with the fabric of our English literature of our epics dramas lyrics and novels of our essays and orations like a golden warp where the woof is only too often of silver are the myths of certain ancient nations It is the purpose of this work to relate some of these myths and to illustrate the uses to which they have been put in English literature and incidentally in art The Fable and the Myth Careful discrimination must be made between the fable and the myth A fable is a story like that of King Log or the Fox and the Grapes in which characters and plot neither pretending to reality nor demanding credence are fabricated confessedly as the vehicle of moral or didactic instruction Dr Johnson narrows still further the scope of the fable It seems to be in its genuine state a narrative in which beings irrational and sometimes inanimate are for the purpose of moral instruction feigned to act and speak with human interests and passions Myths on the other hand are stories of anonymous origin prevalent among primitive peoples and by them accepted as true concerning supernatural beings and events or natural beings and events influenced by supernatural agencies Fables are made by individuals they may be told in any stage of a nation s history by a Jotham when the Israelites were still under the Judges 1200 years before Christ or by Christ himself in the days of the most critical Jewish scholarship by a Menenius when Rome was still involved in petty squabbles of plebeians and patricians or by Ph drus and Horace in the Augustan age of Roman imperialism and Roman letters by an sop well nigh fabulous to fabled fellow slaves and Athenian tyrants or by La Fontaine to the Grand Monarch and the most highly civilized race of seventeenth century Europe Fables are vessels made to order into which a lesson may be poured Myths are born not made They are born in the infancy of a people They owe their features not to any one historic individual but to the imaginative efforts of generations of story tellers The myth of Pandora the first woman endowed by the immortals with heavenly graces and of Prometheus who stole fire from heaven for the use of man the myth of the earthborn giants that in the beginning contested with the gods the sovereignty of the universe of the moon goddess who with her buskined nymphs pursues the chase across the azure of the heavens or descending to earth cherishes the youth Endymion these myths germinating in some quaint and childish interpretation of natural events or in some fireside fancy have put forth unconsciously under the nurture of the simple folk that conceived and tended them luxuriant branches and leaves of narrative and blossoms of poetic comeliness and form The myths that we shall relate present wonderful accounts of the creation histories of numerous divine beings adventures of heroes in which magical and ghostly agencies play a part and where animals and inanimate nature don the attributes of men and gods Many of these myths treat of divinities once worshiped by the Greeks and the Romans and by our Norse and German forefathers in the dark ages Myths more or less like these may be found in the literatures of nearly all nations many are in the memories and mouths of savage races at this time existent But the stories here narrated are no longer believed by any one The so called divinities of Olympus and of Asgard have not a single worshiper among men They dwell only in the realm of memory and imagination they are enthroned in the palace of art
