Lifeblood Matthew T. Huber, 2013-08-01 If our oil addiction is so bad for us why don't we kick the habit Looking beyond the usual culprits Big Oil petro states and the strategists of empire Lifeblood finds a deeper and more complex explanation in everyday practices of oil consumption in American culture Those practices Matthew T Huber suggests have in fact been instrumental in shaping the broader cultural politics of American capitalism How did gasoline and countless other petroleum products become so central to our notions of the American way of life Huber traces the answer from the 1930s through the oil shocks of the 1970s to our present predicament revealing that oil's role in defining popular culture extends far beyond material connections between oil suburbia and automobility He shows how oil powered a cultural politics of entrepreneurial life the very American idea that life itself is a product of individual entrepreneurial capacities In so doing he uses oil to retell American political history from the triumph of New Deal liberalism to the rise of the New Right from oil's celebration as the lifeblood of postwar capitalism to increasing anxieties over oil addiction Lifeblood rethinks debates surrounding energy and capitalism neoliberalism and nature and the importance of suburbanization in the rightward shift in American politics Today Huber tells us as crises attributable to oil intensify a populist clamoring for cheap energy has less to do with American excess than with the eroding conditions of life under neoliberalism The Nonhuman Narratives of Energy Josephine

Taylor, 2025-07-15 This book brings the emerging field of petrocultures and energy humanities discourse into conversation with the field of animal studies Taylor examines how fossil fuels have frequently been described as the lifeblood of capitalist modernity making petroleum appear as something intrinsic to human life Through examining works such as Herman Melville's Moby Dick Nnedi Okorafor's Lagoon and Michel Faber's Under the Skin this book highlights the commodification of nonhuman life in the history of energy and paradoxically how these nonhuman actors have been unacknowledged and silenced through time Burning Up Simon Pirani, 2018-08-20 Coal gas and oil have been capitalism's main fuels since the industrial revolution And yet of all the fossil fuels ever consumed more than half were burned in the last 50 years Most alarming of all fossil fuel consumption has grown fastest in the last three decades since scientists confirmed that it is the main cause of potentially devastating global warming In Burning Up Simon Pirani recounts the history of fossil fuels relentless rise since the mid twentieth century Dispelling explanations foregrounding Western consumerism and arguments that population growth is the main problem Pirani shows how fossil fuels are consumed through technological social and economic systems and that these systems must change This is a major contribution to understanding the greatest crisis of our time
