Shade With Chapters on Charcoal Pencil and Brush Drawing The text books of the National Drawing Course are intended particularly for public school teachers but this book is written not only for public school teachers but for all art students and others interested in art education It supplements the first book of the series Free Hand Drawing and shows how the methods explained in it may be applied in the study of light and shade Good instruction in drawing must be based upon the principles which underlie the best in art and therefore any book which is intended for the student and elementary teacher must present these principles and must also show how students may be led to see think and work independently The books Free Hand Drawing Mechanical Drawing and Color Study form a necessary part of the National Drawing Course as they contain the lessons in these different subjects which are to be given according to the order specified in the teachers Outlines of Lessons Light and Shade contains no lessons or other work called for in the plan of study of the present system for it is not considered wise to attempt light and shade in the public schools until pupils have gained more ability in free hand drawing than they now generally acquire below the high school About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
