Habits of the Heart, 1988 Habits of the Heart Robert Neelly Bellah, 1985 Encyclopedia of New Religious Movements Peter Clarke, 2004-03 An essential companion to both research and scholarship upon which undergraduates postgraduates lecturers and researchers can all be expected to draw The Political Economy of Heaven and Earth in Ghana Charles Prempeh, 2023-09-30 In March 2017 the president of Ghana Nana Addo Dankwa Akufo announced his intention to build a national cathedral to the people of Ghana The announcement elicited watertight counter arguments that morphed into two a priori re litigated assumptions First Ghana is a secular country and second religion and state formation are incompatible Informed by a frustrating paradox of an overwhelming religious presence and concurrent pervasive corruption in the country public conversation reached a cul de sac of conviction without compromising In The Political Economy of Heaven and Earth in Ghana Charles Prempeh deploys the national cathedral as an entry point to provide both interdisciplinary and autoethnographic understanding of religion and politics The book shows the capacity of religion when properly cultivated and curated as a worldview to answer the why questions of life will foster personal moral collective and ontological responsibility All this is needed to stem the tide against corruption commodity fetishism environmental degradation illegal mining galamsey heritage destruction and religious exploitation Prempeh recuperates a historical fact about the mutual inclusivity between religion and politics politics helping to manage differences while religion provides a transcendental reason for unity to be forged for human flourishing Separating the two is therefore ahistorical and an obvious threat to the intangible virtues that answers why and how questions for public governance Families and the State S. Cunningham-Burley, L. Jamieson, 2003-11-25 How possible is it for the state to steer family values and relationships How do we assess claims of harm and benefit from state action and inaction What kind of engagement should we seek between the state and our personal lives The evidence presented includes state engagements with separating couples lone parents retired people black families disabled people pregnant teenagers and young people negotiating adulthood The range of perspectives data and cross nation state comparisons helps readers to come to their own conclusions The Inward Gaze Peter Middleton, 2024-11-01 First published in 1992 The Inward Gaze looks at men s fantasies and self images from a wide range of texts notably boy s superhero comics modernist literary classics and a Freudian case study to discuss the theories of subjectivity masculinity and emotion The author explores the split between the experience based claims of the men s movement and the discourse theories of postmodernism Does this division reveal a continuing refusal of masculine self awareness Why does postmodernist theory investigate desire and ignore emotion This is a ground breaking and controversial book which seeks to reformulate the way we think about men s subjectivity Its interdisciplinary approach weaves together material from many different sources and will be of vital interest to students of literature cultural studies gender studies and psychoanalysis Ageing and Place Gavin J. Andrews, David R. Phillips, 2004-11-10 During recent years an increasing

Criminologists in the Media Mark Wood, Imogen Richards, Mary Iliadis, 2022-05-05 Criminologists in the Media presents the results of a cross national study examining the structures that shape criminologists contributions to news and social media discourse Drawing on interviews with criminologists and a survey of 1 211 criminologists working in the US the UK Australia New Zealand Canada Ireland and South Africa this book represents the first cross national study exploring how why and to what extent criminologists working in these countries engage in newsmaking and digital public criminology Through examining the predictors of criminologists appearing in news media the research presented in this book demonstrates that newsmaking practices within criminology are not reflective of equal access interest or opportunity Rather newsmaking operates within fields of power shaped by the political economy of higher education and researchers academic rank gender and areas of research expertise Together these factors generate several situational logics that predispose criminologists to pursue particular courses of action in promoting their personal projects Key among these logics Wood Richards and Iliadis argue are a social logic informing criminologists moral political views on newsmaking and an industrial logic responsive to the demands of academic capitalism and the rise of the entrepreneurial university With its focus on the practicalities challenges and inequities of newsmaking in the post broadcast era Criminologists in the Media will appeal to researchers interested in the public role s of criminology as well as researchers concerned with the challenges of communicating social scientific knowledge beyond the academy

Ageing and Popular Culture Andrew Blaikie, 1999-03-04 As the grey market perpetuates the quest for eternal youth the biological realities of deep old age are increasingly denied Ageing and Popular Culture traces the historical emergence of stereotypes of retirement and documents their recent demise arguing that although modernisation marginalisation and medicalisation created rigid age classifications the rise of consumer culture has coincided with a postmodern broadening of options for those in the Third Age With an adroit use of photographs and other visual sources Andrew Blaikie demonstrates that an expanded leisure phase is breaking down barriers between mid and later life At the same time positive ageing also creates new imperatives and new norms with attendant forms of deviance While babyboomers may anticipate a fulfilling retirement none relish decline Has deep old age replaced death as the taboo subject of the late twentieth century If so what might be the consequences

concept identity politics in which older persons are perceived as belonging to a subculture and images of the older body in cultural perspective The manner in which gerontology emerged as a discipline was embedded in culturally defined views of aging that had consequences for how it was seen to vary between cultures One consequence was a perception of ageism as a cultural construction Since the 1980s much of the politics of older people is a form of identity politics in which groups are mobilized to further their interests Questions of cultural meanings ascribed to the gendered aging body is a central question for ageism social identity and self image These questions become especially relevant in confrontations with bodily decline and negotiations of intimacy in institutions for older people
