Introductory Speech About Yourself:

Introduction to Speechwork for Actors Ron Carlos, 2022-12-29 Traditional speech work has long favored an upper class white accent as the model of intelligibility. Because of that generations of actors have felt disconnected from their own identities and acting choices. This much needed textbook redresses that trend and encourages actors to achieve intelligibility through rigorous language analysis and an exploration of their own accent and articulation practices. Following an acting class model where you first analyze the script then reveal yourself through it, this work breaks down a process for analyzing language in a way that excites the imagination. Guiding the student through the labyrinth of abstract concepts and terms, readers are delivered into the practicality of exercises and explorations giving them self awareness that enables them to make their own speech come alive. Informed throughout by notes from the author's own extensive experience working with directors and acting teachers, this book serves as an ideal speech training resource for the 21st century actor and includes specially commissioned online videos demonstrating key exercises.

Kill the Elevator Speech Felicia J Slaterry, 2014-11-18 Contrary to popular marketing and networking wisdom, regurgitating a memorized elevator speech all over a poor unsuspecting soul who happens to ask the dreaded "what do you do" question does not work to establish a true connection with another human being. Kill the Elevator Speech is about why those standard memorized verbal vomits are so horribly wrong and what to do and say instead that will actually bring people together, help others understand who you are, and create the beginnings of a referral and professional relationship to go beyond the initial handshake and obligatory card swap. The reader will learn how to walk into any room confidently knowing how to handle, answer and completely address the question "what do you do" with ease and grace while also making the person they are speaking to feel comfortable and connected.
