Inventing the Needy, 2002 This book offers a powerful innovative analysis of welfare policies and practices in Hungary from 1948 to the last decade of the twentieth century Using a compelling mix of archival interview and ethnographic data Lynne Haney shows that three distinct welfare regimes succeeded one another during that period and that they were based on divergent conceptions of need

Inventing the Needy Lynne Haney, 2002-06-03 In her beautifully written deeply researched and elegantly argued book Lynne Haney shows how much American policy makers can learn from Hungary's social welfare experience By unpacking the very different strategies that Hungary has adopted during the past half century Haney's account illuminates basic policy choices about how a society any society addresses the problems of poverty It makes indispensable reading for those on both sides of the Atlantic who care about the lives of the poor David Kirp author of Gender Justice Inventing the Needy is a theoretically engaged and methodologically innovative ethnography of Hungarian welfare regimes from 1948 to 1996 Studying the state from below her multi layered and multi sited analysis of the transformations in state policies and institutional practices and their effects on everyday life is an important contribution to comparative studies of welfare states the social construction of the materialization and materialization of need as well as to critical socialist postsocialist and feminist studies Well written lucidly argued thoughtful and thought provoking Gail Kligman author of The Politics of Duplicity Controlling Reproduction in Ceausescu's Romania Inventing the Needy stands at the forefront of a new generation of revisionist scholarship It dispenses with the sharp dichotomies of capitalism and communism and forsakes triumphal interpretations of the transition to the free market and liberal democracy Looking at Hungary through the eyes of women and their experiences with successive welfare regimes Lynne Haney offers a more balanced and variegated picture of the state socialist past and a more sober account of the capitalist present Inventing the Needy is a brilliant combination of ethnography history and theory Michael Burawoy co author of Global Ethnography Forces Connections and Imaginations in a Postmodern World Lynne Haney's provocative original and altogether brilliant study of welfare restructuring in Hungary in the wake of 1989 challenges us to rethink gender states and social policies in both east and west while providing essential conceptual tools for doing so Ann Shola Orloff coauthor of States Markets Families Gender Liberalism and Social Policy in Australia Canada Great Britain and the United States This important book engages the central issue sociology faces after the fall of communism Inventing the Needy is a careful empirically well documented and beautifully written analysis of the Hungarian welfare system during and after socialism Haney shows that a critical analysis of capitalism is possible from the perspective of a socialist alternative even today She challenges transitologists who often contrast an idealized capitalist present with a homogeneous and negative view of socialism This book is a must for those interested in theoretical debates about socialism and capitalism and in the welfare state and gender relations under and after socialism Ivan Szelenyi author of Privatizing the Land Rural Political Economy in Post Communist and Socialist Societies and co author of Making

Capitalism without Capitalists Class Formation and Elite Struggles in Post Communist Central Europe      The Politics of Relations André Thiemann, 2024-06-01 Rethinking the contributions of the Manchester School of Social Anthropology for political ethnography the Politics of Relations elaborates its relational approach to the state along four interlaced axes of research embeddedness boundary work modalities and strategic selectivity that enable thick comparisons across spatio-temporal scales of power In Serbia local experiences of self government infrastructure and care motivate its citizens to become the state while cursing it heartily While both officials and citizens strive for a state that enables a normal life they navigate the increasingly illiberal politics enacted by national parties and which are tolerated by trans national donors

Chiara Bonfiglioli, 2019-09-19 Women s emancipation through productive labour was a key tenet of socialist politics in post World War II Yugoslavia Mass industrialisation under Tito led many young women to join traditionally feminised sectors and as a consequence the textile sector grew rapidly fast becoming a gendered symbol of industrialisation consumption and socialist modernity By the 1980s Yugoslavia was one of the world s leading producers of textiles and garments The break up of Yugoslavia in 1991 however resulted in factory closures bankruptcy and layoffs forcing thousands of garment industry workers into precarious and often exploitative private sector jobs Drawing on more than 60 oral history interviews with former and current garment workers as well as workplace periodicals and contemporary press material collected across Croatia Macedonia Serbia Bosnia Herzegovina and Slovenia Women and Industry in the Balkans charts the rise and fall of the Yugoslav textile sector as well as the implications of this post socialist transition for the first time In the process the book explores broader questions about memories of socialism lingering feelings of attachment to the socialist welfare system and the complexity of the post socialist era This is important reading for all scholars working on the history and politics of Yugoslavia and the Balkans oral history memory studies and gender studies      Children by Choice? Ann-Katrin

Gembries, Theresia Theuke, Isabel Heinemann, 2018-05-22 During the 20th century medico technical advances such as the invention of the latex condom 1930 the arrival of the contraceptive pill on the free market 1960 61 and the birth of the first child conceived by in vitro fertilization 1978 contributed to the fact that in Europe and the USA the planning conceiving and making of children was increasingly perceived as a matter of individual and collective decision making Especially since mid century these societies underwent profound political economic and cultural evolutions In the realm of human reproduction the relationship between the possible the desirable and the permitted had to be continually renegotiated This volume examines in nine chapters how thinking speaking and acting changed with regards to reproduction and family planning throughout the modern and post modern period Applying an international comparative perspective the study specifically focuses on the role of value changes underlying these transformation processes Compulsory Motherhood, Paternalistic State? Oleksandra Tarkhanova, 2021-07-10 Honorable Mention 2022 Davis Center Book Prize in Political and Social Studies ASEES This book examines Ukrainian state gender politics and investigates how gendered subject positions and policy discourses are constructed within and through social policies Set against the backdrop of the post Soviet transformations nation building neoliberalization and post Maidan political transformations policy and discursive changes reflect and reproduce the gender norms that not only derive from these ideological processes but also actively legitimize and enable them This book considers how the relations between the state and woman citizen are changing from socialist paternalism to nationalist affective bond and neoliberal sacrificial citizenship which conceals women within families but also deeply relies on their unpaid work The book brings the Ukrainian case into the European debate on conservative neoliberal transformations and anti gender political sentiment and by doing that advances the feminist theorization on neoliberalism This book will be of particular interest to scholars in gender politics sociology of policy and post socialist or Eastern European studies

Education in/for Socialism Tom G. Griffiths, Zsuzsa Millei, 2017-10-02 This book re examines aspects of historical socialism and includes case studies of education within twenty first century socialist and post socialist contexts shaped by the trajectories of historical socialism Through these case studies contributions offer insights into key questions How are education systems and student subjectivities shaped by post socialist trajectories and current regional politics economics and resistance movements How do sedimented socialist discourses and geographies alter and contest the neoliberal child and childhood in post socialist education How have disjunctures between the rhetoric of historical Marxism Leninism and the practices of educators students and student political organizations played out under socialism and what could we learn from that for our present How much emancipatory potential is there in the theories and practices of popular education for combatting injustice in the absence of mass revolutionary political parties Above all this volume affirms the need to move beyond simplistic accounts of historical socialism and post socialist transitions By exploring how socialist trajectories remain influential and have potential in our current contexts this book contributes to the work of politically engaged educators working to re imagine and reconstruct education This book was originally published as a special issue of Globalisation Societies and Education Cultural Politics of Ethnicity Vera Sokolova, 2012-02-27 This book maps out the history of Czechoslovak linguistic and social practices directed at Roma during the communist period It explains how contemporary Czech society has come to understand the Romani population in terms of inherited social medical and juridical ideas Rather than focusing on the Roma people as an object of analysis the book problematizes assumed notions of Gypsiness and Czechness in mainstream society by highlighting the role of different socialist discourses in constructing images of Roma as socially deviant and abnormal By uncovering the lines of continuity in the intersections of ethnic discrimination social deviance and citizenship from the 1950s to the collapse of communism this book comes to terms with a variety of questions that have not yet been adequately addressed in the literature What underlying assumptions informed the socialist regime's understanding of Gypsiness and how did these conceptions relate to notions of citizenship equality and normality How and why did the meaning of the terms Gypsies and Roma become imbued in popular discourse with ideas of unhealthiness and social deviance What implications does translating perceived cultural traits and lifestyles of Roma into non ethnic frames of reference have for understanding racism and ethnic sensibilities in the country today The work emphasizes historical continuities between contemporary xenophobia and the strategies which the communist regime used to deal with the Gypsy question Focusing on the discrepancies between written laws and policies as well as their implementation this study exposes the intricate relationships between official beliefs institutional policies and popular consciousness under the communist regime For it was these relationships which together created the mechanisms of social control that facilitated discrimination of Czechoslovak Roma under the guise of social welfare

For the Family? Sarah Damaske,2011-08-01 In the contentious debate about women and work conventional wisdom holds that middle class women can decide if they work while working class women need to work Yet even after the recent economic crisis middle class women are more likely to work than working class women Sarah Damaske deflates the myth that financial needs dictate if women work revealing that financial resources make it easier for women to remain at work and not easier to leave it Departing from mainstream research Damaske finds three main employment patterns steady pulled back and interrupted She discovers that middle class women are more likely to remain steadily at work and working class women more likely to experience multiple bouts of unemployment She argues that the public debate is wrongly centered on need because women respond to pressure to be selfless mothers and emphasize family need as the reason for their work choices Whether the decision is to stay home or go to work women from all classes say work decisions are made for their families In For the Family Sarah Damaske at last provides a far more nuanced and richer picture of women work and class than the one commonly drawn
