Investment Climate Growth And Poverty Berlin Workshop Series 2005:

Investment Climate, Growth, and Poverty Gudrun Kochendörfer-Lucius, Boris Pleskovi?, World Bank, 2005 Investment Climate, Growth, and Poverty World Bank, 2005 This year the workshop examined the conceptual foundation of the workshop sessions by discussing the definition of equity itself What do we mean by equity and how does equity differ from equality Whereas equity is commonly associated positively with impartiality and justice economists understand equality as an idealistic and unattainable goal often linked to socialism and communism The terminological twins equity equality however can be conceptualized in highly diverging ways with different consequences for development strategy The discussions throughout the workshop mirror the controversial positions of international discourse on the topic Through the varying dimensions of these terms discussions focused on the different responsibilities for political action such terms entail For example whereas equality in outcome implies an egalitarian perspective economic studies on inequality in outcome mostly take into account the results of actions and conditions such as unequal incomes Session I on what is equity and what is the role for governments in the promotion of equity further discussed how does this role differ between developed and developing countries Nonetheless it was suggested that before operationalizing and measuring inequity the concept itself has to be clarified and further arguments indicated that one future challenge for development policy is precisely to combine growth promoting policies with policies that assure that the poor can fully participate in the opportunities that growth offers Session II on equity enhancing social transformation and historical evidence from European and Transition Countries focus on policies that impact equity Session III on building efficient welfare states and lessons learnt discussed the task of formulating policies that foster both efficiency and equitable social welfare while Session IV on international inequalities and what can be done to reduce them focuses on the global level contrary to Session III which concentrated on equity issues at the national level Finally Session V on what will greater integration mean for inequalities between and within the richer and poorer countries of the New Europe draws a very differentiated picture Conclusions outlined key issues that need to be addressed noting the importance of carefully analyzing different redistributive instruments with respect to their effects on growth and efficiency and vice versa Platinum Essays in the Philosophy of Applied Economics of Development Herbert Onye Orji, 2011-09 This book Platinum Essays In The Philosophy Of Applied Economics Of Development is a collection of interrelated and interconnected essays on applied economics of development with underlying philosophy contents The topic and areas of coverage were carefully chosen to comprehensively reflect a mandatory range of issues germane to the understanding teaching research publication and practice of applied economics of development particularly in medium to low income emerging markets There are twenty one chapters each with a topic of major developmental significance in applied economics Based on the clear and lucid underlying philosophical statements the broad scope of the applied definitions analytical and descriptive review of relevant modern and dated literatures germane to the discourse observations recommendations conclusions and range of ease or otherwise of policy implementations the key objectives of the book have been achieved Publications Catalog World Bank,2005 Contextual Development Economics Matthias P.

Altmann,2010-11-16 Poverty still persists in today s low income countries despite decades of international aid and extensive research on the determinants of growth and development The book argues that meeting this challenge requires a holistic understanding of the context specific factors that influence economic behavior and structures in poor countries Contextual Development Economics approaches this task by offering a methodology that allows analysing the dynamic interrelations between economic cultural and historical determinants of economic life in low income countries The book starts with an empirical inquiry into the economic characteristics of low income countries that create the context by which the specific forms of organising economic activity in these countries are determined It then looks at how different generations of development economists sought to explain economic realities in low income countries from the 1940s through today The book finally synthesises the results from this empirical and methodological analysis with insights from an inquiry into contributions of the German Historical School from which it borrows the concept of the economic style as a methodological alternative to the universal and hence often irrelevant models of mainstream development economics This book offers a promising perspective for the future of development economics that will be of interest to researchers and development practitioners alike It will also be relevant for academics and students with an interest in applications of the method and concepts of the Historical School to contemporary problems Journal of Economic Literature ,2005 The British

National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2006 HMSO Agency Catalogue Great Britain. Her Majesty's Stationery Office,2005 The Stationery Office Agency Catalogue Stationery Office (Great Britain),2005 Measuring the Global Shadow Economy Colin C. Williams,Friedrich Schneider,2016-01-29 This book brings together two leading researchers in the field to provide a comprehensive overview of the shadow economy from a global perspective Reviewing the advantages and disadvantages of different ways of measuring the informal sector the authors evaluate its size and key determinants across the world Williams and Schneider clearly establish the persistence and prevalence of the shadow economy analysing the narrowness of existing policy approaches and explaining how these fail to address the key factors for its existence and may even exacerbate the problem Proposing an alternative way forward the authors argue that little headway will ever be made in reducing the shadow economy until there are changes not only to the character of formal institutions but also informal institutions the values beliefs and norms of citizens through the introduction of macro level structural changes This timely cutting edge review of the global shadow economy and how it can be measured and tackled is an invaluable resource for postgraduate students researchers and policy makers particularly those with a interest in tax evasion and informal labour

Research Summary ,2005 Case Studies in Food Policy for Developing Countries Per Pinstrup-Andersen,Fuzhi Cheng,2018-07-05 The food problems now facing the world scarcity and starvation contamination and illness overabundance and obesity are both diverse and complex What are their causes How severe are they Why do they persist What are the solutions In three volumes that serve as valuable teaching tools and have been designed to complement the textbook Food Policy for Developing Countries by Per Pinstrup Andersen and Derrill D Watson II they call upon the wisdom of disciplines including economics nutrition sociology anthropology environmental science medicine and geography to create a holistic picture of the state of the world s food systems today Volume III of the Case Studies addresses global institutions and international trade policies Global Environment Outlook 4 United Nations Environment Programme,2007 The fourth report in the Global Environment Outlook series provides a comprehensive scientifically credible policy relevant and up to date assessment of and outlook for the state of the global environment Environment for development is the GEO 4 underlying theme and the report pays special attention to the role and impact of the environment on human well being as well as to the use of environmental valuation as a tool for decision making GEO 4 s 2007 publication date marks the half way point for the Millennium Development Goals The environment as well as being the subject of MDG 7 is also a thread that runs through all the goals Includes Errata Transition Newsletter ,2003 International Energy and Poverty Lakshman Guruswamy,2015-08-20 Around 2 8 billion people globally also known as the Other Third or energy poor have little or no access to beneficial energy that meets their needs for cooking heating water sanitation illumination transportation or basic mechanical power This book uniquely integrates the hitherto segmented and fragmented approaches to the challenge of access to energy It provides theoretical philosophical and practical analysis of energy for the low energy non hydrocarbon based Other Third of the world and how the unmet needs of the energy poor might be satisfied It comprehensively addresses the range of issues relating to energy justice and energy access for all including affordable sustainable energy technologies ASETs The book breaks new ground by crafting a unified and cohesive framework for analysis and action that explains the factual and socio political phenomenon of the energy poor and demonstrates why clean energy is a primary determinant of their human progress This is a must read for all scholars students professionals and policy makers working on energy policy poverty and sustainable energy technologies Deutsche Nationalbibliographie und Bibliographie der im Ausland erschienenen deutschsprachigen Veröffentlichungen ,2005 More and Better Jobs in South Asia The World Bank,2011-12-20 South Asia has created nearly 800 000 jobs per month during the last decade Robust economic growth in large parts of the region has created better jobs those that pay higher wages for wage workers and reduce poverty for the self employed the largest segment of the region s employed Going forward South Asia faces the enormous challenge of absorbing 1 to 1 2 million entrants to the labor force every month for the next two decades at rising levels of productivity This calls for an agenda that cuts across sectors and includes improving the reliability of electricity supply for firms in both urban and rural settings dealing decisively with issues of governance and corruption making access to land easier for urban informal firms and strengthening transport links between rural firms and their markets It requires improving nutrition in early childhood to avoid cognitive impairment intensifying the focus on quality of learning in education systems equipping workers with the skills that employers demand and reorienting labor market regulations and programs to protect workers rather than jobs The continuance of high economic growth to help improve job quality is not assured But the region's demography can provide a favorable tailwind The growth of workers exceeds that of dependents in much of the region The resources saved from having fewer dependents can be shifted to high priority investments in physical and human capital accumulation necessary to create productive jobs in countries with an enabling policy framework But the demographic window of opportunity is open for only the next three decades a fact which lends urgency to the reform agenda This book will be of interest to policy makers their advisers researchers and students of economics who seek solutions not only to the challenge of creating more and better jobs in South Asia but globally as well It is the first title in South Asia Development Matters a new series that will serve as a vehicle for in depth synthesis of economic and policy analysis on key development topics for South Asia

A Decade of Action in Transport, 2007-01-01 The World Bank committed 30.6 billion in transport related projects during the past decade making it one of the largest sectors The evaluation looks into the Bank's experience in the sector and assesses the institution's interventions the impact of rapid transport sector expansion and its readiness to meet the challenges ahead
