Irish Television Irish Television:

A Post-Nationalist History of Television in Ireland Edward Brennan, 2019-01-25 This book explores the question of how society has changed with the introduction of private screens Taking the history of television in Ireland as a case study due to its position at the intersection of British and American media influences this work argues that internationally the transnational nature of television has been obscured by a reliance on institutional historical sources This has in turn muted the diversity of audience experiences in terms of class gender and geography By shifting the focus away from the default national lens and instead turning to audience memories as a key source A Post Nationalist History of Television in Ireland defies the notion of a homogenous national television experience and embraces the diverse and transnational nature of watching television Turning to people s memories of past media this study ultimately suggests that the arrival of the television in Ireland and elsewhere was part of a long term incremental change where the domestic and the intimate became increasingly fused with the global

UK and Irish Television Comedy Mary Irwin, Jill Marshall, 2023-09-19 This book looks at television comedy drawn from across the UK and Ireland and ranging chronologically from the 1980s to the 2020s It explores depictions of distinctive geographical historical and cultural communities presented from the insiders perspective simultaneously interrogating the particularity of the lived experience of time and place embedded within the wide variety of depictions of contrasting lives experiences and sensibilities which the collected individual chapters offer Comedies considered include Victoria Wood s work on the north Ireland s Father Ted and Derry Girls Michaela Coel s east London set Chewing Gum and Wales Gavin and Stacey There are chapters on Scottish sketch and animation comedy and on series set in the Midlands the North East the South West and London s home counties The book offers thoughtful reflection on funny and engaging representations of the diverse fragmented complexity of UK and Irish identity explored through the intersections of class ethnicity and gender

Broadcasting in Irish Iarfhlaith Watson, 2003 Watson sociology U College Dublin argues that the Irish language plays an important role in national identity in Ireland and shows how changes in broadcasting in the country coincide with changes in national identity He begins with radio in the 1920s and proceeds through the founding of an Irish language television station in 1996 to the present Distributed in the US by ISBS Annotation 2004 Book News Inc Portland OR booknews com

Community, Seriality, and the State of the Nation: British and Irish Television Series in the 21st Century Caroline Lusin, Ralf Haekel, 2019-02-18 Since the turn of the 21st century the television series has rivalled cinema as the paradigmatic filmic medium Like few other genres it lends itself to exploring society in its different layers In the case of Great Britain and Ireland it functions as a key medium in depicting the state of the nation Focussing on questions of genre narrative form and serialisation this volume examines the variety of ways in which popular recent British and Irish television series negotiate the concept of community as a key component of the state of the nation

Children & Television Barrie Gunter, Jill McAleer, 2005-07-05 Does violence on TV lead to violent behaviour How can parents influence children s

viewing Fears over the effect of television on children have been around since it was invented The recent explosion in the number of channels and new multimedia entertainment lends a new urgency to the discussion This completely revised second edition of Children and Television brings the story of children and television right up to date In addition to presenting the latest research on all of the themes covered in the first edition it includes a discussion of the new entertainment media now available and a new chapter which examines the role of television in influencing children s health related attitudes behaviour Barrie Gunter and Jill McAleer examine the research evidence in to the effects of television on children and their responses to it They conclude that children are sophisticated viewers and control television far more than it controls them
