The Iron Age and Romano-British Settlement at Crick Covert Farm: Excavations 1997-1998 Gwilym Hughes, Ann Woodward, 2015-12-31 Excavations of a large part of an extensive Iron Age settlement carried out between 1997 1998 at Covert Farm located near Crick in northwestern Northamptonshire Origins, Development and Abandonment of an Iron Age Village Andy Chapman, Peter Ellis, 2015-12-31 Excavations of a large Iron Age farming settlement in Northamptonshire spread across five sites four studied here The Lodge Long Dole Crick Hotel and Nortoft Lane Kilsby with Covert Farm Crick studied in Volume I 9781784912086 Coton Park, Rugby, Warwickshire: A Middle Iron Age Settlement with

Copper Alloy Casting Andy Chapman, 2020-05-28 A total area of 3.1 ha taking in much of a settlement largely of the earlier Middle Iron Age was excavated in 1998 in advance of development The Iron Age settlement comprised several groups of roundhouse ring ditches and associated small enclosures forming an open settlement set alongside a linear boundary ditch

Rethinking Roundhouses D. W. Harding, 2023 Of all structural or material remains from later British prehistory roundhouses are probably the most archetypical with a great range of regional variants in terms of ground plans and structural materials used This study rethinks the archaeology of roundhouses based on the latest development led research excavation The Social Context of Technology Leo Webley, Sophia Adams, Joanna Bruck, 2020-06-30 The Social Context of Technology explores non ferrous metalworking in Britain and Ireland during the Bronze and Iron Ages c 2500 BC to 1st century AD Bronze working dominates the evidence though the crafting of other non ferrous metals including gold silver tin and lead is also considered Metalwork has long played a central role in accounts of European later prehistory Metals were important for making functional tools and elaborate decorated objects that were symbols of prestige Metalwork could be treated in special or ritualised ways by being accumulated in large hoards or placed in rivers or bogs But who made these objects Prehistoric smiths have been portrayed by some as prosaic technicians and by others as mystical figures akin to magicians They have been seen both as independent travelling entrepreneurs and as the dependents of elite patrons Hitherto these competing models have not been tested through a comprehensive assessment of the archaeological evidence for metalworking This volume fills that gap with analysis focused on metalworking tools and waste such as crucibles moulds casting debris and smithing implements The find contexts of these objects are examined both to identify places where metalworking occurred and to investigate the cultural practices behind the deposition of metalworking debris The key questions are what was the social context of this craft and what was its ideological significance How did this vary regionally and change over time As well as elucidating a key aspect of later prehistoric life in Britain and Ireland this important examination by leading scholars contributes to broader debates on material culture and the social role of craft The Oxford Handbook of the European Iron Age Colin Haselgrove, Katharina Rebay-Salisbury, Peter S. Wells, 2023-09-22 The Oxford Handbook of the European Iron Age presents a broad overview of current understanding of the archaeology of Europe from 1000 BC through to the early historic periods exploiting the large quantities of new evidence yielded by the upsurge in archaeological research and excavation on this period over the last thirty years Three introductory chapters situate the reader in the times and the environments of Iron Age Europe Fourteen regional chapters provide accessible syntheses of developments in different parts of the continent from Ireland and Spain in the west to the borders with Asia in the east from Scandinavia in the north to the Mediterranean shores in the south Twenty six thematic chapters examine different aspects of Iron Age archaeology in greater depth from lifeways economy and complexity to identity ritual and expression Among the many topics explored are agricultural systems settlements landscape monuments iron smelting and forging production of textiles politics demography gender migration funerary practices social and religious rituals coinage and literacy and art and design

Iron Age, Roman and Anglo-Saxon Settlement along the Empingham to Hannington Pipeline in Northamptonshire and Rutland Simon Carlyle, Jason Clarke, Andy Chapman, 2017-02-10 Reports on excavations by Northamptonshire Archaeology now MOLA in the south east Midlands region Nineteen sites were investigated dating primarily to the Iron Age Roman and Anglo Saxon periods

The Prehistory of Britain and Ireland Richard Bradley, 2019-05-16 Highlights the achievements of prehistoric people in Britain and Ireland over a 5 000 year period

Temporary Palaces Richard Bradley, 2021-05-31 The Great Houses of the prehistoric and early medieval periods were enormous structures whose forms were modelled on those of domestic dwellings Most were built of wood rather than stone they were used over comparatively short periods they were frequently replaced in the same positions and some were associated with exceptional groups of artefacts Their construction made considerable demands on human labour and approached the limits of what was possible at the time They seem to have played specialised roles in ancient society but they have been difficult to interpret Were they public buildings or the dwellings of important people Were they temples or military bases and why were they erected during times of crisis or change How were their sites selected and how were they related to the remains of a more ancient past Although their currency extended from the time of the first farmers to the Viking Age the similarities between the Great Houses are as striking as the differences This study focuses on the monumental buildings of northern and northwestern Europe but draws on structures over a wide area extending from Anatolia as far as Brittany and Norway It employs ethnography as a source of ideas and discusses the concept of the House Society and its usefulness in archaeology The main examples are taken from the Neolithic and Iron Age periods but this account also draws on the archaeology of the first millennium AD The book emphasises the importance of comparing archaeological sequences with one another rather than identifying ideal social types In doing so it features a range of famous and less famous sites from Stonehenge to the Hill of Tara and from Old Uppsala to Yeavinger

Farmsteads and Funerary Sites: The M1 Junction 12 Improvements and the A5-M1 Link Road, Central Bedfordshire Jim Brown, 2020-01-31 Extensive excavations by MOLA Museum of London Archaeology near Houghton Regis and Toddington in south Central Bedfordshire provide a detailed multi period dataset for regional and national comparison Evidence ranges from middle late Bronze Age pits to medieval settlements      Between Peak and Plain: Excavations on a Multiperiod Site at Mellor, Stockport, 1998-2009 Peter Arrowsmith, 2025-03-20 This book details 12 seasons of excavations at Mellor Stockport revealing a multiperiod site from the Mesolithic to post medieval periods Key finds include Iron Age enclosures medieval hall remains Mesolithic lithics and Romano British artefacts all contextualized within the wider region      Iron Age and Roman Coin Hoards in Britain Roger Bland, Adrian Chadwick, Colin Haselgrove, David Mattingly, 2020-06-30 More coin hoards have been recorded from Roman Britain than from any other province of the Empire This comprehensive and lavishly illustrated volume provides a survey of over 3260 hoards of Iron Age and Roman coins found in England and Wales with a detailed analysis and discussion Theories of hoarding and deposition and examined national and regional patterns in the landscape settings of coin hoards presented together with an analysis of those hoards whose findspots were surveyed and of those hoards found in archaeological excavations It also includes an unprecedented examination of the containers in which coin hoards were buried and the objects found with them The patterns of hoarding in Britain from the late 2nd century BC to the 5th century AD are discussed The volume also provides a survey of Britain in the 3rd century AD as a peak of over 700 hoards are known from the period from AD 253 296 This has been a particular focus of the project which has been a collaborative research venture between the University of Leicester and the British Museum funded by the AHRC The aim has been to understand the reasons behind the burial and non recovery of these finds A comprehensive online database <https://finds.org.uk/database/> underpins the project which also undertook a comprehensive GIS analysis of all the hoards and field surveys of a sample of them      The Iron Age and Romano-British Settlement at Crick Covert Farm, Northamptonshire Gwilym Hughes, Ann Woodward, 2015 Excavations of a large part of an extensive Iron Age settlement carried out between 1997 1998 at Covert Farm located near Crick in northwestern Northamptonshire      Bronze Age, Iron Age, Roman and Saxon settlements along the route of the A43 Corby Link Road, Northamptonshire Stephen Morris, Simon Markus, Jim Brown, 2023-10-12 This volume reports the results of intermittent archaeological mitigation works for the A43 Corby Link Road Northamptonshire undertaken by MOLA Museum of London Archaeology between June 2012 to October 2013 Evidence was uncovered relating to Bronze Age Iron Age Roman and Saxon settlements      Iron Age Fen-edge Settlement at Black Horse Farm, Sawtry, Cambridgeshire Andrew A. S. Newton, 2018 Black Horse Farm is situated on the Cambridgeshire fen edge During the Iron Age and early Romano British period it occupied a low promontory reaching out into the surrounding wetland This volume describes the archaeological excavation of the site and the Iron Age settlement and Romano British activity that was recorded there The wetland of the fen would have been a prominent part of everyday life at Black Horse Farm and the book examines the way in which the site s inhabitants utilised and exploited it Fluctuations between dry and damp conditions were also a prominent aspect of life at this marginal location and the later sections examine how the population responded to these conditions The book examines themes including the organisation of space within the roundhouse the role of ditches and banks as flood defences versus their social and defensive function and offers alternative interpretations for some commonly observed features at contemporary sites With contributions by Beta Analytic Inc Jane Cowgill Nina Crummy Julia E Cussans Val Fryer Andrew Peachey Ruth Pelling Carina Phillips Rob Scaife and Maisie Taylor Illustrations by Kathren Henry Charlotte Davies and Caroline George Roman Finds Richard Hingley, Steven Willis, 2007-04-10 Studies on finds in Roman Britain and the Western Provinces have come to greater prominence in the literature of recent years The quality of such work has also improved and is now theoretically informed and based on rich data sets Work on finds over the last decade or two has changed our understanding of the Roman era in profound ways and yet despite such encouraging advances and such clear worth there has to date been little in the way of a dedicated forum for the presentation and evaluation of current approaches to the study of material culture The conference at which these papers were initially presented has gone some way to redressing this and these papers bring the very latest studies on Roman finds to a wider audience Twenty papers are here presented covering various themes The Later Iron Age in Britain and Beyond Colin Haselgrove, Thomas Hugh Moore, 2007 Over the years there has been a major shift in Iron Age studies This volume contains thirty one papers which covers the Later Iron Age that is taken to be circa 400 300 BC until the Roman Conquest Iron Age, Roman and Saxon Occupation at Grange Park Laurence Jones, Ann Woodward, Simon Buteux, 2006 Birmingham Archaeology Monograph Series 1 This report provides the results of archaeological investigations undertaken by Birmingham University Field Archaeology Unit BUFAU now Birmingham Archaeology in advance of a major residential and employment development at Grange Park Courteenhall Northamptonshire NGR SP 760550 The investigations of an extensive area of Iron Age Roman and Saxon landscape containing several settlement foci were undertaken between January and September 1999 The 1999 investigations followed a programme of archaeological evaluation of the 193 hectare site in 1997 and 1998 comprising a desk based assessment aerial photographic assessment extensive fieldwalking geophysical survey and trial trenching The site lies at the interface between the higher quality agricultural land and permeable geologies of Upper Nene Valley at Northampton and the boulder clay uplands of the Salcey and Whittlewood Forest areas From the early prehistoric period onwards the sands and gravels had been favoured for settlement a situation seen in microcosm at Grange Park with the claylands probably remaining heavily wooded until they were largely cleared in the Iron Age and Roman periods The Iron Age settlements at Grange Park may be seen as outliers of the concentration of settlements in the Upper Nene Valley around Hunsbury hillfort In the Early and Middle Saxon periods the claylands appear to have been largely abandoned for agriculture with resultant regeneration of woodland before in the Late Saxon and medieval periods intensive arable exploitation expanded over most of the claylands from nucleated villages generally located on the permeable geologies Again the site at Grange Park reflects this broader pattern in microcosm with the whole of the 193 hectare site being brought into ridge and furrow cultivation during the medieval period as evidenced by documentary and cartographic sources aerial photographs and surviving earthworks With contributions by Lynne Bevan Megan Brickley Marina Ciaraldi Jane Cowgill Lucie Dingwall Chris Gaffney Rowena Gale James Greig Annette Hancocks Kay Hartley Rob Ixer Erica Macey Bracken Emily Murray Stephanie R tkai Val Rigby David Smith Roger Tomlin Roger White and Steven Willis Illustrations by Mark Breedon Nigel Dodds John Halsted and Bryony Ryder      Transactions and Proceedings Birmingham and Warwickshire Archaeological Society,2005      The Yorkshire Archaeological Journal ,2006

Iron Romano British Settlement Crick Covert Introduction

In today's digital age, the availability of Iron Romano British Settlement Crick Covert books and manuals for download has revolutionized the way we access information. Gone are the days of physically flipping through pages and carrying heavy textbooks or manuals. With just a few clicks, we can now access a wealth of knowledge from the comfort of our own homes or on the go. This article will explore the advantages of Iron Romano British Settlement Crick Covert books and manuals for download, along with some popular platforms that offer these resources. One of the significant advantages of Iron Romano British Settlement Crick Covert books and manuals for download is the cost-saving aspect. Traditional books and manuals can be costly, especially if you need to purchase several of them for educational or professional purposes. By accessing Iron Romano British Settlement Crick Covert versions, you eliminate the need to spend money on physical copies. This not only saves you money but also reduces the environmental impact associated with book production and transportation.

Furthermore, Iron Romano British Settlement Crick Covert books and manuals for download are incredibly convenient. With just a computer or smartphone and an internet connection, you can access a vast library of resources on any subject imaginable. Whether you're a student looking for textbooks, a professional seeking industry-specific manuals, or someone interested in self-improvement, these digital resources provide an efficient and accessible means of acquiring knowledge. Moreover, PDF books and manuals offer a range of benefits compared to other digital formats. PDF files are designed to retain their formatting regardless of the device used to open them. This ensures that the content appears exactly as intended by the author, with no loss of formatting or missing graphics. Additionally, PDF files can be easily annotated, bookmarked, and searched for specific terms, making them highly practical for studying or referencing. When it comes to accessing Iron Romano British Settlement Crick Covert books and manuals, several platforms offer an extensive collection of resources. One such platform is Project Gutenberg, a nonprofit organization that provides over 60,000 free eBooks. These books are primarily in the public domain, meaning they can be freely distributed and downloaded. Project Gutenberg offers a wide range of classic literature, making it an excellent resource for literature enthusiasts. Another popular platform for Iron Romano British Settlement Crick Covert books and manuals is Open Library. Open Library is an initiative of the Internet Archive, a non-profit organization dedicated to digitizing cultural artifacts and making them accessible to the public. Open Library hosts millions of books, including both public domain works and contemporary titles. It also allows users to borrow digital copies of certain books for a limited period, similar to a library lending system. Additionally, many universities and educational institutions have their own digital libraries that provide free access to PDF books and manuals. These libraries often offer academic texts, research papers, and technical manuals, making them invaluable resources for students and researchers. Some notable examples include MIT OpenCourseWare, which offers free access to course materials from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and the Digital Public Library of America, which provides a vast collection of digitized books and historical documents. In conclusion, Iron Romano British Settlement Crick Covert books and manuals for download have transformed the way we access information. They provide a cost-effective and convenient means of acquiring knowledge, offering the ability to access a vast library of resources at our fingertips.
