Father Involvement and Gender Equality in the United States Richard Petts,2022-08-31 This book focuses on issues of family work and gender with a focus on gender inequality Women are disadvantaged in both paid and domestic work due in large part to being primarily responsible for duties within the domestic sphere The COVID 19 pandemic has exacerbated these inequalities making the issue of reducing gender inequality even more pressing Fathers play an important role in contributing to and perhaps reducing gender inequality but barriers to their involvement in family life have received less attention than detailing challenges that mothers face If men were equally involved in all aspects of domestic life i e were fully engaged dads women s burdens would be reduced and perceptions of who is responsible for parenting may change resulting in greater gender equality Father Involvement and Gender Equality in the United States focuses on the key issue of father involvement seeking to understand why fathers are less involved at home than mothers despite an increased desire for fathers to be more engaged parents This book utilizes recent national survey data interviews with fathers and insights from the author s personal experience as a father to identify current norms of fatherhood within the United States barriers to father involvement and strategies to overcome these barriers Overall this book argues that by establishing the expectation that fathers will be fully engaged dads as a cultural norm and by providing structural opportunities for fathers to meet this cultural standard greater gender equality can be achieved within the United States The arguments presented in this book are valuable for scholars in the areas of family work and gender policymakers and business leaders who seek to promote gender equality and work family balance and parents who are interested in achieving a more egalitarian division of labor within their own families

Fathers and Forefathers Martin Robb, 2020-12-15 Research on fathers and fatherhood has blossomed in recent years focusing for the most part on present day fathering experiences but also beginning to uncover hidden narratives of past fatherhood This collection aims to add something new to this expanding field by exploring the dynamic relationship between present and past fatherhoods The popular understanding of fathers in past generations as being detached and uninvolved in the lives of their children can be said to play a significant part in the construction of modern fathering identities with ideas of new fatherhood being played off against notions of historical fathering practices. However, research has begun to show that these popular myths often misremember the past, judging it by current standards and obscuring the diverse nature of fathering practices in the recent and distant past. A genealogical approach is able to critically examine these intergenerational constructions of fatherhood and more positively illuminate the ways in which experiences of fathering and being fathered are passed on between generations. The contributions to this collection use a genealogical approach broadly defined to fathering and fatherhood as a way of defamiliarizing accepted narratives and suggesting new ways of thinking about men and their relationships with their children.

Yet there is still much that is not well understood in this area. The aim of this special issue is to further explore the influence of religion on family life. In particular, this issue includes a collection of studies from leading scholars on religion and family life that focus on ways in which religion and spirituality may influence various aspects of family life, including family processes, family structure, family formation, family dissolution, parenting, and family relationships. The studies included incorporate both qualitative and quantitative analyses, incorporate a number of different religious traditions, focus on religiosity among both adults and youth, and explore a number of important issues such as depression, intimacy, sexual behavior, lying, divorce, and faith transmission.
