Iran World History New Oxford:

Iran in World History Richard C. Foltz, 2016 One of the world's most ancient and enduring civilizations Iran has long played a central role in human events and continues to do so today This book traces the spread of Iranian culture among diverse populations ranging from the Mediterranean to the Indian Ocean and along the Silk Roads as far as China from prehistoric times up to the present day From paradise gardens and Persian carpets to the mystical poetry of Rumi and Hafez Iran's contributions have earned it a place among history's greatest and most influential civilizations Encompassing the fields of religion literature and the arts politics and higher learning this book provides a holistic history of this important culture

Revolutionizing a World Mark Altaweel, Andrea Squitieri, 2018-02-15 This book investigates the long term continuity of large scale states and empires and its effect on the Near East's social fabric including the fundamental changes that occurred to major social institutions Its geographical coverage spans from east to west modern day Libya and Egypt to Central Asia and from north to south Anatolia to southern Arabia incorporating modern day Oman and Yemen Its temporal coverage spans from the late eighth century BCE to the seventh century CE during the rise of Islam and collapse of the Sasanian Empire The authors argue that the persistence of large states and empires starting in the eighth seventh centuries BCE which continued for many centuries led to new socio political structures and institutions emerging in the Near East The primary processes that enabled this emergence were large scale and long distance movements or population migrations These patterns of social developments are analysed under different aspects settlement patterns urban structure material culture trade governance language spread and religion all pointing at movement as the main catalyst for social change This book's argument is framed within a larger theoretical framework termed as universalism a theory that explains many of the social transformations that happened to societies in the Near East starting from the Neo Assyrian period and continuing for centuries Among other influences the effects of these transformations are today manifested in modern languages concepts of government universal religions and monetized and globalized economies

Foreign Policy of the Islamic Republic of Iran Przemyslaw Osiewicz, 2020-11-29 Providing a well balanced and impartial perspective on the foreign policy of the Islamic Republic of Iran this book contributes to a better understanding of the current foreign policy of Iran especially its internal and external determinants Combining theoretical and practical aspects it provides readers with a short analysis of Iranian foreign policy The first part is dedicated to the Pahlavi era between 1925 1979 The second consists of three chapters covering issues relating to ideological and institutional aspects of Iranian foreign policy after 1979 The last part incorporates eight case studies which best present both regional and global dimensions This comprehensive study contains a synthesis of views and opinions of commentators and scholars who often represent contradictory perspectives Serving as a key reference and starting point for further studies this book will be of interest to students and researchers studying Iranian foreign policy international relations and Middle Eastern studies

The Turkic Peoples in World History Joo-Yup Lee, 2023-07-31 The

Turkic Peoples in World History is a thorough and rare introduction to the Turkic world and its role in world history providing a concise history of the Turkic peoples as well as a critical discussion of their identities and origins The Turks stepped on to the stage of history by establishing the T rk Qaghanate the first trans Eurasian empire in history in 552 CE In the following millennium they went on to create empires that had a profound impact on world history such as the Uyghur Khazar and Ottoman empires They also participated in building the Mongol empire and these Turko Mongol empires are credited with shaping the destinies of pre modern China the Middle East and Europe By treating the history of the Turkic peoples as a process of amalgamation and integration rather than simply categorizing the Turkic peoples chronologically or geographically this book offers new insights into Turkic history This volume is a comprehensive guide for students and scholars in the fields of world history Central Asian history and Middle Eastern studies who are seeking to understand the historical roles of Turkic peoples and their origins Iran's Regional Relations Seyed Mohammad Houshisadat,2020-10-05 Focusing on the interplay between domestic level changes and region wide interaction this book provides a comprehensive analytical and theoretical survey of Iranian foreign relations in the Middle East from Antiquity until the Islamic Republic It charts developments from the earliest regimes in Persia including the Median kingdom and the Sassanid Empire through rule by amongst others Abbasids Mongols Safavids and Qajars up to the modern states of the Shah and the Islamic Republic Throughout the author reflects on the enduring factors which have shaped Iran s relations with the rest of the region factors such as geography culture the belief systems of policy makers the structures of decision making and government and sub regional systems Overall the book provides a deep analysis of Iranian foreign relations in the Middle East over 4 700 years The Geopolitics of Iran Francisco José B. S. Leandro,Carlos Branco,Flavius Caba-Maria,2021-09-13 This book assesses Iran s role in contemporary geopolitics In particular it examines three main intertwining circles Iran s development and political challenges its relationships with neighbouring countries as well as its relations with the major global powers China the European Union Russia and the United States With contributions from over 20 authors the book spans such critical aspects of contemporary geopolitics as modern history natural resources the economy the social political context and strategic thinking Particular focus is placed on Iran s relations with its neighbours Afghanistan Iraq Israel Pakistan and the Persian Gulf States Furthermore the book offers both a bilateral and multilateral dimension on how nuclear sanctions imposed on Iran have impacted its strategic planning from the economic and military perspectives Revolutions in World History Michael D. Richards,2004 This broad comparative survey traces the origins developments and outcomes of revolutions starting with the English Revolutions in the 17th century and going on to the Mexican Russian Vietnamese and Iranian Revolutions The Persian Gulf in Modern Times L. Potter,2014-12-16 This book explores the historiography ports and peoples of the Persian Gulf over the past two centuries offering a more inclusive history of the region than previously available Restoring the history of minority communities which until now have been silenced the book provides a corrective to the official story put forward by modern states Short-term Empires in World History Robert Rollinger, Julian Degen, Michael Gehler, 2020-06-04 The volume will focus on a comparative level on a specific group of states that are commonly labelled as empires and that we encounter through all historical periods Although they are very successful at the very beginning like most empires are this success is very ephemeral and transient The era of conquest is never followed by a period of consolidation Collapse and or reduction to much smaller dimension run as fast as the process of wide ranging conquest and expansion The volume singles out a series of such short term empires and aims to provide a methodologically clearly structured as well as a uniform and consistent approach by developing a general set of questions that guarantee the possibility to compare and distinguish This way it intends to examine not only already well established empires but also to illuminate forgotten ones The World from 1450 to 1700 John E. Wills Jr., 2009-10-15 In The World from 1450 to 1700 historian John Wills takes a fresh look at one of the most fascinating and tumultuous periods in world history Assuming a global perspective rather than the traditional Eurocentric view Wills traces the interwoven changes that led from the world of Columbus Luther and the Mughal emperor Babur to the world of Locke Louis XIV and the Kangxi emperor The book's multi centered approach explores historical events not in isolation but rather in a dynamic nexus of connections ranging from the Italian Renaissance and the Protestant Reformation to the Sikh Hindu and Confucian revivals from the transformation of Japan in 1600 to the forced migrations of millions of African slaves from the English Civil War and expanding Qing and Muscovite empires in Asia to new forms of scientific knowledge and parliamentary democracy in Europe It is an interlocking world of change and movement innovation and conquest and Wills marshals his extraordinary narrative skill and breadth of learning to bring this period vibrantly to life The Political Economy of Iran Farhad Gohardani, Zahra Tizro, 2019-03-07 This study entails a theoretical reading of the Iranian modern history and follows an interdisciplinary agenda at the intersection of philosophy psychoanalysis economics and politics and intends to offer a novel framework for the analysis of socio economic development in Iran in the modern era A brief review of Iranian modern history from the Constitutional Revolution to the Oil Nationalization Movement the 1979 Islamic Revolution and the recent Reformist and Green Movements demonstrates that Iranian people travelled full circle This historical experience of socio economic development revolving around the bitter question of Why are we backward and its manifestation in perpetual socio political instability and violence is the subject matter of this study Michel Foucault's conceived relation between the production of truth and production of wealth captures the essence of hypothesis offered in this study Foucault 1980 93 94 maintains that In the last analysis we must produce truth as we must produce wealth indeed we must produce truth in order to produce wealth in the first place Based on a hybrid methodology combining hermeneutics of understanding and hermeneutics of suspicion this monograph proposes that the failure to produce wealth has had particular roots in the failure in the production of truth and trust At the heart of the proposed theoretical model is the following formula the Iranian subject's confused preference structure culminates in the formation of unstable coalitions which in turn leads to institutional failure creating a chaotic social order and a turbulent history as experienced by the Iranian nation in the modern era As such the society oscillates between the chaotic states of socio political anarchy emanating from irreconcilable differences between and within social assemblages and their affiliated hybrid forms of regimes of truth in the springs of freedom and repressive states of order in the winters of discontent Each time after the experience of chaos the order is restored based on the emergence of a final arbiter Iranian leviathan as the evolved coping strategy for achieving conflict resolution This highly volatile truth cycle produces the experience of socio economic backwardness and violence The explanatory power of the theoretical framework offered in the study exploring the relation between the production of truth trust and wealth is demonstrated via providing historical examples from strong events of Iranian modern history The significant policy implications of the model are explored This monograph will appeal to researchers scholars graduate students policy makers and anyone interested in the Middle Eastern politics Iran development studies and political economy

World History and the Eonic Effect John C. Landon,2010-04-27 At a time when theories of evolution are undergoing renewed controversy the study of the Eonic

Effect can break the deadlock by looking at world history in the light of evolution The assumption that evolution occurs at random is the crux of the dispute and one confused with issues of religion and secularism We can detect a non random pattern in the record of civilization itself to see evolution in action on a stupendous scale We live in the first generations with enough data to detect this phenomenon In the confusion of evolutionary theories the unexpected discovery of deep level structure can allow us to deconstruct fl at history and assess claims of directionality in evolution In the process the theory of natural selection applied to human evolution is seen to fail a photo finish test The book provides a new model for the study of the overlap of history and evolution and a critique of current views of the descent of man

The Mongols and the Islamic World Peter Jackson, 2017-04-04 An epic historical consideration of the Mongol conquest of Western Asia and the spread of Islam during the years of non Muslim rule The Mongol conquest of the Islamic world began in the early thirteenth century when Genghis Khan and his warriors overran Central Asia and devastated much of Iran Distinguished historian Peter Jackson offers a fresh and fascinating consideration of the years of infidel Mongol rule in Western Asia drawing from an impressive array of primary sources as well as modern studies to demonstrate how Islam not only survived the savagery of the conquest but spread throughout the empire This unmatched study goes beyond the well documented Mongol campaigns of massacre and devastation to explore different aspects of an immense imperial event that encompassed what is now Iran Iraq Turkey and Afghanistan as well as Central Asia and parts of eastern Europe It examines in depth the cultural consequences for the incorporated Islamic lands the Muslim experience of Mongol sovereignty and the conquerors eventual conversion to Islam

The Sea in World History Stephen K. Stein, 2017-04-24 This two volume set documents the essential role of the sea and maritime activity across history from travel and food production to commerce and conquest In all eras water transport has served as the cheapest and most efficient means of moving cargo and people over any significant distance Only relatively recently have railroads and aircraft provided an alternative Most of the world s bulk goods continue to travel primarily by ship over water Even today 95 percent of the cargo that enters and leaves the United States does so by ship Similarly people around the world rely on the sea for food and in recent years the sea has become an important source of oil and other resources with the longterm effects of our continuing efforts to extract resources from the sea further highlighting environmental concerns that range from pollution to the exhaustion of fish stocks This chronologically organized two volume reference addresses the history of the sea beginning with ancient civilizations 4000 to 1000 BCE and ending with the modern era 1945 to the present day Each of the eight chapters is further broken down into sections that focus on specific nations or regions offering detailed descriptions of that area of the world and shorter entries on specific topics individuals and events The book spans maritime history covering major seafaring peoples and nations famous explorers travelers and commanders events battles and wars key technologies including famous ships important processes and ongoing events such as piracy and the slave trade and more Readers will benefit from dozens of primary source documents ranging from ancient Egyptian tales

Iran and Persianate Culture in the Indian Ocean World Andrew Peacock, 2025-02-06 The first interdisciplinary study of the history of contact between Iranians and the peoples and polities of the Indian Ocean. Most of the historiography of the Iranian world focuses on interactions and migrations between Iran, Central Asia, and India. Nonetheless, this Iranian world was also closely connected to the maritime one of the Indian Ocean. While scholarship has drawn attention to diverse elements of these latter interactions ranging from the claims to Shirazi descent of East African communities to Persian elements in Malay literature and Iranian communities of merchants in China, such studies have remained largely isolated from one another. The consensus of historiography on the Indian Ocean presents it as an Arabic cosmopolis or in earlier times a Sanskrit one. The aim of this book is thus to bring together scholars working on disparate aspects of Persianate interactions with the Indian Ocean world from antiquity to modern times to provide a more rounded picture of both the history of the Persianate world broadly conceived and that of the Indian Ocean. The book brings together a collection of internationally renowned scholars from a variety of disciplines including archaeology, history, literature, linguistics, art history, and covers interactions in Iran's political and commercial relations with the Indian Ocean world in history, Persian-speaking communities in the Indian Ocean world, Persianate elements in Indian Ocean languages and literatures, Persian texts dealing with the Indian Ocean, and connections in material culture.
