

An aerial photograph of a lush green Irish landscape. The land is divided into numerous small fields by dark, hedged boundaries. Several white sheep are scattered across the fields, particularly in the lower half of the image. A few bare trees are visible in the foreground and middle ground. The overall scene is peaceful and rural.

issue in cultural studies this volume inquires into the role of historical experiences of hunger and deprivation within the emerging national identities and national historical narratives of Ireland and Ukraine In the Irish case a solid body of research has been compiled over the last 150 years while Ukraine's Holodomor by contrast was something of an open secret that historians could only seriously research after the demise of communist rule This volume is the first attempt to draw these approaches together and to allow for a comparative study of how the historical experiences of famine were translated into narratives that supported political claims for independent national statehood in Ireland and Ukraine Juxtaposing studies on the Irish and Ukrainian cases written by eminent historians political scientists and literary and film scholars the essays in this interdisciplinary volume analyse how national historical narratives were constructed and disseminated whether or not they changed with circumstances or were challenged by competing visions both academic and non academic In doing so the essays discuss themes such as representation commemoration and mediation and the influence of these processes on the shaping of cultural memory

Relocated Memories Margu rite Corporaal, 2017-04-24 The Great Famine radically transformed Ireland nearly one million people of the rural countryside died and the eviction of farmers led to massive emigration The Famine encouraged anti English nationalist sentiments and this trauma is seen as pivotal in the development of an Irish anticolonial consciousness and in the identity formation of transatlantic Irish communities In Relocated Memories Corporaal challenges the persistent assumption that the first decades after the Great Irish Famine were marked by a pervasive silence on the catastrophe Discussing works by well known authors such as William Carleton and Anthony Trollope as well as more obscure texts by among others Dillon O'Brien and Susanna Meredith Corporaal charts the reconfigurations of memory in fiction across generations and national borders

Heritage, Diaspora and the Consumption of Culture Diane Sabenacio Nititham, Rebecca Boyd, 2016-04-22 Using an interdisciplinary and transhistorical framework this book examines the cultural material and symbolic articulations of Irish migration relationships from the medieval period through to the contemporary post Celtic Tiger era With attention to people's different uses of social space relationships with and memories of the landscape as well as their symbolic expressions of diasporic identity Heritage Diaspora and the Consumption of Culture examines the different forms of diaspora over time and contributes to contemporary debates on home foreignness globalization and consumption By examining various movements of people into and out of Ireland the book explores how expressions of cultural capital and symbolic power have changed over time in the Irish collective imagination shedding light on the ways in which Ireland is represented and Irish culture consumed and materialized overseas Arranged around the themes of home and location identity and material culture and global culture and consumption this collection brings together the work of scholars from the UK Ireland Europe the US and Canada to explore the ways in which the processes of movement affect the people's negotiation and contestation of concepts of identity the local and the global As such it will appeal to scholars working in fields such as sociology politics cultural studies history and archaeology with interests in migration

The History of the Irish Famine Christine

Kinealy, Jason King, Gerard Moran, 2020-06-04 The Great Irish Famine remains one of the most lethal famines in modern world history and a watershed moment in the development of modern Ireland socially politically demographically and culturally In the space of only four years Ireland lost twenty five per cent of its population as a consequence of starvation disease and large scale emigration Certain aspects of the Famine remain contested and controversial for example the issue of the British government's culpability proselytism and the reception of emigrants However recent historiographical focus on this famine has overshadowed the impact of other periods of subsistence crisis both before 1845 and after 1852 The narratives of those who perished those who survived and those who emigrated form an integral part of this history and these volumes will make available for the first time some of the original documentation relating to an event that changed not only Irish history but the history of the countries to which the emigrants fled Britain the United States Canada and Australia By bringing together letters government reports diaries official documents pamphlets newspaper articles sermons eye witness testimonies poems and novels these volumes will provide a fresh way of understanding Irish history in general and famine and migration in particular Comprehensive editorial apparatus and annotation of the original texts are included along with bibliographies appendices chronologies and indexes that point the way for further study

Commemorating the Irish Famine Emily

Mark-FitzGerald, 2015-02-05 Commemorating the Irish Famine Memory and the Monument explores the history of the 1840s Irish Famine in visual representation commemoration and collective memory from the 19th century until the present across Ireland and the nations of its diaspora explaining why since the 1990s the Famine past has come to matter so much in our present

Irish Global Migration and Memory Marguerite Corporaal, Jason King, 2018-03-08 Irish Global Migration and Memory Transnational Perspectives of Ireland's Famine Exodus brings together leading scholars in the field who examine the experiences and recollections of Irish emigrants who fled from their famine stricken homeland in the mid nineteenth century The book breaks new ground in its comparative transnational approach and singular focus on the dynamics of cultural remembrance of one migrant group the Famine Irish and their descendants in multiple Atlantic and Pacific settings Its authors comparatively examine the collective experiences of the Famine Irish in terms of their community and institution building cultural ethnic and racial encounters with members of other groups and especially their patterns of mass migration integration and remembrance of their traumatic upheaval by their descendants and host societies The disruptive impact of their mass arrival had reverberations around the Atlantic world As an early refugee movement migrant community and ethnic minority Irish Famine emigrants experienced and were recollected to have faced many of the challenges that confronted later immigrant groups in their destinations of settlement This book is especially topical and will be of interest not only to Irish migration and refugee scholars but also the general public and all who seek to gain insight into one of Europe's foundational moments of forced migration that prefigures its current refugee crisis This book was originally published as a special issue of Atlantic Studies Global Currents Memory Ireland Oona Frawley, 2014-05-16 Recent years have seen cultural memory become a significant element in area studies and the humanities Ireland with its trauma filled history and huge global diaspora presents a fascinating subject for work in this vein This series as a whole seeks to construct a landscape of cultural memory in Ireland looking to map through an examination of various historical moments spaces and cultural forms the ways in which cultural memory shifts over time Volume 3 focuses on the impact of trauma on cultural memory by considering two cruxes the Famine and the Troubles as formative to the study of Irish cultural memory Topics include hunger strikes monuments to the Famine trauma and the politics of memory in the Irish peace process and Ulster Loyalist battles in the twenty first century Gathering the work of leading scholars such as Graham Dawson Richard Kearney Margaret Kelleher David Lloyd and Joseph Valente this collection is an essential contribution to the field of Irish studies Humanitarianism in the Modern World Norbert Götz, Georgina Brewis, Steffen Werther, 2020-07-23 This is an innovative new history of famine relief and humanitarianism The authors apply a moral economy approach to shed new light on the forces and ideas that motivated and shaped humanitarian aid during the Great Irish Famine the famine of 1921 1922 in Soviet Russia and the Ukraine and the 1980s Ethiopian famine They place these episodes within a distinctive periodisation of humanitarianism which emphasises the correlations with politico economic regimes the time of elitist laissez faire liberalism in the nineteenth century as one of ad hoc humanitarianism that of Taylorism and mass society from c 1900 1970 as one of organised humanitarianism and the blend of individualised post material lifestyles and neoliberal public management since 1970 as one of expressive humanitarianism The book as a whole shifts the focus of the history of humanitarianism from the imperatives of crisis management to the pragmatic mechanisms of fundraising relief efforts on the ground and finance This book is also available as Open Access on Cambridge Core The Removal of Irish Paupers from Britain Lewis Darwen, Donald MacRaild, 2024-11-29 During the nineteenth century local officials sought to deal with their Irish pauper problem by removing these poor migrants back to Ireland under the laws of settlement and removal Over the course of the century hundreds of thousands of Irish paupers were forcibly repatriated in this way Even though the settlement rights of Irish immigrants gradually improved over time removals were still taking place into the twentieth century The system was widely recognised as being cruel and unfair especially in Ireland where the removal of Irish paupers from Britain garnered considerable political and press attention Much was made of the illegality of some removals and of harsh removals involving widowed women children and the elderly This book which is the first sustained study of repatriation from Britain demonstrates a persistent theme the marginal nature of Irish life on the larger island Drawing on extensive research from newspaper sources and parliamentary papers it presents an original and richly detailed perspective on Irish immigration poverty and pauperism in nineteenth century Britain Hearing Voices Brendan Kelly, 2016-11-07 Hearing Voices The History of Psychiatry in Ireland is a monumental work by one of Ireland s leading psychiatrists encompassing every psychiatric development from the Middle Ages to the present day and examining the far reaching social and political effects of Ireland's troubled relationship with mental illness From the Glen of Lunatics said to cure the mentally ill to the overcrowded asylums of later centuries with more beds for the mentally ill than any other country in the world Ireland has a complex unsettled history in the practice of psychiatry Kelly's definitive work examines Ireland's unique relationship with conceptions of mental ill health throughout the centuries delving into each medical breakthrough and every misuse of authority both political and domestic for those deemed to be mentally ill Through fascinating archival records Kelly writes a crisp and accessible history evaluating everything from individual case histories to the seismic effects of the First World War and exploring the attitudes that guided treatments spanning Brehon Law to the emerging emphasis on human rights Hearing Voices is a marvel that affords incredible insight into Ireland's social and medical history while providing powerful observations on our current treatment of mental ill health in Ireland

The Aesthetics and Politics of Global Hunger

Anastasia Ulanowicz, Manisha Basu, 2018-02-14 This collection investigates modern imperialist practices and their management of hunger through its punctuated distribution amongst asymmetrically related marginal populations Drawing on relevant material from Egypt Ireland India Ukraine and other regions of the globe The Aesthetics and Politics of Global Hunger is a rigorously comparative study made up of ten essays by well established scholars from universities around the world Since modernity we have been inhabitants of a globe increasingly connected through discourses of equal access for all humans to the resources of the planet but the volume emphasizes alongside this reality the flagrant politicization of those same resources From this emphasis the essays in the volume place into relief the idea that ideological and aesthetic discourses of hunger could inform ethical thinking and practices about who or what constitutes the figure of the modern historical human

Haunted historiographies Matthew Schultz, 2016-05-16 The spectres of history haunt Irish fiction In this compelling study Matthew Schultz maps these rhetorical hauntings across a wide range of postcolonial Irish novels and defines the spectre as a non present presence that simultaneously symbolises and analyses an overlapping of Irish myth and Irish history By exploring this exchange between literary discourse and historical events Haunted historiographies provides literary historians and cultural critics with a theory of the spectre that exposes the various complex ways in which novelists remember represent and reinvent historical narrative It juxtaposes canonical and non canonical novels that complicate long held assumptions about four definitive events in modern Irish history the Great Famine the Irish Revolution the Second World War and the Northern Irish Troubles to demonstrate how historiographical Irish fiction from James Joyce and Samuel Beckett to Roddy Doyle and Sebastian Barry is both a product of Ireland's colonial history and also the rhetorical means by which a post colonial culture has emerged

Stoddard, 2012-11-09 Stoddard uses the Anglophone Caribbean and Ireland to examine the complex inflections of women and race as articulated in between the colonial discursive and material formations of the eighteenth century and those of the post

colonial twentieth century as structured by the defined spaces of the colonizers estates Migrant Representations Peter Leese, 2022-01-15 Migrant Representations pairs twenty four carefully selected histories in order to compare how migrants themselves Irish labourer Lithuanian refugee or Indian doctor and their social investigators capture in words and images defining private and historical moments These comparative case studies from the 1780s to the 2000s explore how migrants constructed their own narratives of mobility and settlement through procedures of reflecting remembering and recording Moreover these studies examine how speech writing and picture were used for instance by a missionary social scientist or activist to make outside representations of the migrant Such life stories social surveys and pictures emerge as alternative archives Leese's transnational cultural history considers life story forms and their uses the tension between external surveillance and self observation the power of narratives to afford legibility and acknowledgement Leese argues that historically and in the present first person migrant stories and outsider investigations create a continuous charged exchange of views where both migrant and observer negotiate position authority authenticity and potential advantage Within the history of migrant representations this exchange generates a persistent subversive strain of opposition and critique Such self observations observations of others and images never settle 1847 Turtle Bunbury, 2016-09-09 Capture the spirit of an industrial social and cultural revolution through this invigorating collection of historical portraits from the dawn of the industrialised world Though it feels like an era marooned almost irretrievably in the distant past the 1840s just narrating moving tales The portraits by Fennell are striking warm and dignified with a feeling of being invited into people's lives The Sunday Times
