Democracy Under Siege? Timothy Hellwig, Yesola Kweon, Jack Vowles, 2020-06-29 The Global Financial Crisis of 2008 2009 was catalyst for the most precipitous economic downturn in eight decades This book examines how the GFC and ensuing Great Recession affected electoral politics in the world's developed democracies The initial wave of research on the crisis concluded it did little to change the established relationships between voters parties and elections Yet nearly a decade since the initial shock the political landscape has changed in many ways the extent to which has not been fully explained by existing studies Democracy Under Siege pushes against the received wisdom by advancing a framework for understanding citizen attitudes preferences and behaviour It makes two central claims First while previous studies of the GFC tend to focus on an immediate impact of the crisis Hellwig Kweon and Vowles argue that economic malaise has a long lasting impact In addition to economic shock the economic recovery has a significant impact on citizens assessment of political elites Second the authors argue that unanticipated exogenous shocks like the GFC grants party elites an opening for political manoeuvre through public policy and rhetoric As a result political elites have a high degree of agency to shape public perceptions and behaviour Political parties can strategically moderate citizens economic uncertainty mobilise demobilise voters and alter individuals political preferences By leveraging data from over 150 000 individuals across over 100 nationally representative post election surveys from the 1990s to 2017 this book shows how economic change during a tumultuous era affected economic perceptions policy demands political participation and the vote The Comparative Study of Electoral Systems CSES is a collaborative program of research among election study teams from around the world Participating countries include a common module of survey questions in their post election studies The resulting data are deposited along with voting demographic district and macro variables The studies are then merged into a single free public dataset for use in comparative study and cross level analysis The set of volumes in this series is based on these CSES modules and the volumes address the key theoretical issues and empirical debates in the study of elections and representative democracy Some of the volumes will be organized around the theoretical issues raised by a particular module while others will be thematic in their focus Taken together these volumes will provide a rigorous and ongoing contribution to understanding the expansion and consolidation of democracy in the twenty first century Series editors Hans Dieter Klingemann and Ian McAllister International Financial Statistics June 2000 Issue International Monetary Fund. Congress,1949 Justice of the Peace and Local Government Review ,1860 World Economic Outlook, October 2018 International Monetary Fund. Research Dept.,2018-10-09 Global growth for 2018 19 is projected to remain steady at its 2017 level but its pace is less vigorous than projected in April and it has become less balanced Downside risks to global growth have risen in the past six months and the potential for upside surprises has receded Global growth is projected at 3.7 percent for 2018 19 0.2 percentage point lower for both years than forecast in April The downward revision reflects surprises that suppressed activity in early 2018 in some major advanced economies the negative effects of the trade measures implemented or approved between April and mid September as well as a weaker outlook for some key emerging market and developing economies arising from country specific factors tighter financial conditions geopolitical tensions and higher oil import bills The balance of risks to the global growth forecast has shifted to the downside in a context of elevated policy uncertainty Several of the downside risks highlighted in the April 2018 World Economic Outlook WEO such as rising trade barriers and a reversal of capital flows to emerging market economies with weaker fundamentals and higher political risk have become more pronounced or have partially materialized Meanwhile the potential for upside surprises has receded given the tightening of financial conditions in some parts of the world higher trade costs slow implementation of reforms recommended in the past and waning growth momentum The Gardeners' Chronicle and Agricultural Gazette ,1849

Gardeners' Chronicle and Agricultural Gazette ,1849 The Condition of the Working-Class in England in 1844
Frederick Engels,2014-02-12 The Condition of the Working Class in England is one of the best known works of Friedrich Engels Originally written in German as Die Lage der arbeitenden Klasse in England it is a study of the working class in Victorian England It was also Engels first book written during his stay in Manchester from 1842 to 1844 Manchester was then at the very heart of the Industrial Revolution and Engels compiled his study from his own observations and detailed contemporary reports Engels argues that the Industrial Revolution made workers worse off He shows for example that in large industrial cities mortality from disease as well as death rates for workers were higher than in the countryside In cities like Manchester and Liverpool mortality from smallpox measles scarlet fever and whooping cough was four times as high as in the surrounding countryside and mortality from convulsions was ten times as high as in the countryside The overall death rate in Manchester and Liverpool was significantly higher than the national average one in 32 72 and one in 31 90 and even one in 29 90 compared with one in 45 or one in 46 An interesting example shows the increase in the overall death rates in the industrial town of Carlisle where before the introduction of mills 1779 1787 4 408 out of 10 000 children died before reaching the age of five and after their introduction the figure rose to 4 738 Before the introduction of mills 1 006 out of 10 000 adults died before reaching 39 years old and after their introduction the death rate rose to 1 261 out of 10 000
