It is a measure of a company's operating performance and is used to evaluate its profitability without the impact of financing and accounting decisions. It provides a clearer picture of the company's operational efficiency.

How do you value a company?

Answer There are several methods to value a company, including the Discounted Cash Flow (DCF) analysis, comparable company analysis, and precedent transactions. DCF involves forecasting the company's free cash flows and discounting them to present value using the company's weighted average cost of capital (WACC). Comparable company analysis involves evaluating similar companies and applying relevant multiples to the target company.

Behavioural Questions

This allowed me to present key findings to senior management, which helped in making informed strategic decisions.

How do you prioritize tasks when you have multiple deadlines to meet?

Answer I prioritize tasks based on their urgency and impact, using a combination of task lists and scheduling. I break down larger projects into smaller, manageable tasks and set intermediate deadlines to ensure steady progress. Effective communication with my team and stakeholders also helps in managing expectations and ensuring timely completion of tasks.

Describe a challenging financial project you worked on and how you handled it.

Answer One challenging project was implementing a new budgeting system for my department. I had to coordinate with various stakeholders to gather requirements, research suitable software, and oversee the transition from the old system.
