Conn,2019-10-15 Do business schools actually make good on their promises of innovative outside the box thinking to train business leaders who will put society ahead of money making Do they help society by making better business leaders No they don t Steven Conn asserts and what s more they never have In throwing down a gauntlet on the business of business schools Conn s Nothing Succeeds Like Failure examines the frictions conflicts and contradictions at the heart of these enterprises and details the way business schools have failed to resolve them Beginning with founding of the Wharton School in 1881 Conn measures these schools aspirations against their actual accomplishments and tells the full and disappointing history of missed opportunities unmet aspirations and educational mistakes Conn then poses a set of crucial questions about the role and function of American business schools The results aren t pretty Posing a set of crucial questions about the function of American business schools Nothing Succeeds Like Failure is pugnacious and controversial Deeply researched and fun to read Nothing Succeeds Like Failure argues that the impressive fa ades of business school buildings resemble nothing so much as collegiate versions of Oz Conn pulls back the curtain to reveal a story of failure to meet the expectations of the public their missions their graduates and their own lofty aspirations of producing moral and ethical business leaders The Routledge Companion to Business History John Wilson,Steven Toms,Abe de Jong,Emily Buchnea,2016-12-01 The Routledge Companion to Business History is a definitive work of reference and authoritative international source on business history Compiled by leading scholars in the field it offers both researchers and students an introduction and overview of current scholarship in this expanding discipline Drawing on a wealth of international contributions this volume expands the field and explores how business history interacts theoretically and methodologically with other fields It charts the origins and development of business history and its global reach from Latin America and Africa to North America and Europe With this multi perspective approach it illustrates the unique contribution of business history and its relationship with a range of other disciplines from finance and banking to gender issues in corporations The Routledge Companion to Business History is a vital source of reference for students and researchers in the fields of business history corporate governance and business ethics This collection is an excellent starting point for understanding the field and finding areas where business history management theory and social science can intersect Canadian Business History Newsletter January 2019 Surviving the Daily Grind Philip Coggan,2022-09-01 We spend a lot of our time at work and would be depressed with nothing to do But when it gets to Monday many of us are already longing for the weekend and the prospect of escape How did work become so tedious and stressful And is there anything we can do to make it better Based on his popular Economist Bartleby column Philip Coggan rewrites the rules of work to help us survive the daily grind Ranging widely he encourages us to cut through mindless jargon pointless bureaucracy and endless meetings to find a new more creative and less frustrating way to get by and get on at work Incisive original and endlessly droll this is the guide for beleaguered underlings and harried higher ups alike As Rousseau might have said Man was born free but is everywhere stuck in a meeting If you ve ever thought there must be a better way this is the book for you Management: It's not what you think Henry Mintzberg, Bruce Ahlstrand, Joseph B. Lampel, 2013-07-09 Henry Mintzberg's views are a breath of fresh air which can only encourage the good guys The Observer Tied up in knots by KPIs Confused by core competencies Management doesn't have to be this way In fact it shouldn't be One of today's best known and most controversial thinkers on management has joined forces with other leading business figures to provide a thought provoking mix of writing on management The cutting edge views depicted in this book are controversially the opposite of what is often held up as the truth in management Management Its Not What you Think brings readers an unusual mix of perspectives to help stimulate more creative management thinking and more enjoyable challenging and more productive ways to lead their teams This is a book readers can dip into a book they can savour a book that won't fail to get them reflecting on what management really is Art and Letters, Love and Desires Jack Leissring, Ellen Koment, 2010-11-12 Ellen Koment first met Jack Leissring in 1969 when he came to her studio in Valley Ford CA and bought the first of many of her paintings Since then they have been mutual inspirations and good friends Jack was the collector perhaps patron that every artist dreams of Ellen was the artist that every lover of art hopes to find In 1995 they were in a French Cafe in San Francisco where Jack suggested that men in general and specifically he didn't really understand how women thought Ellen responded that while she couldn't speak for all women she would try to share her responses to art relationships and love any and all things that friends share These letters by email were what came from the conversation My Manager and Other Animals Richard Robinson, 2014-04-17 Deep down we're just like animals Some of us are selfish like apes Some are chaotic like ants And somehow the two clash and coalesce in antagonistic harmony A fascinating look at the evolutionary psychology instincts and tactics of the workplace My Manager they seem like opposites because co operation means helping others competition means swatting them What are we ape or ant This book shows that ant and ape are both important Co operation without leadership is random leadership without co operation is slavery The result of these two colliding is the mad mad mad world of work and life lovingly described in the book The Last Job Search Guide You'll Ever Need Steven John Rothberg, 2002-09 CEO School Stanislav Shekshnia, Kirill Kravchenko, Elin Williams, 2018-02-15 This book focuses on what makes a successful CEO and the paths to becoming one in today's global economy Chapters in the book include insights by 20 top CEOs one from each G20 country gathered from an extensive global qualitative research project Through seven easy to digest master classes that demystify the role of the 21st century CEO the authors present their findings in an accessible conversational style that serves as a step by step guide for those who aspire to become CEOs and develop essential character traits experience and skills required of the role Old Words for a New World Walter Brueggemann, 2025-02-04 Walter Brueggemann has been so effective for so long precisely because he has consistently called upon the church to see beyond the taken for granted realities it confronts by imagining God's alternative reality to recognize that the bars of its entrapment were social constructs and could just as easily be deconstructed so we could be once again enchanted by God's good news To challenge the taken for granted reality of the church and to imagine an alternative reality Brueggemann consistently takes us back to the biblical text He moves between a description of the reality that appears in front of the church and the alternative that God is preparing for God's people that begins now and moves into God's eschatological future In so doing Brueggemann seeks to unleash the power of God's words to create a new world here and now

Shut Down the Business School Martin Parker, 2018-05-20 Business schools are institutions which a decade after the financial crash continue to act as loudspeakers for neoliberal capitalism with all its injustices and planetary consequences In this lively and incendiary call to action Martin Parker offers a simple message shut down the business school Parker argues that business schools are cash cows for the contemporary university that have produced a generation of unreflective managers primarily interested in their own personal rewards If we see universities as institutions with responsibilities to the societies they inhabit then we must challenge the common notion that the market should be the primary determinant of the education they provide Shut Down the Business School makes a compelling case for a radical alternative in the form of a School for Organising This institution would develop and teach on different forms of organising instead of reproducing the dominant corporate model enabling individuals to discover alternative responses to the pressing issues of inequality and sustainability faced by all of us today

Ewart Keep,2002 Practically Academic Mitchell J. Larson,2003 This work problematizes business school formation during the 1960s as a stage in the professionalization of British business management In reconstructing the political and economic circumstances surrounding the business schools creation the thesis illustrates various contemporary expectations for the field of management education Throughout the thesis the background formative details and subsequent impact on the economy of the first two British business schools are explored in two ways first the study highlights the paradox between industrial support for management education as such and later unwillingness to hire the graduates of business schools Second it suggests that the formation of business schools may be viewed as a case study of post war Americanization The work emphasizes that business school advocates faced entrenched resistance to academic management programs arising from competing methods of preparation for business careers as well as the academic establishment The thesis demonstrates that the creation of American style management education institutions reflected British desires to elevate the social status of business management practitioners and simultaneously improve business performance The Little Magazine ,2006
