Growing Up In New Guinea:

Growing Up in New Guinea Margaret Mead, 2001-02-20 Following the sensational success of her first book Coming of Age in Samoa Margaret Mead continued her brilliant work in Growing Up in New Guinea detailing her study of the Manus a New Guinea people still untouched by the outside world when she visited them in 1928 She lived in their noisy fishing village at a pivotal time after warfare had vanished but before missions and global commerce had begun to change their lives She developed fascinating insights into their family lives exploring their attitudes toward sex marriage the rearing of children and the supernatural which led her to see intriguing parallels with modern Western society Reissued for the centennial of her birth and featuring introductions by Howard Gardner and Mead's daughter Mary Catherine Bateson this book offers important anthropological insights into human societies and vividly captures a vanished way of life Growing up on the Trobriand Islands in Papua New Guinea Barbara Senft, Gunter Senft, 2018-05-22 This volume deals with the children's socialization on the Trobriands After a survey of ethnographic studies on childhood the book zooms in on indigenous ideas of conception and birth giving the children's early development their integration into playgroups their games and their education within their own little community until they reach the age of seven years During this time children enjoy much autonomy and independence Attempts of parental education are confined to a minimum However parents use subtle means to raise their children Educational ideologies are manifest in narratives and in speeches addressed to children They provide guidelines for their integration into the Trobrianders balanced society which is characterized by cooperation and competition It does not allow individual accumulation of wealth surplus property gained has to be redistributed but it values the fame acquired by individuals in competitive rituals Fame is not regarded as threatening the balance of their society Youth Ministry in Papua New Guinea Danijela Schubert, 2013-07-12 Papua New Guinea is experiencing changes that grow in significance and accelerate in pace Although the majority of its population are still subsistence farmers the postmodern world is fast making an impact That means that at the same time they are strongly influenced by firmly ingrained tradition where animism is binding and a pervasive element as well as Western media with its consumerism and worldview The most impacted are youth who are caught between the traditional and postmodern culture In a country that is Christian by constitution pastors are looked upon with high esteem They need to find a way to bridge the gap to make sense of the world youth are living in and find a meaningful way forward Although this book is aimed at pastors and youth workers in PNG other sectors can benefit from the research politicians educators health workers clergy especially if they are coming from a different culture be that from PNG or another country Margaret Mead Ruth Strother, 2009-01-01 Explores the life and legacy of anthropologist Margaret Mead Growing Up Agreeably Harald Beyer Broch, 1990-01-01 Contested Childhoods: Growing up in Migrancy Marie Louise Seeberg, Elżbieta M. Goździak, 2016-10-25 This book is open access under a CC BY NC 2.5 license This open access book explores specific migration governance and identity processes currently involving children and ideas of childhood Migrancy as a social space allows majority populations to question the capabilities of migrants and is a space in which an increasing number of children are growing up In this space families nation states civil society as well as children themselves are central actors engaged in contesting the meaning of childhood Childhood is a field of conceptual moral and political contestation where the battles may range from minor tensions and everyday negotiations of symbolic or practical importance involving a limited number of people to open conflicts involving violence and law enforcement The chapters demonstrate the importance of how we understand phenomena involving children when children are trafficked seeking refuge taken into custody active in gangs or in youth organisations and struggling with identity work This book examines countries representing very different engagements and policies regarding migrancy and children As a result readers are presented with a comprehensive volume ideal for both the classroom and for policy makers and practitioners The chapters are written by experts in social anthropology human geography political science sociology and psychology

Growing Up in an Egyptian Village H.M. Ammar, 2013-09-05 This is Volume IV of eighteen in a series on the Sociology of Development Originally published in 1954 this text stems from years of field work in the village in Silwa Province of Aswan Egypt which has a homogenous social structure and economic life Although quite isolated geographically it has not been unaffected by social change and part of the book deals with the impact of a modern system of schooling on the outlook and activities of the villagers

Kinship in the Admiralty Islands Daniel

Elazar,2018-01-16 The Manus of New Guinea's Pere village were Margaret Mead's most favored community the people to whom she returned five times before she died in 1978 Kinship in the Admiralty Islands is the classic and only thorough description of their complex rules of marriage and family relations It draws on Mead's 1928-1929 field work conducted with her second husband New Zealander Reo Fortune and benefits by her being able to cross check her data with his Written in 1931 Kinship followed Mead's first and very popular book on the Manus Growing Up in New Guinea which was criticized by other anthropologists for being too general in scope In Kinship Mead succeeded in demonstrating her thorough knowledge of this Melanesian group in the specific terms prized by her scholarly colleagues while also describing in depth Manus social structure Kinship in the Admiralty Islands describes an intricate system of social restraints and kinship ties and their impact on the local economy The Manus predilection for adoption for example allows surrogate fathers to make extended marriage payments while in the next generation their adopted sons will take on the same responsibility for other young men in the new kin network Mead reviews other kinship rules such as avoidance behavior between in laws of the opposite sex early betrothals other forms of adoption and a range of deference behavior and joking relations among kin In this work Mead walks a fine line between functionalist kinship analysis of the British school of Radcliffe Brown and the cultural and personality orientation of Americans in the school of Franz Boas Jeanne Guillemin's new introduction provides a lively in depth description of Margaret Mead's career in the early days of anthropology the sometimes negative reactions of her contemporaries to her work and her reasons for writing Kinship in the Admiralty Islands as well as Mead's later reactions to how her Manus entered the modern world Margaret Mead was noted for directing her writings to both scholar and laymen alike Kinship in the Admiralty Islands will be of interest to anthropologists and general readers interested in the peoples of the South Pacific Margaret Mead was curator of ethnology of the American Museum of Natural History She was the author of many books including Continuities in Cultural Evolution available from Transaction The Study of Culture at a Distance The Mountain of Arapesh and From the South Seas Studies of Adolescence and Sex in Primitive Societies Jeanne Guillemin is a professor of anthropology at Boston College and editor of Anthropological Realities Readings in the Science of Culture also available from Transaction

Growing Up Human Brenna Hassett,2022-06-30 Brings the science of biological anthropology to bear on understanding how our evolutionary history has shaped a phenomenon everyone has experienced childhood Tracking deep into our evolutionary history anthropological science has begun to unravel one particular feature that sets us apart from the many many animals that came before us our uniquely long childhoods Growing Up Human looks at how we have diverged from our ancestral roots to stay forever young or at least what seems like forever and how the evolution of childhood is a critical part of the human story Beginning with a look at the ways animals invest in their offspring the book moves through the many steps of making a baby from pair bonding to hidden ovulation points where our species has repeatedly stepped off the standard primate path From the mystery of monogamy to the minefield of modern parenting advice biological anthropologist Brenna Hassett reveals how differences between humans and our closest cousins lead to our messy mating systems dangerous pregnancies and difficult births and what these tell us about the kind of babies we are trying to build Using observations of our closest primate relatives the tiny relics of childhood that come to us from the archaeological record and the bones and teeth of our ancestors science has started to unravel the evolution of our childhood right down the fossil record In our species investment doesn't stop at birth and as Growing Up Human reveals we can compare every aspect of our care and feeding from the chemical composition of our milk to our fondness for formal education from ancient times onwards in order to understand just what we evolved our weird and wonderful childhoods for Growing Up Global Cindi Katz, 2004 Printbegrensninger Der kan printes 10 sider ad gangen og max 40 sider pr session Margaret Mead Joan Gordan, 2015-06-03 No detailed description available for Margaret Mead Growing Up in New Guinea University of Papua New Guinea, 1900 Margaret Mead Nancy C. Lutkehaus, 2018-06-26 Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful committed citizens can change the world Margaret Mead This quotation found on posters and bumper stickers and adopted as the motto for hundreds of organizations worldwide speaks to the global influence and legacy of the American anthropologist Margaret Mead 1901-78 In this insightful and revealing book Nancy Lutkehaus explains how and why Mead became the best known anthropologist and female public intellectual in twentieth century America Using photographs films television appearances and materials from newspapers magazines and scholarly journals Lutkehaus explores the ways in which Mead became an American cultural heroine Identifying four key images associated with her the New Woman the Anthropologist Adventurer the Scientist and the Public Intellectual Lutkehaus examines the various meanings that different segments of American society assigned to Mead throughout her lengthy career as a public figure The author shows that Mead came to represent a new set of values and ideas about women non-Western peoples culture and America's role in the twentieth century that have significantly transformed society and become generally accepted today Lutkehaus also considers why there has been no other anthropologist since Mead to become as famous Margaret Mead is an engaging look at how one woman's life and accomplishments resonated with the issues that shaped American society and changed her into a celebrity and cultural icon Federation for Child Study Bulletin, 1929 On Creating a Usable Culture Maureen A. Molloy, 2008-02-20 Margaret Mead's career took off in 1928 with the publication of Coming of Age in Samoa Within ten years she was the best known academic in the United States a role she enjoyed all of her life In On Creating a Usable Culture Maureen Molloy explores how Mead was influenced by and influenced the meanings of American culture and secured for herself a unique and enduring place in the American popular imagination She considers this in relation to Mead's four popular ethnographies written between the wars Coming of Age in Samoa Growing Up in New Guinea The Changing Culture of an Indian Tribe and Sex and Temperament in Three Primitive Societies and the academic middle brow and popular responses to them Molloy argues that Mead was heavily influenced by the debates concerning the forging of a distinctive

American culture that began around 1911 with the publication of George Santayana's The Genteel Tradition. The creation of a national culture would solve the problems of alienation and provincialism and establish a place for both native born and immigrant communities. Mead drew on this vision of an integrated culture and used her primitive societies as exemplars of how cultures attained or failed to attain this ideal. Her ethnographies are really about America; the peoples she studied serving as the personifications of what were widely understood to be the dilemmas of American selfhood in a materialistic individualistic society. Two themes subtend Molloy's analysis. The first is Mead's articulation of the individual's relation to his or her culture via the trope of sex. Each of her early ethnographies focuses on a character and his or her problems as expressed through sexuality. This thematic ties her work closely to the popularization of psychoanalysis at the time with its understanding of sex as the key to the self. The second theme involves the change in Mead's attitude toward and definition of culture from the cultural determinism in Coming of Age to culture as the enemy of the individual in Sex and Temperament. This trend parallels the consolidation and objectification of popular and professional notions about culture in the 1920s and 1930s. On Creating a Usable Culture will be eagerly welcomed by those with an interest in American studies and history, cultural studies and the social sciences and most especially by readers of American intellectual history, the history of anthropology, gender studies and studies of modernism.

Teacher Preparation in Papua New Guinea John Mortimer, 2024-03-20. The authors present a comprehensive examination of the historical origins and development of schooling and teacher preparation in Papua New Guinea from indigenous education in villages, the influence of European colonization and the role of missionaries in providing education and the implications for education policies and practices.

Anthropologists and the Rediscovery of America, 1886-1965 John S. Gilkeson, 2010-09-20. This book examines the intersection of cultural anthropology and American cultural nationalism from 1886 when Franz Boas left Germany for the United States until 1965 when the National Endowment for the Humanities was established. Five chapters trace the development within academic anthropology of the concepts of culture, social class, national character, value and civilization and their dissemination to non anthropologists. As Americans came to think of culture anthropologically as a complex whole far broader and more inclusive than Matthew Arnold's "the best which has been thought and said" so too did they come to see American communities as stratified into social classes distinguished by their subcultures, to attribute the making of the American character to socialization rather than birth, to locate the distinctiveness of American culture in its unconscious canons of choice and to view American culture and civilization in a global perspective.

Biogeography and Ecology of New Guinea J.L. Gressitt, 2012-12-06. J. L. Gressitt. New Guinea is a fantastic island, unique and fascinating. It is an area of incredible variety of geomorphology, biota, peoples, languages, history, traditions and cultures. Diversity is its prime characteristic whatever the subject of interest. To a biogeographer it is tantalizing as well as confusing or frustrating when trying to determine the history of its biota. To an ecologist and to all biologists it is a happy hunting ground of endless surprises and unanswered questions To a conservationist it is like a dream come true a flash back of a few centuries as well as a challenge for the future New Guinea is so special that it is hard to compare it with other islands or tropical areas It is something apart with its very complicated history chapters I 2 4 II 1 4 III I VI I 2 It is partly old but to a great extent very young yet extremely rich and complex It has biota of different sources to such a degree that it is still disputed in this volume as to what Realm it belongs to the Paleotropical or Notogaeian Australian or what Region Oriental Oceanic Papuan or Australian The terms Papuasian Indo Australian and Australasian also have been applied to the area
