Storying Relationships Richard Phillips, Claire Chambers, Nafhesa Ali, Kristina Diprose, Indrani Karmakar, 2021-04-22

Storying Relationships explores the sexual lives of young British Muslims in their own words and through their own stories. It finds engaging and surprising stories in a variety of settings when young people are chatting with their friends, conversing more formally within families and communities, scribbling in their diaries and writing blogs, poems and books to share or publish. These stories are interesting to read and to hear, but they also have wider significance because they challenge stereotypes about Muslims who are portrayed as unhappy in love and sexually different, even dangerous. The young people who emerge in this book, contradicting racist and Islamophobic stereotypes, are assertive and creative, finding and making their own ways in matters of the body and the heart. Their stories about single life, meeting and dating, pressure and expectations, sex, love, marriage and dreams are at once specific to the young British Muslims who tell them and resonant reflections of human experience.

By Any Media Necessary Henry Jenkins, Sangita Shresthova, Liana Gamber-Thompson, Neta Kligler-Vilenchik, Arely Zimmerman, 2016. There is a widespread perception that the foundations of American democracy are dysfunctional and little is likely to emerge from traditional politics that will shift those conditions. Youth are often seen as emblematic of this crisis, frequently represented as uninterested in political life and ill informed about current affairs. By Any Media Necessary offers a profoundly different picture of contemporary American youth. Young men and women are tapping into the potential of new forms of communication such as social media platforms and spreadable videos and memes, seeking to bring about political change by any media necessary. In a series of case studies covering a diverse range of organizations, networks and movements, from the Harry Potter Alliance which fights for human rights in the name of the popular fantasy franchise to immigration rights advocates using superheroes to dramatize their struggles, By Any Media Necessary examines the civic imagination at work. Exploring new forms of political activities and identities emerging from the practice of participatory culture, By Any Media Necessary reveals how these shifts in communication have unleashed a new political dynamism in American youth.

Salaam, Love Ayesha Mattu, Nura Maznavi, 2014-02-04. From the editors of the groundbreaking anthology Love InshaAllah comes a provocative new exploration of the most intimate parts of Muslim men's lives. Muslim men are stereotyped as either oversexed Casanovas willing to die for seventy-two virgins in heaven or controlling big-bearded husbands ready to rampage at the hint of dishonor. The truth is there are millions of Muslim men trying to figure out the complicated terrain of love, sex and relationships, just like any other American man. In Salaam, Love, Ayesha Mattu and Nura Maznavi provide a space for American Muslim men to speak openly about their romantic lives, offering frank, funny and insightful glimpses into their hearts and bedrooms. The twenty-two writers come from a broad spectrum of ethnic, racial and religious perspectives, including orthodox cultural and secular Muslims, reflecting the strength and diversity of their faith community and of America. By raising their voices to share stories of love and heartbreak, loyalty and betrayal, intimacy and insecurity, these Muslim men are leading the way for all men to recognize that being open and honest about their feelings is not only okay it's intimately connected to their lives and critical to their happiness and well being

The Oxford Handbook of American Islam Yvonne Yazbeck Haddad, Jane I. Smith, 2014 In this volume 30 of the field's top scholars examine historical and contemporary aspects of American Islam and explore the meaning of religious identity in the context of race ethnicity gender and politics

The Cambridge Companion to American Islam offers a scholarly overview of the state of research on American Muslims and American Islam. The book presents the reader with a comprehensive discussion of the debates, challenges, and opportunities that American Muslims have faced through centuries of American history. This volume also covers the creative ways in which American Muslims have responded to the myriad serious challenges that they have faced and continue to face in constructing a religious praxis and complex identities that are grounded in both a universal tradition and the particularities of their local contexts. The book introduces the reader to some of the many facets of the lives of American Muslims that can only be understood in their interactions with Islam's entanglement in the American experiment.

The Practice of Islam in America Edward E. Curtis IV, 2019-09-10

An introduction to the ways in which ordinary Muslim Americans practice their faith. Muslims have always been part of the United States, but very little is known about how Muslim Americans practice their religion. How do they pray? What's it like to go on pilgrimage to Mecca? What rituals accompany the birth of a child, a wedding, or the death of a loved one? What holidays do Muslims celebrate, and what charities do they support? How do they learn about the Qur'an? The Practice of Islam in America introduces readers to the way Islam is lived in the United States, offering vivid portraits of Muslim American life: passages, ethical actions, religious holidays, prayer, pilgrimage, and other religious activities. It takes readers into homes, religious congregations, schools, workplaces, cemeteries, restaurants, and all the way to Mecca to understand the diverse religious practices of Muslim Americans. Going beyond a theoretical discussion of what Muslims are supposed to do, this volume focuses on what they actually do. As the volume reveals, their religious practices are shaped by their racial and ethnic identity, their gender, and sexual orientation, and their sectarian identity among other social factors. Readers gain practical information about Islamic religion while also coming to understand how the day-to-day realities of American life shape Muslim American practice.

Teaching Islamic Studies in the Age of ISIS, Islamophobia, and the Internet Courtney M. Dorroll, 2019-01-24

How can teachers introduce Islam to students when daily media headlines can prejudice students' perception of the subject? Should Islam be taught differently in secular universities than in colleges with a clear faith-based mission? What are strategies for discussing Islam and violence without perpetuating stereotypes? The contributors of Teaching Islamic Studies in the Age of ISIS, Islamophobia, and the Internet address these challenges head-on and consider approaches to Islamic studies pedagogy, Islamophobia, and violence, and suggestions for how to structure courses. These approaches acknowledge the particular challenges faced when teaching a topic that students might initially fear or distrust Speaking from their own experience they include examples of collaborative teaching models reading and media suggestions and ideas for group assignments that encourage deeper engagement and broader thinking The contributors also share personal struggles when confronted with students including Muslim students and parents who suspected the courses might have ulterior motives In an age of stereotypes and misrepresentations of Islam this book offers a range of means by which teachers can encourage students to thoughtfully engage with the topic of Islam Yours, Eventually Nura Maznavi, 2025-02-18 A mesmerizing debut novel set in a tightly knit Pakistani American community where a young doctor gets an unexpected second chance with the first love she never got over when he becomes one of the most eligible bachelors in town The Ibrahim family is facing a crucial moment Their patriarch just lost his fortune as the result of a Ponzi scheme and the family is picking up the pieces At the family's core is Asma successful doctor and the long suffering middle daughter who stepped into the family center after the death of her beloved mother years ago Despite what the prying aunties think Asma is living the life she has always wanted fulfilling her childhood dream of becoming a doctor or so she thinks In walks Farooq Waheed Asma's college sweetheart whose proposal was cruelly rejected by Asma's aunt and father Now eight years later Farooq has made his fortune by selling his Silicon Valley startup and is widely considered one of the most eligible bachelors in California As he enters Asma's social orbit she finds herself navigating a tricky landscape her pushy sisters gossiping aunties and her father's expectations on her path to reconciling the past and winning Farooq back in the present If there is still time Yours Eventually is a story about a young woman finding the courage to follow her heart and coming to the realization that living your life according to what other people think is no life at all Struggling in Good Faith Mychal Copeland, MTS, D'vorah Rose, BCC, 2015-11-20 A comprehensive sourcebook telling the story of the religious struggles and celebrations for LGBTQI inclusion across the American religious landscape What Is Veiling? Sahar Amer, 2014-09-02 Ranging from simple head scarf to full body burqa the veil is worn by vast numbers of Muslim women around the world What Is Veiling explains one of the most visible controversial and least understood emblems of Islam Sahar Amer's evenhanded approach is anchored in sharp cultural insight and rich historical context Addressing the significance of veiling in the religious cultural political and social lives of Muslims past and present she examines the complex roles the practice has played in history religion conservative and progressive perspectives politics and regionalism society and economics feminism fashion and art By highlighting the multiple meanings of veiling the book decisively shows that the realities of the practice cannot be homogenized or oversimplified and extend well beyond the religious and political accounts that are overwhelmingly proclaimed both inside and outside Muslim majority societies Neither defending nor criticizing the practice What Is Veiling clarifies the voices of Muslim women who struggle to be heard and who veiled or not demand the right to live spiritual personal and public lives in dignity The Essential Guide to Getting Your Book Published Arielle Eckstut, David Henry Sterry, 2010-11-04 Now updated for 2015 The best most comprehensive guide for writers is now revised
