Motivation is a temporal and dynamic state that should not be confused with personality or emotion. Motivation is having the desire and willingness to do something. A motivated person can be reaching for a long term goal such as becoming a professional writer or a more short term goal like learning how to spell a particular word. Personality invariably refers to more or less permanent characteristics of an individual's state of being e.g. shy extrovert conscientious. As opposed to motivation, emotion refers to temporal states that do not immediately link to behaviour e.g. anger grief happiness. This important book is dedicated to motivation of health behaviours.

The Psychology of Prejudice Todd D. Nelson, Michael A. Olson, 2024-01-03. In this book we examine the past and present research and theory on the motivations, the why, the situations and contexts, the when, the individual difference variables and traits, the who, and the affective and cognitive processes, the how, that lead to stereotyping and prejudice. The intent is to provide an in depth and broad ranging analysis of stereotyping and prejudice. The text focuses on understanding the issues, theories, and important empirical experiments that bear upon each problem in stereotyping and prejudice and to understand the most up to date research theories and conclusions of the leading researchers in the field. Stereotyping and prejudice are indeed complex in their origin and one of the main goals of this book is to provide a coherent picture of the conditions under which stereotyping and prejudice are more or less likely to occur. Another primary focus is to examine whether and how stereotyping and prejudice can be reduced or eliminated.
