

A sepia-toned photograph of a dining hall, likely from the mid-20th century. In the foreground, a woman in a dark uniform with a white apron and a white collar is standing and serving a customer. She is holding a small object, possibly a napkin or a small plate. Behind her, another woman in a similar uniform is also serving. In the background, several other women in uniforms are seated at a long wooden counter, working. The counter is cluttered with various items, including plates, glasses, and a large metal tray. The overall atmosphere is busy and professional.

Atomic Women Roseanne Montillo, 2020-05-19 Meet the female scientists who served as both developers of the atomic bomb and the first line of criticism against it in this nonfiction narrative in the tradition of Bomb and Code Girls They were leaning over the edge of the unknown and afraid of what they would discover there Recruited from labs and universities from across the United States and even from countries abroad a little known group of female scientists were invited into the secret sites of the Manhattan Project During World War II these women worked on and in some cases initiated the development of the atomic bomb taking starring roles in one of history's most infamous scientific feats But despite their involvement critical to the project's success many of them weren't made fully aware of the consequences This book explores not just the steps toward the creation of a successful nuclear bomb but also the moral implications of such an invention and how female scientists of the time grappled with the fallout In an eye opening revisionist history this book celebrates the diversity and complexity of a watershed moment in history The atomic women you'll learn about include Lise Meitner and Irène Joliot Curie daughter of Marie Curie who laid the groundwork for the Manhattan Project from Europe Elizabeth Rona the foremost expert in plutonium who gave rise to Fat Man and Little Boy the bombs dropped over Japan Leona Woods Elizabeth Graves and Joan Hinton who were inspired by European scientific ideals but carved their own paths Perfect for Fans of Oppenheimer and Hidden Figures Women in STEM Readers of Elizabeth Wein Steve Sheinkin and Kate Quinn History lovers Los Alamos Toni Michnovicz Gibson, Jon Michnovicz, 2005 A comprehensive view of the social and professional world of Los Alamos is the photographic journal of a singular period as seen through the eyes of one soldier Pvt J J Michnovicz first assigned to Los Alamos as a photographer by the military but later working as a civilian who recorded the everyday spirit of the people and the events that shaped this mountain town into a home Original The First Atomic Bomb Janet Farrell Brodie, 2023-06 2024 Southwest Book of the Year On July 16 1945 just weeks before the atomic bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki that brought about the surrender of Japan and the end of World War II the United States unleashed the world's first atomic bomb at the Trinity testing site located in the remote Tularosa Valley in south central New Mexico Immensely more powerful than any weapon the world had seen the bomb's effects on the surrounding and downwind communities of plants animals birds and humans have lasted decades In The First Atomic Bomb Janet Farrell Brodie explores the history of the Trinity test and those whose contributions have rarely if ever been discussed the men and women who constructed served and witnessed the first test as well as the downwinders who suffered the consequences of the radiation Concentrating on these ordinary people laborers ranchers and Indigenous peoples who lived in the region and participated in the testing Brodie corrects the lack of coverage in existing scholarship on the essential details and everyday experiences of this globally significant event The First Atomic Bomb also covers the environmental preservation of the Trinity test site and compares it with the wide range of atomic sites now preserved independently or as part of the new Manhattan Project National Historical Park Although the

The Last Pictures Trevor Paglen, 2012-09-19 Human civilizations longest lasting artifacts are not the great Pyramids of Giza nor the cave paintings at Lascaux but the communications satellites that circle our planet In a stationary orbit above the equator the satellites that broadcast our TV signals route our phone calls and process our credit card transactions experience no atmospheric drag Their inert hulls will continue to drift around Earth until the Sun expands into a red giant and engulfs them about 4 5 billion years from now The Last Pictures co published by Creative Time Books is rooted in the premise that these communications satellites will ultimately become the cultural and material ruins of the late 20th and early 21st centuries far outlasting anything else humans have created Inspired in part by ancient cave paintings nuclear waste warning signs and Carl Sagan s Golden Records of the 1970s artist geographer and MacArthur Genius Fellow Trevor Paglen has developed a collection of one hundred images that will be etched onto an ultra archival golden silicon disc The disc commissioned by Creative Time will then be sent into orbit onboard the Echostar XVI satellite in September 2012 as both a time capsule and a message to the future The selection of 100 images which are the centerpiece of the book was influenced by four years of interviews with leading scientists philosophers anthropologists and artists about the contradictions that characterize contemporary civilizations Consequently The Last Pictures engages some of the most profound questions of the human experience provoking discourse about communication deep time and the economic environmental and social uncertainties that define our historical moment Copub Creative Time Books     Oppenheimer and the Manhattan Project Cynthia C.
