Breaking the Frames Marc Singer, 2019-01-09 Comics studies has reached a crossroads Graphic novels have never received more attention and legitimation from scholars but new canons and new critical discourses have created tensions within a field built on the populist rhetoric of cultural studies As a result comics studies has begun to cleave into distinct camps based primarily in cultural or literary studies that attempt to dictate the boundaries of the discipline or else resist disciplinarity itself The consequence is a growing disconnect in the ways that comics scholars talk to each other or more frequently do not talk to each other or even acknowledge each other's work Breaking the Frames Populism and Prestige in Comics Studies surveys the current state of comics scholarship interrogating its dominant schools questioning their mutual estrangement and challenging their propensity to champion the comics they study Marc Singer advocates for greater disciplinary diversity and methodological rigor in comics studies making the case for a field that can embrace more critical and oppositional perspectives Working through extended readings of some of the most acclaimed comics creators including Marjane Satrapi Alan Moore Kyle Baker and Chris Ware Singer demonstrates how comics studies can break out of the celebratory frameworks and restrictive canons that currently define the field to produce new scholarship that expands our understanding of comics and their critics

Comics and the Senses Ian Hague, 2014-01-10 Attempts to define what comics are and explain how they work have not always been successful because they are premised upon the idea that comic strips comic books and graphic novels are inherently and almost exclusively visual This book challenges that premise and asserts that comics is not just a visual medium The book outlines the multisensory aspects of comics the visual audible tactile olfactory and gustatory elements of the medium It rejects a synaesthetic approach by which all the senses are engaged through visual stimuli and instead argues for a truly multisensory model by which the direct stimulation of the reader's physical senses can be understood A wide range of examples demonstrates how multisensory communication systems work in both commercial and more experimental contexts The book concludes with a case study that looks at the works of Alan Moore and indicates areas of interest that multisensory analysis can draw out but which are overlooked by more conventional approaches
