In Conversation with Bessie Head Mary S. Lederer, 2019-06-27 In Conversation with Bessie Head shows how reading the novels and letters of Botswana s most influential writer Bessie Head fosters an ongoing conversation between reader and writer and is in fact a very personal undertaking Each chapter tackles two parallel threads the first regarding Mary S Lederer s own history of reading Head from her first purchase of Maru through completing a Ph D on Head s trilogy through living in Botswana and connecting with various aspects of Head s life to examining how reading Head has affected her own development as a human being This history then ties each chapter into discussion of how Head develops her own vision of the brotherhood of man Alongside critically informed discussion Head s vision is examined through the prism of specific questions Why is madness not a useful concept for understanding Head s ideas Why did Head say she was not a feminist and what is the significance of male and female in her novels What is the relationship between individual race and community How can the nature of God be a clear expression of love but also an indistinct force for both good and evil Head s novels present opportunities for personal growth and through these conversations with her we become different readers Short Story Criticism Thomas Votteler, 1989-12 Presents literary criticism on the works of short story writers of all nations cultures and time periods Critical essays are selected from leading sources including published journals magazines books reviews diaries newspapers pamphlets and scholarly papers Rescuing God from Christianity Sven E. Erlandson, 2004-09 Erlandson articulates the growing frustration that many people have with Christianity and shows how a church is not needed to create a challenging and life changing new path based on the simple call to love God and love one s neighbor
