experience and the way in which it relates to our reading of texts of all kinds The concept of the well read game exists at the convergence of literary media and play theories specifically the works of Louise Rosenblatt s reader response theory Brian Upton s situational game theory Tracy Fullerton s playcentric design theory and Bernie DeKoven s well played game philosophy Each of these theories from their own perspective challenges notions of a separate objective or authorial meaning in a text and underscores the richness that arises from the varied responses of readers who coauthor the meaning of each text through their active engagement with it When taken together these theories point to a richer understanding of what a game is and how we might better value our experiences with games to become more thoughtful readers of their essential meanings

but the dynamic hasn't. Considering humanity a failure, the human race adapts the term Terran and splits the organization of the species into three separate segments. An Alliance of science, faith, and military might, each pushing for the stars in their own way. The more things change, the more they stay the same, though. Is there any room for happiness in the war-driven psyche of the Terran navy? Is there any room for faith in the progress-driven minds of Terran scientists? As the sands in the hourglass fade far faster than anticipated, do any of us know what could be out there? Would any of us accept it were we to see it?
