For more information about creating views, click on this link: <http://support.glue.com/manuals/ibm2021/ibm2021manual1.2.1.html>.

For reporting purposes, there are two important features available in EventsManager:

- From the Syslog Browser you can generate HTML reports based on the events shown in the current view (just click on the "Export view to HTML" button). You can also customize the layout of the HTML reports by selecting the columns of the report or the css function that corresponds to the template (for more information about HTML reports, click on the following link: <http://support.glue.com/manuals/ibm2021/ibm2021manual1.2.1.html#9000750>).
- From the GFI ReportPack, users can select the generic Syslog report (Miscellaneous, Customizable Reports->Generic Syslog) to generate on-schedule reports in PDF format using a predefined layout.

Technical difficulties and support

In case of technical difficulties with any of the components involved in the process described in this document, it is important to first evaluate which part of the process is failing in order to contact the appropriate support personnel.

- GFI EventsManager is not receiving any events coming from the IBM iSeries machine:
  - To see which part of the solution is failing, you need to check the following items:
    - Check if the IP of the IBM iSeries system is correctly configured in GFI EventsManager; check the properties of the event group and the rule hint to make sure Syslog scanning is enabled on the desired protocol and port.
    - Check your firewall settings and make sure they allow incoming Syslog traffic from the IBM machine.
