Celebrity Mad Brett Kahr, 2019-08-28 This short book by Professor Brett Kahr provides a psychoanalytic understanding of fame and celebrity in the early twenty first century building upon the bedrock foundations of the Freudian corpus The book is divided into six chapters Chapter One explores the psychology of the celebrity questioning narcissistic and exhibitionist psychopathology while Chapter Two examines the psychological state of those of who revel in the fame of others and in celebrity culture more broadly and offers a discussion of the Celebrity Worship Syndrome Chapter Three provides a very brief history of the concept of celebrity itself arguing that contrary to popular opinion the culture of celebrification cannot be blamed on twenty first century media moguls but rather that such a preoccupation with famous personalities can be traced back to ancient times and demonstrates the need to broaden our analysis to include the role of deep unconscious psychological forces In Chapter Four Kahr reviews some important theoretical concepts advanced by Freud and Winnicott which provide an important foundation for the psychoanalytic study of fame while Chapter Five provides a more comprehensive theory of the unconscious psychological roots of the need to worship fame and to seek it drawing upon a multitude of sources ranging from psychoanalytic theory and developmental psychological research to film archaeology and perhaps surprisingly the history of infanticide The book concludes in Chapter Six by studying the psychodynamics of celebrity and fame arguing that being recognised by one's family and friends in the intimate context of home life may well be the very best way to become a celebrity Celebrity Mad outlines a psychoanalytic theory of the roots of our obsession with fame It will be of great interest to psychoanalytic practitioners and researchers as well as to readers interested in the psychology of fame

Memory and the Wars on Terror Jessica Gildersleeve, Richard Gehrmann, 2017-10-24 This edited collection aims to respond to dominant perspectives on twenty first century war by exploring how the events of 9 11 and the subsequent Wars on Terror are represented and remembered outside of the US framework. Existing critical coverage ignores the meaning of these events for people nations and cultures apparently peripheral to them but which have as shown in this collection been extraordinarily affected by the social political and cultural changes these wars have wrought. Adopting a literary and cultural history approach the book asks how these events resonate and continue to show effects in the rest of the world with a particular focus on Australia and Britain. It argues that such reflections on the impact of the Wars on Terror help us to understand what global conflict means in a contemporary context as well as what its representative motifs might tell us about how nations like Australia and Britain perceive and construct their remembered identities on the world stage in the twenty first century. In its close examination of films novels memoir visual artworks media and minority communities in the years since 2001 this collection looks at the global impacts of these events and the ways they have shaped and continue to shape Britain and Australia's relation to the rest of the world. Luka and the Fire of Life Salman Rushdie, 2010-11-16 You've reached the age at which people in this family cross the border into the magical world.
