

Health and Safety Law

What you need to know

All workers have a right to work in places where risks to their health and safety are properly controlled. Health and safety is about stopping you getting hurt at work or ill through work. Your employer is responsible for health and safety, but you must help.

What employers must do for you

1. Decide what could harm you in your job and the precautions to take to avoid it. Then do risk assessment.
2. In a way you can understand, explain how risks will be controlled and tell you who is responsible for this.
3. Closely and work with you and your health and safety representatives in assessing any new risks that may arise in the workplace.
4. Free of charge, give you the health and safety training you need to do your job.
5. Free of charge, provide you with any equipment and protective clothing you need, and ensure it is properly looked after.
6. Provide toilets, washing facilities and drinking water.
7. Provide adequate first-aid facilities.
8. Report major injuries and fatalities on work to your Incident Contact Centre on 03440 3009 99900. Report other injuries, diseases and dangerous incidents online at www.health.gov.uk.
9. Where more than one person is on your job, get lost or work on all through work. Display a hard-copy or electronic copy of the current construction certificate where you can easily read it.
10. Work with any other employers or contractors sharing the workplace or providing employees (such as agency workers) or other staff you employ, or online, in written form.

What you must do

- 1 Follow the training you have received without using any work stress your employer has given you.
- 2 Take reasonable care of your own and other people's health and safety.
- 3 Co-operate with your employer on health and safety.
- 4 Tell managers (such as company, supervisor, or health and safety representatives) of you think the work or workplace practices are putting anyone's health and safety at serious risk.

If there's a problem

- 1 If you are worried about health and safety at your workplace, talk to your employer, supervisor, or health and safety representative.
- 2 You can also look at our website for general information about health and safety at work.
- 3 If, after talking with your employer, you are still worried, contact the Health and Safety Commission for help and advice on how health and safety and the Employment Medical Advisory Service via a 24-hour helpline: www.healthand-safety.co.uk
