Digital Narrative Spaces Daniel Punday, 2021-12-30 There is a broad consensus that digital narrative is spatial but what this critical term means and how it is used varies greatly depending on the discipline from which it is approached Digital Narrative Spaces brings together essays by prominent scholars in electronic literature and other forms of digital authorship to explore the relationship between story and space across these disciplines This volume includes an introduction with Marie Laure Ryan's typology of space followed by thought provoking individual chapters which explore innovative explorations of electronic literature locative media literary tourism and the mapping of real world literary spaces The collection closes with an essay analyzing continuities and discontinuities in theory of space across the chapters This volume will provide an important framework for establishing a dialogue across disciplines and future scholarship in these fields

Public Spheres of Resonance Anne Fleig, Christian von Scheve, 2019-10-08 To understand the profound changes in the modes of public political debate over the past decade this volume develops a new conception of public spheres as spaces of resonance emerging from the power of language to affect and to ascribe and instill collective emotion Political discourse is no longer confined to traditional media but increasingly takes place in fragmented and digital public spheres At the same time the modes of political engagement have changed discourse is said to increasingly rely on strategies of emotionalization and to be deeply affective at its core This book meticulously shows how public spheres are rooted in the emotional bodily and affective dimensions of language and how language in its capacity to affect and to be affected produces those dynamics of affective resonance that characterize contemporary forms of political debate It brings together scholars from the humanities and social sciences and focuses on two fields of inquiry publics politics and media in Part I and language and artistic inquiry in Part II The thirteen chapters provide a balanced composition of theoretical and methodological considerations focusing on highly illustrative case studies and on different artistic practices The volume is an indispensable source for researchers and postgraduate students in cultural studies literary studies sociology and political science It likewise appeals to practitioners seeking to develop an in depth understanding of affect in contemporary political debate
