Multivariate and Probabilistic Analyses of Sensory Science Problems Jean-François Meullenet, Rui Xiong, Christopher J. Findlay, 2008-02-28 Sensory scientists are often faced with making business decisions based on the results of complex sensory tests involving a multitude of variables Multivariate and Probabilistic Analyses of Sensory Science Problems explains the multivariate and probabilistic methods available to sensory scientists involved in product development or maintenance The techniques discussed address sensory problems such as panel performance product profiling and exploration of consumer data including segmentation and identifying drivers of liking Applied in approach and written for non statisticians the text is aimed at sensory scientists who deal mostly with descriptive analysis and consumer studies Multivariate and Probabilistic Analyses of Sensory Science Problems offers simple easy to understand explanations of difficult statistical concepts and provides an extensive list of case studies with step by step instructions for performing analyses and interpreting the results Coverage includes a refresher on basic multivariate statistical concepts use of common data sets throughout the text summary tables presenting the pros and cons of specific methods and the conclusions that may be drawn from using various methods and sample program codes to perform the analyses and sample outputs As the latest member of the IFT Press series Multivariate and Probabilistic Analyses of Sensory Science Problems will be welcomed by sensory scientists in the food industry and other industries using similar testing methodologies as well as by faculty teaching advanced sensory courses and professionals conducting and participating in workshops addressing multivariate analysis of sensory and consumer data Produced Water James P. Ray, F. Rainier Engelhardt, 2012-12-06 This book represents the proceedings of the first major international meeting dedicated to discuss environmental aspects of produced water The 1992 International Produced Water Symposium was held at the Catamaran Hotel San Diego California USA on February 4 7 1992 The objectives of the conference were to provide a forum where scientists regulators industry academia and the environmental community could gather to hear and discuss the latest information related to the environmental considerations of produced water discharges It was also an objective to provide a forum for the peer review and international publication of the symposium papers so that they would have wide availability to all parties interested in produced water environmental issues Produced water is the largest volume waste stream from oil and gas production activities Onshore well over 90% is reinjected to subsurface formations Offshore and in the coastal zone most produced water is discharged to the ocean Over the past several years there has been increasing concern from regulators and the environmental community. There has been a quest for more information on the composition, treatment systems and chemicals discharge characteristics, disposal options and fate and effects of the produced water. As so often happens, much of this information exists in the forms of reports and internal research papers. This symposium and publication was intended to make this information available both for open discussion at the conference and for peer review before publication.
