Altsheler, 2014-03-13 John turned a little to the left going nearer to the window where he could gain a better view of the Madonna which he had heard so often was the most famous picture in the world He was no technical judge of painting he was far too young for such knowledge but he always considered the effect of the whole upon himself and he was satisfied with that method feeling perhaps that he gained more from it than if he had been able to tear the master work to pieces merely in order to see how Raphael had made it Note well John that this is the Sistine Madonna began William Anson in his didactic tutorial tone Observe the wonderful expression upon the face of the Holy Mother Look now at the cherubs gazing up into the blue vault in which the Madonna like an angel is poised Behold the sublime artist s mastery of every detail There are those who hold that the Madonna della Sedia at Florence is its equal in beauty and greatness but I do not agree with them To me the Sistine Madonna is always first Centuries ago even its full worth was appreciated It brought a great price at The rest of his speech trailed off into nothingness John had impatiently moved further away and had deliberately closed his ear also to any dying sounds of oratory that might reach him He had his own method of seeing the wonders of the Old World He was interested or he was not It was to him a state of mind atmospheric in a way He liked to breathe it in and the rattle of a guide or tutor s lecture nearly always broke the spell JOSEPH A. The Forest of Swords: A Story of Paris and the Marne Joseph Alexander Altsheler, 2010-01-01 John Scott and Philip Lannes walked together down a great boulevard of Paris The young American s heart was filled with grief and anger The Frenchman felt the same grief but mingled with it was a fierce burning passion so deep and bitter that it took a much stronger word than anger to describe it Both had heard that morning the mutter of cannon on the horizon and they knew the German conquerors were advancing They were always advancing Nothing had stopped them The metal and masonry of the defenses at Li ge had crumbled before their huge guns like china breaking under stone The giant shells had scooped out the forts at Maubeuge Maubeuge the untakable as if they had been mere eggshells and the mighty Teutonic host came on almost without a check John had read of the German march on Paris nearly a half century before how everything had been made complete by the genius of Bismarck and von Moltke how the ready had sprung upon and crushed the unready but the present swoop of the imperial eagle seemed far more vast and terrible than the earlier rush could have been A month and the legions were already before the City of Light Men with glasses could see from the top of the Eiffel Tower the gray ranks that were to hem in devoted Paris once more and the government had fled already to Bordeaux It seemed that everything was lost before the war was fairly begun The coming of the English army far too small in numbers had availed nothing It had been swept up with the others escaping from capture or destruction only by a hair and was now driven back with the French on the capital John had witnessed two battles and in neither had the Germans stopped long Disregarding their own losses they drove forward immense overwhelming triumphant He felt yet their very physical weight pressing upon him crushing him giving him no time to breathe The German war machine was magnificent invincible and for the fourth time in a century the Germans the exulting Kaiser at their head might enter Paris The Emperor himself might be nothing mere sound and glitter but back of him was the greatest army that ever trod the planet taught for half a century to believe in the divine right of kings and assured now that might and right were the same Every instinct in him revolted at the thought that Paris should be trodden under foot once more by the conqueror The great capital had truly deserved its claim to be the city of light and leading and if Paris and France were lost the whole world would lose He could never forget the unpaid debt that his own America owed to France and he felt how closely interwoven the two republics were in their beliefs and aspirations

The Publishers' Trade List Annual ,1917 The Greatest Works of Joseph Alexander Altsheler Joseph Alexander Altsheler,2023-11-09 In The Greatest Works of Joseph Alexander Altsheler readers are invited to delve into a rich tapestry of early 20th century American literature that captures the spirit of adventure and exploration Altsheler's narratives often set against the backdrop of historical events are characterized by their vivid prose and dynamic characterizations culminating in the riveting portrayal of young protagonists facing moral dilemmas and the harsh realities of their environments This collection showcases his mastery of historical fiction particularly in works like The Young Trailers which not only entertain but also educate readers about American history ideals and the complexities of frontier life Joseph Alexander Altsheler 1862-1919 was an influential writer whose works resonate with themes of courage nationalism and the American spirit His upbringing in a period marked by rapid industrialization and the evolution of personal identity inspired him to explore the notion of heroism in an ever changing world Having honed his skills as a journalist Altsheler's storytelling reflects both a deep understanding of human nature and an appreciation for the historical narratives that shape our identity This collection is highly recommended for both young readers and history enthusiasts who wish to engage with the thrilling and formative eras of America's past Altsheler's relatable characters and imaginative settings not only stimulate the imagination but also serve as a window into the values of courage and integrity that transcend time making it an essential addition to any literary canon

The Complete 'Great War' Series Joseph A. Altsheler,2010-10 Three novels of the Great War in one special Leonaur edition Joseph Altsheler was well known as an author of adventures set within momentous historical periods and was highly regarded for the attention to factual detail and the accuracy with which he was able to evoke the authenticity of time place and personalities who occupied the worlds of his novels Leonaur at the time of the publication of this new volume already publish his noted American Civil War series the French and Indian War series and Colonial Frontier series all of which have their own aficionados This book another thrilling adventure series linked by characters who feature in each novel is set during the cataclysmic time of conflict that was the Great War of 1914-18 and so from Altsheler's perspective was fiction of his own times Because this saga is recounted within fewer novels than Altsheler usually wrote on a single theme Leonaux is pleased to present the complete Great War trilogy The Guns of Europe The Forest of Swords and The Hosts of the Air in a single substantial volume In typical Altsheler manner these novels introduce us to the principal character the young American John Scott his comrades in arms of the French army and air force together with the Strangers foreigners who fight for the cause of La Belle France as we join them in many engaging adventures as they battle the Boche This delightful collectors edition is available in softcover and hardcover for collectors Leonaux hardcovers are a credit to any library they feature full colour dust jackets real cloth covers gold foil embossed spines and taped head and tail bands the ideal way to read and own that special book Bulletin Canton Public Library (Canton, Mass.),1913
