feeling shedding its personal and subjective character The exercise sequences presented here call for two fundamental gestures Firstly renunciation which extends from an extinguishing of images engendered in meditation through inner silence to a conscious suppression of sense perception The second gesture involves the development of new feelings towards natural phenomena as well as to the reports of spiritual scientific research By practising these methods we can attain a kind of thinking that is in harmony with the true nature and reality of what we seek to know Rudolf Steiner's texts are collected together by Martina Maria Sam who contributes a lucid introduction and notes Healing Heart and Soul Roger Cole, 2013-01-01 Can you mend a broken heart and begin to love again Can you remain calm in an ever changing world Discover who you really are a peaceful soul and what your true purpose in life is We all experience grief loss or sadness at some time in our lives Through spiritual lessons meditations and affirmations Healing Heart and Soul teaches us how to mend a broken heart overcome our vulnerability to loss and experience deep and lasting love When we understand that the soul mind heart and intellect are intimately entwined we begin to heal ourselves and others Through divine love we develop our healing power and become living angels who extend this healing to the world DR ROGER COLE is an oncologist and palliative care physician and has been caring for the terminally ill for many years He has published articles on palliative care meditation for health professionals and the spiritual care of the dying He is also the author of the bestselling book MISSION OF LOVE biography of renowned existentialist Søren Kierkegaard's life and creativity and a searching exploration of how to be a human being in the world Søren Kierkegaard is one of the most passionate and challenging of all modern philosophers and is often regarded as the founder of existentialism Over about a decade in the 1840s and 1850s writings poured from his pen pursuing the question of existence how to be a human being in the world while exploring the possibilities of Christianity and confronting the failures of its institutional manifestation around him Much of his creativity sprang from his relationship with the young woman whom he promised to marry then left to devote himself to writing a relationship which remained decisive for the rest of his life He deliberately lived in the swim of human life in Copenhagen but alone and died exhausted in 1855 at the age of 42 bequeathing his remarkable writings to his erstwhile fiancée Clare Carlisle's innovative and moving biography writes Kierkegaard's life as far as possible from his own perspective to convey what it was like actually being this Socrates of Christendom as he put it living life forwards yet only understanding it backwards

Polysemy, Diachrony, and the Circle of Cognition Michael Fortescue, 2021-01-25 Verbs of mental states or activity constitute a subject of considerable interest to both Cognitive Linguistics and Linguistic Typology They promise to open a window on the invisible workings of the mind while at the same time displaying a wide variety of historical sources across languages In this book Michael Fortescue presents an innovative approach to the semantics and diachronic source of cognitive verbs across a representative array of the world's languages The relationship among the cognitive verbs of individual languages is essentially one of metonymy and the book investigates in detail the specific metonymic relationships involved as revealed largely by the polysemous spread of word meanings The data is projected against a circular map of interrelated cognitive categories

The Chinese HEART in a Cognitive Perspective Ning Yu, 2009-02-26 This book is a cognitive semantic study of the Chinese conceptualization of the heart traditionally seen as the central faculty of cognition The Chinese word xin which primarily denotes the heart organ covers the meanings of both heart and mind as understood in English which upholds a heart head dichotomy In contrast to the Western dualist view Chinese takes on a more holistic view that sees the heart as the center of both emotions and thought The contrast characterizes two cultural traditions that have developed different conceptualizations of person self and agent of cognition The concept of heart lies at the core of Chinese thought and medicine and its importance to Chinese culture is extensively manifested in the Chinese language Diachronically this book traces the roots of its conception in ancient Chinese philosophy and traditional Chinese medicine Along the synchronic dimension it not only makes a systematic analysis of conventionalized expressions that reflect the underlying cultural models and conceptualizations as well as underlying conceptual metaphors and metonymies but also attempts a textual analysis of an essay and a number of poems for their metaphoric and metonymic images and imports contributing to the cultural models and conceptualizations It also takes up a comparative perspective that sheds light on similarities and differences between Western and Chinese cultures in the understanding of the heart brain body mind self and person The book contributes to the understanding of the embodied nature of human cognition situated in its cultural context and the relationship between language culture and cognition
