Habits Of Resilience Learning To Live Fully In The Midst Of Loss:

Habits of Resilience Beryl Schewe,2015-07-01

Threshold Dwellers in the Age of Global Pandemic Eleazar S.

Fernandez,2022-05-19 So many lives have been lost now and the death toll still continues to rise because of the COVID 19 pandemic The poor and the marginalized not surprisingly have been disproportionately affected The pandemic has exposed the fault lines not only in our healthcare but also in our political and economic system a system driven by the pursuit of the bottom line profits If we are not only to survive but also thrive as a global society the challenge of the coronavirus pandemic must lead us to explore ways of thinking being and dwelling that promote our shared flourishing It is time to take personal stock about ourselves who we are where we have been and where we are heading What can the pandemic teach us about ourselves What is it revealing about us and our situation How shall we dwell together Do we want to wake up to a new and better tomorrow after this nighttime of pandemic That will largely depend on the way we respond now Who are we becoming in this time of pandemic What daily practices are we doing as embodiments of the new world we are anticipating Living

10 Habits For Grief and Loss Cortez Ranieri,2020-09-21 No one can take away your pain but there is something you can do to grow from it Each time someone passes away they leave behind an average of five grieving people Grief will affect every single one of us at some point in our lives It s an inevitable and natural fact of life yet it is one of the hardest things we will ever go through Grief can be debilitating It takes us unawares and it can be so raw and painful that we become unable to function much less move forward and process our feelings If you've lost a loved one you might be struggling with a lack of energy and feelings of guilt powerlessness and loneliness You're not alone but you probably feel it Grief isn't something we can avoid or bargain our way out of It's something we have to go through and there's no denying that it hurts like hell But grief doesn't have to be our enemy When we allow ourselves space to process our pain we can grow kinder and wiser and we can use our experiences to help others We will never forget those we've lost and navigating our grief will be a long journey but life is not over In fact it's possible to emerge from grief a stronger better person It's possible to sidestep grief's distractions and complications the things that stop us from processing our pain Those feelings of lethargy and powerlessness are common but they're not inevitable you just need a roadmap to help you navigate them In 10 Habits for Grief and Loss you'll be supported through the grieving process as you come to terms with your loss You'll discover 10 habits and mindsets designed to help you not only cope with your loss but to also emerge stronger Psychological research to help you understand your reactions allowing you to see just how normal your current feelings are as you grieve The reason why 40% of first month griever's display symptoms of major depression and how you can avoid the same fate Careful guidance to help you redefine healthy patterns from someone who's been there themselves The reason Prince Harry only sought counseling 20 years after the very public death of his mother and how to address your grief much more quickly How 5 key people in your life can help you through your grief and how to figure out who they are Why the one thing you probably thought you knew about happiness is wrong How to avoid being a stranded island no matter how alone you feel Practical tips to help you navigate the physical symptoms of grief hint quality sleep is more than possible And much more If you've lost a loved one you may feel like you're never going to recover As someone who's lost several of the most important people in his life Cortez Ranieri knows that feeling and he has the experience that will help you grow from your pain No one can ever take away the love you feel for the person you've lost and your life will never be exactly the same But your life is not over and your grief is not in charge With a little guidance you can find the strength to honor what you've lost and come out stronger on the other side Discover how to process your grief and find your inner strength

scroll up and click Add to Cart right now Becoming Resilient Donna Gibbs, 2017-09-05 Everyone suffers disappointment rejection injustices and losses perhaps even traumatic ones The spiritual pain born of such suffering can paralyze us leaving us broken inside and barely getting by with the motions of life Whether we remain stuck or move forward is determined in large part by our resilience Concise and compassionate Becoming Resilient takes our most common question when tragedy strikes Why and replaces it with the healthier more productive question What next A professional Christian counselor for 20 years author Donna Gibbs draws on her experience helping clients get unstuck sharing secrets for building resilience that will change readers' experience of suffering She offers practical tools and effective coping strategies to deal with whatever life throws their way so they can move through suffering and come out stronger on the other side Resilience Lisa Lisson, 2020 Part memoir of loss and part personal empowerment primer Resilience will inspire you to find fulfillment with your career and at home achieve your goals no matter what life throws at you and live each day with purpose and gratitude

Second Firsts Christina Rasmussen, 2019-05-21 A widowed therapist explores grief loss and our innate resilience drawing on neuroscience and personal experience to lead the bereaved through the five stages of healing After studying to become a therapist and crisis intervention counselor even doing her master's thesis on the stages of bereavement Christina Rasmussen thought she understood grief But it wasn't until losing her husband to cancer in her early 30s that she truly grasped the depths of sorrow and pain that accompany loss Using the knowledge she gained while wading through her own grief and reading hundreds of neuroscience books Rasmussen began to look at experiences in a new way She realized that grief plunges you into a gap between worlds the world before loss and the world after loss She also realized how easy it is to become lost in this gap In Second Firsts Rasmussen walks you through her Life Reentry process to help you break grief's spiral of pain so you can stop simply surviving and begin to live again She shows you that loss can actually be a powerful catalyst to creating a life that is in alignment with your true passions and values The resilience strength and determination that have gotten you through this difficult time are the same characteristics that will help you craft your wonderful new life Her method which she has used successfully with thousands of clients is based on the science of neuroplasticity and focuses on consciously releasing pain in ways that both honor suffering and rewire the brain to change your perception of the world and yourself Using practical exercises and stories drawn from her own life and those of her clients Rasmussen guides you through five stages of healing that help you open up to new possibilities From acknowledging your fear to recognizing where you stand now to taking active steps toward a new life Rasmussen helps you move past the pain and shows that it's never too late to step out of the gap and experience life again as if for the first time
