

"The Alttestenrat and Its Offices," report, early 1942

In the first days of July 1941, . . . the Jews in Kovno already felt very insecure and were in a hurry to get out of the city. Thousands of Jews besieged the Housing Office every day to arrange for a living space in Siobodka. A flight of elemental force began from the city. . . . Many Jews had to settle temporarily in study houses, synagogues, and other buildings that had been transformed into asylums. Thousands of Jews were simply left with their things in the courtyards, gardens, and fields.

and not already living in Vilijampole had to vacate their houses and move all their possessions to the ghetto.
