Daily Fare Kathleen Aguero, 1993 Daily Fare presents seventeen artfully crafted essays in which writers representing a broad spectrum of the American experience ponder the meaning of living in a nation of diverse and competing cultures Consistently thought provoking and often intensely personal these pieces confront such themes as the question of identity the individual's relation to culture problems of communication and the need to strike a balance between preserving traditions and merging them Memories both tender and painful fill these pages Toi Derricotte recalling her experiences as the only black person at an artist colony often found her sense of isolation almost unbearable No one can help Only I myself But how can I let go My face is a mask like Uncle Tom's my heart twisted in rage and fear In The Death of Fred Astaire Leslie Lawrence reflects on the difficult decisions that led to her becoming a lesbian mother and the mix of emotions apprehension maternal longing and finally joyous fulfillment that accompanied her choices In Kubota Garrett Hongo describes how his grandfather enjoined him to learn and to give witness to the injustices committed against Japanese Americans by their own government during World War II Hongo accepts this responsibility as a ritual payment the young owe their elders who have survived Several bilingual essayists contemplate their relationship to the English language a language that can empower its users or deny them access to the dominant culture For Judith Ortiz Cofer reading books from the public library as a child gave her a sense of freedom as well as her first intimations of the writing career she would later pursue Alberto Alvaro Rios however reminds us that learning English in the first grade also meant being punished for using Spanish Spanish was bad Okay We then must be bad kids Still other essays explore what it means to confront the confusions of a plural family heritage or to be a black artist from a Catholic background when so much of black culture is tied to the Protestant tradition Despite the current interest in multiculturalism Kathleen Aguero observes the notion of culture in the United States today is too often synonymous with predominantly white male heterosexual upper class Eurocentric interests In bringing together writers from beyond this tradition Daily Fare provides a valuable perspective on our current moment in history As Jack Agueros summing up both the dilemma and the pleasure of our society's diversity writes It's hard and wasteful to be purely ethnic in America definitely wasteful to be totally assimilated

Secret Stories of Nature Saskia Gwinn, 2023-10-03 In every part of the globe in every pocket of the sea in ancient ground beneath your feet up tall mountains you can't see in stones in plants in birds and beasts lie nature's secret stories This beautiful field guide explores the histories and mysteries hidden in the wild just waiting to be shared Readers are invited on a journey around our wonderful world through wild forests over mountains high to the bottom of our oceans and the earth beneath us Each chapter investigates a different environment and within the pages tell the secret stories of the animals plants and natural phenomena of these habitats Some secrets tell us of links between species or unusual adaptations and features others tell us how nature has evolved and many hold the keys to understanding our planet's past. Readers will come away with a wealth of knowledge and discover how looking at nature today can help us understand and unlock mysteries from long ago from bygone weather to the dinosaurs. They'll learn how resin and rock can preserve long lost plants and creatures how the rings inside coral skeletons can reveal weather patterns from the distant past how layers of the seabed can indicate a previous mass extinction occurred how ice can trap gases and tell us the make up of our ancient atmosphere and much more. The text also touches on how these secrets are often uncovered through scientific research observation fossil records as well as using modern inventions and techniques like carbon dating. Spreads at the back of the book encourage readers to search for secrets in nature close to home and explore how we can all help protect the animals plants and natural features of today so we can continue to enjoy and learn from them. The fascinating information is brought to life with meticulously detailed vintage style artwork from Vasilisa Romanenko making this book a true treasure trove for the whole family to enjoy. Fieldbook of Nature Study
