High Performance Nonprofit Organizations Managing Upstream For Greater Impact:

High Performance Nonprofit Organizations Christine W. Letts, William P. Ryan, Allen Grossman, 1998-10-30 Nonprofit leaders are beginning to confront the most important unfinished business of their sector Having invented scores of successful model programs to address virtually every type of social problem or goal they are discovering that large scale sustained impact remains elusive Today the only way to get the full benefit of successful programs however is for nonprofit leaders to begin building high performance organizations nonprofits that are capable of creating sustained effective impact That requires reversing decades of under investment in the capacity of nonprofits A sector that has been indifferent if not hostile to the needs of its organizations where leaders are forced to manage upstream against countless obstacles now needs to apply its ingenuity and passion to the challenge of creating high performance organizations Drawing on management techniques used by successful managers in both businesses and nonprofits High Performance Nonprofit Organizations outlines approaches that nonprofits can use to build their capacity for learning innovating ensuring quality and motivating staff Illustrated with case studies and examples the book outlines processes for achieving these goals including human resources management to attract and develop employees truly in synch with an organization s mission benchmarking to identify practices that best meet a nonprofit s needs responsiveness and quality systems to continuously review and upgrade quality of service product development to tap the talents of every employee to create effective programs The authors argue that these processes far from corrupting a nonprofit with practices that evolved to make companies more profitable actually help an organization convert its values and integrity into results for clients and communities These adaptive capacities help nonprofits deliver on their mission building the model organization that will make the biggest impact with model programs High Performance Nonprofit Organizations goes further laying out an agenda for changing the nonprofit environment making it more supportive of its managers and more aware of the potential of organizational capacity The authors assess the special opportunity of several stakeholders including the nonprofit board foundations and the national office of multisite nonprofits to create a new culture that values organizational performance For the nonprofit manager trying to build an organization that is truly responsive to its clients and community High Performance Nonprofit Organizations is an essential review of best practices For the board member foundation program officer or nonprofit leader trying to create sustained impact it is a provocative challenge to deal with the sector s unfinished business with a new approach
