Highrise Social Living:

Producing and living the high-rise: New contexts, old questions? Manoel Rodrigues Alves, Manuel Appert, Christian Montès, 2024-05-14 The purpose of the book is to assess the process of urban verticalization in different contexts through time to provide insight into the relationships between highrise design and the way inhabitants negotiate them in their everyday lives to assess how planners politicians and designers negotiate residential highrises in the strategies they develop for building the city and to introduce urban narratives and cartographies Verticalization although not new currently takes place in a very different context than post 1945 Today highrise residential buildings are more than architectural solutions they are commodities in a global market where capital flows are fixed by developers and municipalities Our exploration of residential verticalization is anchored in case studies revealing different types of local global negotiations in the design of the city and has been framed by three interrelated dynamics first the complex relationships within the financialization of real estate markets revealing differences in the types of local global negotiations in the construction of the neo liberal city secondly the most developed anchors residential verticalization in the processes of socio spatial differentiation within cities mostly identified as gentrification associated to processes of urban renewal and densification the third related to readings and interpretations of the urban landscape and social spatial practices and its iconographic and cartographic representations This book is of interest to academics students planners architects and urban studies professionals It shows that the chosen research object is an increasingly relevant angle of analysis of the contemporary city It also provides a better knowledge of the processes of residential verticalization their impact on the privatization of the urban space and on urban segregation or fragmentation majority of their population has moved to live in high rise selecting to live high rise and registering consistently high residential satisfaction The height of apartment buildings in both cities continues to rise The tallest is anticipated to be 70 storey It is the contention of this book that contrary to earlier common negative discourses on public high rise living the high rise environment may yet offer urban residents a satisfying dwelling experience Leading housing academics researchers and practitioners in the two cities have contributed to this book This book presents a timely contribution to our understanding of a widening urban phenomenon that will affect a growing number of the world's population
