Nelson's Encyclopaedia , 1907 Black Bodies, White Gold Anna Arabindan-Kesson, 2021-03-22 In Black Bodies White Gold Anna Arabindan Kesson uses cotton a commodity central to the slave trade and colonialism as a focus for new interpretations of the way art commerce and colonialism were intertwined in the nineteenth century Atlantic world In doing so Arabindan Kesson models an art historical approach that makes the histories of the Black diaspora central to nineteenth century cultural production She traces the emergence of a speculative vision that informs perceptions of Blackness in which artistic renderings of cotton as both commodity and material became inexorably tied to the monetary value of Black bodies From the production and representation of negro cloth the textile worn by enslaved plantation workers to depictions of Black sharecroppers in photographs and paintings Arabindan Kesson demonstrates that visuality was the mechanism through which Blackness and cotton became equated as resources for extraction In addition to interrogating the work of nineteenth century artists she engages with contemporary artists such as Hank Willis Thomas Lubaina Himid and Yinka Shonibare CBE RA who contend with the commercial and imperial processes shaping constructions of Blackness and meanings of labor
