

HIGH-RISK PATROL

Reducing the Danger to You

By

GERALD W. GARNER

*Police Sergeant
Lakewood Police Department
Lakewood, Colorado*

"This book has a singular purpose: helping the contemporary police officer hang onto his or her life in a world that can turn suddenly deadly. It shows the reader what high-risk patrol really is and then spells out exactly what he must do to counter those risks successfully. It discusses his personal preparations for risk reduction, including mental attitude as well as physical skills and training. Seventeen chapters show the safety-minded police person how to do everything from handling traffic stops to surviving felony encounters; getting out of a domestic fight alive to surviving an ambush attack. Some "special" dangers are also discussed at length, including off-duty confrontations and emotional hazards of the job. The practical police officer should find the book's layout of particular value. At the end of each vital chapter a quick and concise "Risk-Reduction Checklist" is presented. These chapter summaries are excellent for review and merit rereading by the police professional intent on surviving to a healthy retirement."
