- Chapter 2

- 2.2: Speed is a measure of how fast something is moving. It is the rate which distance is covered.
  - The word rate is a clue that something is being divided by time. Speed is always measured in terms of a unit of distance divided by a unit of time.
  - Instantaneous Speed: A speed at any instant.
  - $Average\ speed = \frac{(Total\ distance\ covered)}{(Time\ Interval)}$
- 2.3
  - Velocity:
    - The difference between speed and velocity is velocity has a direction.
  - Constant Velocity
    - From the definition of velocity, it follows that to have a constant velocity requires both constant speed and constant direction. Constant speed means that the motion remains at the same speed.
    - Motion at constant velocity is motion in a straight line at constant speed.
  - Changing velocity
    - If either the speed or the direction is changing, then the velocity is changing. Constant speed and constant velocity are not the same.
    - In a car there are three controls that are used to change the velocity. Gas, break, steering.
- 2.4 Acceleration:
  - $Acceleration = \frac{(change\ of\ velocity)}{(Time\ interval)}$
  - The rate at which the velocity is changing is called acceleration. Because acceleration is a rate, it is a measure of how the velocity is changing with respect to time.
  - What defines acceleration is change.
  - Acceleration applies to decreases as well as increases in speed.
  - This is often called deceleration, or negative acceleration.
  - Acceleration, like velocity is directional. If we change either speed or direction, or both. We change velocity. And we accelerate.
  - When straight-line motion is considered, it is common to use speed and velocity interchangeably.
  - $Acceleration\ (along\ a\ straight\ line) = \frac{change\ in\ speed}{time\ interval}$
  - Speed and velocity are measured in units of distance per time.
- 2.5 Free Fall, How Fast:
  - Starts from a rest position and gains speed as it falls

Sunal, 2019-05-01 Physics Teaching and Learning: Challenging the Paradigm RISE Volume 8 focuses on research contributions challenging the basic assumptions, ways of thinking and practices commonly accepted in physics education. Teaching physics involves multifaceted research-based value-added strategies designed to improve academic engagement and depth of learning. In this volume, researchers, teaching and curriculum reformers, and reform implementers discuss a range of important issues. The volume should be considered as a first step in thinking through what physics teaching and physics learning might address in teacher preparation programs, in-service professional development programs, and in classrooms. To facilitate thinking about research-based physics teaching and learning, each chapter in the volume was organized around five common elements: 1. A significant review of research in the issue or problem area; 2. Themes addressed are relevant for the teaching and learning of K-16 science; 3. Discussion of original research by the author(s) addressing the major theme of the chapter; 4. Bridge gaps between theory and practice and/or research and practice; 5. Concerns and needs are addressed of school community context stakeholders including students, teachers, parents, administrators, and community members.      The College Board Admissions Testing Program Educational Testing Service, College Entrance Examination Board, 1971      Monthly Catalogue, United States Public Documents, 1985
