Emplaced Resistance in Palestine and Israel Marion Lecoquierre, 2021-11-18 The Israeli Palestinian conflict gravitates constantly around the question of territorial control due to the settler colonial principle present at the core of the Zionist project Acknowledging space as a central tool of domination used by the Israeli authorities this volume sheds light on the way space can become both a resource for and an outcome of protest with an emphasis placed on the way it is used and produced through practices of resistance by subaltern groups The research relies on a comparative approach relying on data collected in the course of fieldwork conducted between 2012 and 2015 in Palestine and Israel It focuses on three sites of contention which include the H2 area in Hebron the occupied Old City under Israeli authority the core neighbourhoods of Silwan Wadi Hilwe and al Bustan and the unrecognized Bedouin village of al Araqib in the Negev desert Through these three case studies the book tackles different strategies that engage with the materiality of space place sense of place territory landscape network and scale showing the mobilization of a real spatial repertoire of contention The different regimes of control give rise to strategies that are first and foremost emplaced i.e. rooted in the local Providing an original comparison between flashpoints of the Palestinian resistance against the Israeli

Feldman, Ian McGonigle, 2023-10-15 Since Israel conquered the West Bank formerly held by Jordan in 1967 over 400 000 settlers have moved into the territory In recent years Israeli settler organizations and allied American Jewish lobbyists have responded to international condemnation of the occupation by mobilizing narratives of indigeneity claiming sovereign and divine rights to the land Settler Indigeneity in the West Bank asks what Israeli settlers mean when they say they are indigenous how settler indigeneity is felt performed and mediated and what the implications of indigeneity claims are on the international stage Building on foundational scholarship that has come out of post colonial and indigeneity studies the volume theorizes settler indigeneity as a cultural phenomenon and product of transnational settler colonial histories while also interrogating the dialectic of settler and indigenous to illustrate their co constitution Considering agriculture clothing food language and religious practices the chapters explore how feelings of indigeneity are fashioned and how these feelings continue to transform the landscape of the West Bank Offering a series of original ethnographic accounts of these cultures and communities Settler Indigeneity in the West Bank intimately documents and discusses the processes of settler nativization in conversation with a variety of related literature in anthropology cultural studies Israel studies religious studies and settler colonial studies Entangled Histories in

Palestine/Israel Dafna Hirsch, 2024-04-16 This edited volume offers a new critical approach to the study of Zionist history and Israeli Palestinian relations based on the encounter between history and anthropology Informed by the anthropological method of setting large questions to intimate settings the book examines processes of Zionist colonization nation building and Palestinian dispossession by focusing on encounters between members of different national religious and ethnic groups from below through paying close attention to life stories and reconstructing everyday practices and micro histories of places and communities Thus it tells a complex story in which the practices of historical actors are not simply reducible to a single underlying logic of colonization even as they participate in the production and reproduction of colonial structures This approach effectively undermines the prevailing tendency to study national communities in isolation projecting onto the past an essentialist and rigid separation Rather than assuming two clearly bounded and monolithic national groups caught from the start in perpetual conflict this volume probes their historical production through their evolving relationships and their varied and shifting political social economic and cultural manifestations The book will be of interest to students and researchers in an array of fields including the history of Israeli Palestinian relations anthropological perspectives on settler colonialism and Zionism
