Eating Drugs Stefan Ecks, 2014 A Hindu monk in Calcutta refuses to take his psychotropic medications His psychiatrist explains that just as his body needs food the drugs are nutrition for his starved mind Does it matter how or whether patients understand their prescribed drugs Millions of people in India are routinely prescribed mood medications Pharmaceutical companies give doctors strong incentives to write as many prescriptions as possible with as little awkward questioning from patients as possible Without a sustained public debate on psychopharmaceuticals in India patients remain puzzled by the notion that drugs can cure disturbances of the mind While biomedical psychopharmaceuticals are perceived with great suspicion many non biomedical treatments are embraced Stefan Ecks illuminates how biomedical Ayurvedic and homeopathic treatments are used in India and argues that pharmaceutical pluralism changes popular ideas of what drugs do Based on several years of research on pharmaceutical markets Ecks shows how doctors employ a wide range of strategies to make patients take the remedies prescribed Yet while metaphors such as mind food may succeed in getting patients to accept the prescriptions they also obscure a critical awareness of drug effects This rare ethnography of pharmaceuticals will be of key interest to those in the anthropology and sociology of medicine
