Khor Abu Anga Magendohli Sudanese:

Khor Abu Anga and Magendohli Roy L. Carlson, 2015 The results of the excavation of two Paleolithic sites on the Nile in the Republic of the Sudan undertaken from the autumn of 1965 into the spring of 1966 are presented in this report Artifacts from Khor Abu Anga and Magendohli currently housed in the Museum of Archaeology and Ethnology at Simon Fraser University in Burnaby British Columbia Canada are described and quantified The artifact assemblages are identified as discrete units placed in chronological order compared in terms of cultural content and assigned to known industrial complexes The Khor Abu Anga and Magendohli assemblages are comparable to and part of recognized prehistoric industrial Acheulian the Sangoan the Lupemban and Aterian complexes well documented in Africa and in parts of Europe and western Asia The archaeological deposits at Khor Abu Anga are part of a record of evolving lithic technology from late Acheulian through Sangoan into Lupemban in the upper Nile valley over a long period of time The Archaeological Survey of Sudanese Nubia, 1963-69 David N. Edwards, Anthony J. Mills, 2020-07-02 This volume focusing on pharaonic sites is the first of a series bringing to publication the records of the Archaeological Survey of Sudanese Nubia ASSN These records represent a major body of data relating to a region largely now lost to flooding and of considerable importance for understanding the archaeology and history of Nubia The Prehistory of the Sudan Elena A.A. Garcea, 2020-09-01 This volume addresses the Out of Africa dispersals of the earliest hominins and early anatomically modern humans the last semi sedentary pottery bearing hunters fishers gatherers the early food producers and users of domestic plants and animals either local or imported from the Near East and the presuppositions of the rise of the kingdoms of Kerma Pharaonic Egypt and Axum on the basis of the latest available data Sudan played a crucial role in the development of ancient human behavior and societies and was part of an extensive network encompassing faraway areas of Africa such as Chad the Sahara Egypt Eritrea Ethiopia and Kenya as well as Asia namely the Levant the Middle East the Arabian Peninsula and India The archaeology of this country has been explored and appreciated since the 1700s and more than 30 national and international research teams are currently active New remarkable discoveries are unearthed every year which are analyzed with the most up to date scientific techniques and offer a prominent contribution to the general theoretical and methodological panorama of world archaeology Beside the Nile Valley the various geographical regions of Sudan the deserts savannas and other watercourses to the west and east of the main river are attentively taken into consideration as they formed a regional synergy that equally contributed to the far reaching influence of Sudan s inhabitants This book is particularly addressed to Africanist archaeologists who study other parts of Africa to prehistorians investigating other parts of the world to archaeology students and teachers interested in having a global view on human adaptation and behavior in ancient Sudan to science journalists and to antiquity admirers and learned tourists who travel to Sudan and Nubia Handbook of Pleistocene Archaeology of Africa Amanuel Beyin, David K. Wright, Jayne Wilkins, Deborah I. Olszewski, 2023-08-17 This handbook showcases an Africa wide compendium of Stone Age archaeological sites and methodological advances that have improved our understanding of hominin lifeways and biogeography in the continent. The focal time spans the Pleistocene Epoch c. 2.5 million to 11,700 years ago during which important human traits such as obligate bipedalism that freed the hands to engage in creative activities, a large brain relative to body size, language, and social complexity developed in the general forms that they are found today. The handbook is the first of its kind and it is expected to play a significant role in human evolutionary research by collating the African Stone Age record which exists in a fragmented state along the lines of national boundaries and colonial experiences. Showcasing emerging conceptual and methodological advances in African Pleistocene archaeology. Providing reference datasets for teaching and researching African prehistory. Making Africa's Stone Age record accessible to researchers and students based in Africa who may not have access to journal publications where most new field discoveries are published. The Handbook features 128 chapters of which 116 are site entries grouped by the host countries and presented in an alphabetical order. A number of those site-related entries examine multiple archaeological localities lumped under specific projects or study areas. The rest of the contributions deal with methodological topics such as luminescence and radiocarbon dating, field data recovery, lithic analysis, micromorphology, and hominin fossil and zooarchaeological records of Pleistocene Africa. The introductory chapter provides an historical overview of the development of Stone Age/Paleolithic archaeology in Africa beginning in the mid 19th century and paleoenvironmental and chronological frameworks commonly used to structure the continent's Pleistocene record. By making a good amount of African Stone Age literature accessible to researchers and the public, we wish to promote interest in human evolutionary research in the continent and elsewhere. Awarded the 2025 Best Book Award by The Society of Africanist Archaeologists. Handbook of Ancient Nubia Dietrich Raue, 2019-06-04. Numerous research projects have studied the Nubian cultures of Sudan and Egypt over the last thirty years, leading to significant new insights. The contributions to this handbook illuminate our current understanding of the cultural history of this fascinating region, including its interconnections to the natural world. An Archaeology of the Bantu Expansion Peter R. Coutros, Jessamy H. Doman, Igor Matonda Sakala, Koen Bostoen, 2025-07-22. The Bantu Expansion is one of the most intriguing issues in African history. Based on extensive fieldwork in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and laboratory analysis, this book provides the most comprehensive up-to-date and multi-proxy account of the first Bantu speakers south of the Congo rainforest. This volume begins with state-of-the-art reviews of the archaeological, palaeoenvironmental, genetic, linguistic, and oral historical contexts of the Bantu Expansion and includes evidence from over 150 previously unknown archaeological sites with extensive analyses of pottery, lithics, soil stable isotopes, phytoliths, charcoal, and human remains. Seven appendices contain the full metadata, radiometric, and geographical data for each site and comparative language data. The volume concludes with a sweeping interdisciplinary reconstruction of the first Bantu-speaking settlers in the Kwilu-Kasai region and rethinks how farming, climate change, and contact with Central African hunter-gatherers and Ubangi speakers impacted their lifeworld This book is indispensable for scholars and students of Africa from a wide variety of fields such as archaeology palaeoecology linguistics population genetics history and anthropology and of considerable interest to scientists active in other parts of the world All who think African history matters will find it a valuable source Kush ,1967
