African American Film Noir and Philosophy Dan Flory, 2025-10-16 How have feelings presumptions and preconceptions concerning racialized Blackness intersected with film noir Dan Flory relies on recent advances in philosophy of film philosophy of emotion cognitive film theory and critical philosophy of race to guide his analyses of this well-known film genre Making sense of techniques themes and characterizations filmmakers have used in order to structure movies into film noirs Flory focuses on those viewer responses that are not consciously registered by higher-level forms of cognition He argues that embodied affective and implicit reactions are key to understanding how film noir typically conveys ideas feelings and perspectives concerning race Noir films by African American and other artists have frequently sought to elicit such embodied responses rendering their investigation vital In many cases these artists have created works that aim either explicitly or implicitly to be filmed in the guise of philosophy by generating serious thoughtful reflection By using advances from these theoretical subfields in conjunction with developments in mainstream African American and other kinds of
