Lieberman, Michal Jan Rozbicki, 2017-07-25 This collection of essays by a team of international scholars addresses the topic of Charity through the lenses of the three Abrahamic religions Judaism Christianity and Islam The contributors look for common paradigms in the ways the three faiths address the needs of the poor and the needy in their respective societies and reflect on the interrelatedness of such practices among the three religions They ask how the three traditions deal with the distribution of wealth in the recognition that not all members of a given society have equal access to it and in the relationship of charity to the inheritance systems and family structures They reveal systemic patterns that are similar norms virtue theological validations exclusionary rules private responsibility to society issues that have implications for intercultural and interfaith understanding Conversely the essays inquire how the three faiths differ in their understanding of poverty wealth and justifications for charity The Brotherhood in Islam, Message to the Jews, Christians and Muslims Ahmed Shendy Yousef, 2011 Understanding Islam Jerald Dirks, 2003 In Understanding Islam Dr Dirks offers a timely and factually correct alternative to understanding Islam It is written for the Western and primarily Christian reader The primary focus of the Book is on what is termed Sunni Islam i e the Islam practiced by approximately 85-90% of the self-professed Muslims in the world The Book is unique in several respects It treats Islam from its own point of view It is written by a natural born American for the Western reader and thus may avoid some of the cultural overlay that accompanies some books on Islam written by other Muslim authors The author is an American who has practiced Islam both while living in America and in the Middle East thus offering a broader perspective than would have otherwise been possible As a convert from Christianity to Islam and as a former ordained minister within Christianity the author does a very good job of expounding the commonalities and contrasts of Islam with Judaism and Christianity while still avoiding the temptation to distort Islam by interpreting it from within a Judaeo Christian perspective The reader is introduced to Islam almost exclusively through the two primary sources of Islam i e the Qur'an and the Sunnah which are the only completely authoritative sources on Islam

Jews, Christians, and the Abode of Islam Jacob Lassner, 2020-03-04 One of the greatest authorities on medieval Islam sheds immensely stimulating new light on cross cultural relations in the Middle Ages Times Literary Supplement UK In Jews Christians and the Abode of Islam historian Jacob Lassner examines the relationship between the three Abrahamic faiths that defined their political and cultural interaction during the Middle Ages and continues to define them today Examining the debates taking place in modern Western scholarship on Islam Lassner sheds new light on the social and political status of medieval Jews and Christians in various Islamic lands from the seventh to the thirteenth century Using a vast array of primary sources Lassner balances the rhetoric of literary and legal texts from the Middle Ages with other newly discovered medieval sources that describe life as it was actually lived among the three faith communities Lassner demonstrates what medieval Muslims meant when they spoke of tolerance and how that abstract concept played out at different times and places in the Christian and Jewish communities under Islamic rule Finally he considers how this new understanding of medieval Islamic civilization might affect the highly contentious global environment of today

Peters, 2018-05-22 F E Peters a scholar without peer in the comparative study of Judaism Christianity and Islam revisits his pioneering work Peters has rethought and thoroughly rewritten his classic The Children of Abraham for a new generation of readers at a time when the understanding of these three religious traditions has taken on a new and critical urgency He began writing about all three faiths in the 1970s long before it was fashionable to treat Islam in the context of Judaism and Christianity or to align all three for a family portrait In this updated edition he lays out the similarities and differences of the three religious siblings with great clarity and succinctness and with that same remarkable objectivity that is the hallmark of all the author's work Peters traces the three faiths from the sixth century B C when the Jews returned to Palestine from exile in Babylonia to the time in the Middle Ages when they approached their present form He points out that all three faith groups whom the Muslims themselves refer to as People of the Book share much common ground Most notably each embraces the practice of worshipping a God who intervenes in history on behalf of His people The book's text is direct and accessible with thorough and nuanced discussions of each of the three religions Footnotes provide the reader with expert guidance into the highly complex issues that lie between every line of this stunning edition of The Children of Abraham Complete with a new preface by the author this
