Muhammad 'Abduh and His Interlocutors: Conceptualizing Religion in a Globalizing World Ammeke Kateman, 2019-01-04. In Muhammad Abduh and his Interlocutors: Conceptualizing Religion in a Globalizing World, Ammeke Kateman offers an account of Muhammad Abduh's Islamic Reformism in a context in which ideas increasingly crossed familiar geographical, religious, and cultural frontiers. Presenting an alternative to the inadequate perspective of Westernization, Kateman situates the ideas of Muhammad Abduh (Egypt 1849-1905) on Islam and religion amongst those of his interlocutors within a global intellectual field. Ammeke Kateman's approach documents the surprising pluralism of Abduh's interlocutors, the diversity in their shared conceptualizations of religion, and the creativity of Abduh's own interpretation. In this way, the conceptualizations of Abduh and his contemporaries also shed light on the diversified global genealogy of the modern concept of religion.

Islamic Liberalism Halil Ibrahim Canbegi, 2025-07-10. In Islamic Liberalism: A Theory of Impossibility, based on the Lockean Tradition, Halil Ibrahim Canbegi investigates the inherent inconsistencies of Islamic liberalism by examining the philosophical and theological foundations of both liberalism and Islam. Canbegi draws on Lockean liberalism, asserting that John Locke's emerging liberalism is deeply rooted in theological concepts such as covenant theology, natural law, and the distinctive nature of Christianity itself. In contrast, the author argues that Islam lacks the necessary theological and intellectual framework to develop a coherent version of liberalism, often termed Islamic liberalism. Canbegi maintains that this concept merely represents a superficial juxtaposition of Islam and liberalism rather than a genuine synthesis. Ultimately, the author concludes that Islamic liberalism is merely a heterogeneous amalgamation of Islamic and liberal ideas which do not combine into a unified whole. This critical analysis challenges prevailing notions and invites readers to reconsider the complex relationship between these two influential systems of thought.

Constructing Reality in Comparative Theology Paul S. Chung, 2022-09-29. Through an examination of Christian interaction with other religions, Paul S. Chung constructs a theology of comparative religion. In the course of this construction, he employs the work of Ernst Troeltsch, Robert Bellah, and Karl Barth while offering case studies of transformative interaction between Buddhism, Christianity, and Islam. Chung's interdisciplinary approach opens up avenues for interreligious understanding and melding, for instance, exploring the development of a Protestant Islam. Throughout, he provides new conceptions of the religions involved and the realities they assert.

Islam and Warfare Onder Bakircioglu, 2014-10-30 The question of how Islamic law regulates the notions of just recourse to and just conduct in war has long been the topic of heated controversy and is often subject to oversimplification in scholarship and journalism This book traces the rationale for aggression within the Islamic tradition and assesses the meaning and evolution of the contentious concept of jihad The book reveals that there has never been a unified position on what Islamic warfare tangibly entails due to the complexity of relevant sources and discordant historical dynamics that have shaped the contours of jihad Onder Bakircioglu advocates a dynamic reading of Islamic law and military tradition one which prioritises the demands of contemporary international relations and considers the meaning and application of jihad as contingent on the socio political forces of each historical epoch This book will be of great interest to scholars and students of international law Islamic law war and security studies and the law of armed conflict
