Muslims of Spain Emir Cruz Fernández, For every romantic retelling there is a much more complex reality If you have always been captivated by the Spanish Golden Age you may be familiar with Maurofilia literature a fictitious stylized and romantic portrayal of the Moorish people and culture written from a Catholic perspective Far less well known is Aljamiado literature another genre that sprang up during the Spanish Golden Age which pairs beautifully with Maurofilia literature and affords us a deeper understanding of what was happening at the time While Maurofilia literature romanticizes the experience of the Moors Aljamiado literature focuses on the much more difficult reality of the Moorish experience in an intolerant and restrictive Catholic society This gritty realism focused genre was vital to the Moorish community at the time It demonstrates their resilience as they fought to preserve their religious social and cultural identity in a predominantly Catholic society You now have a unique opportunity to see past the romanticized depiction of the Moorish people in Maurofilia literature and glimpse how those people viewed themselves Through his thorough and focused research Professor Emir Cruz Fernández will give you a panoramic view of the Muslim experience during the Spanish Golden Age Inside this fascinating and insightful work you will discover A background to Aljamiado studies so you have a complete understanding of how the texts emerged The key characteristics of Aljamiado literature and how it gives us a deeper insight into the reality of the time Significant insight is taken from scholars of Islam A fuller understanding of one of the most reproduced and widely read works by Spanish crypto Muslims of the 16th century The role of The Mi r j in Muslim tradition How Aljamiado literature shines a light on a broader picture of the human experience Insightful analysis and translation of significant parts of crucial texts in Aljamiado literature And much more There is always another layer And you are about to uncover a genuinely fascinating one Deepen your understanding of literature during the Golden Age of Spain Yça Gidelli (fl.

1450) His Antecedents and Successors Gerard Albert Wieggers, 1991 Islam in Spanish Literature Luce López Baralt, 1992 A sweeping reinterpretation of Spanish literature showing the great debts to Arab culture that Spain incurred through the 800 years of Islamic presence in Iberia By so doing it redefines the ground of the study of Spanish literature

Philosophy between the Islamicate and Latin American Traditions Anthony F. Shaker, Amílcar Aldama Cruz, 2025-11-18 Latin America is a diverse mosaic of cultures that trace their origins back to Indigenous African Spanish Portuguese and Islamic sources Its philosophies eloquently expressed by a long line of thinkers are found not just in departments of philosophy but also in its rich literature and art which are given treatment in this volume The Islamicate world is a unique fourteen century old cultural mosaic that covers much of the known world Despite its long civilizational experience it too faces the challenge of emancipation from foreign domination and the chaotic cacophony of monologues afflicting our time. The papers collected here cover various aspects of the philosophies of these two constantly interacting traditions and how they impinge on an old problematic ghayriyya otherness and alienation. Their themes include key figures like Ibn Arab Suhraward A mad b Mu afa al Alaw Rudolfo Kusch Jos Mart Spain s Moriscos and contemporary Argentine philosophers and expanding areas of research like the philosophy of the Nahua popularly known as the Aztec and the language reforms in T rkiye both of which provide excellent examples of cultural self alienation

Arabic Literature in the Post-Classical Period Roger Allen, D. S. Richards, 2006-04-13 The final volume of the series explores the Arabic literary heritage of the little known period from the twelfth to the beginning of the nineteenth century. Even though it was during this time that the famous Thousand and One Nights was composed, very little has been written on the literature of the period generally. Roger Allen and Donald Richards bring together some of the most distinguished scholars in the field. The volume is divided into parts with the traditions of poetry and prose covered separately within both their elite and popular contexts. The last two sections are devoted to drama and the indigenous tradition of literary criticism

Women, Texts and Authority in the Early Modern Spanish World Marta V. Vicente, Luis R. Corteguera, 2017-07-05 This is the first essay collection to examine the relation between text and gender in Spain from a broad geographical, social and cultural perspective covering more than 300 years. The contributors examine women and the construction of gender thematically, dealing with the areas of politics, law, religion, sexuality, literature and economics and in a variety of social categories from Christians and Moriscos, queens and merchants, peasants and visionaries, heretics and madwomen. The essays cover different regions in the Spanish monarchy including Andalusia, Aragon, Castile, Catalonia, Valencia and Spanish America from the fifteenth century through to the eighteenth century. Women, Texts and Authority in Early Modern Spain focuses on two central themes: gender relations in the shaping of family and community life and women's authority in spheres of power. The representation of women in a variety of texts such as poetry, court cases or even account books illustrate the multifaceted world in which women lived, constantly choosing and negotiating their identities. The appeal of this collection is not limited to scholars of Spanish history and literature; it is deliberately designed to address the issue of how gender relations were constructed in the formation of modern society and therefore will be of interest to scholars of women's and gender history generally. Because of the emphasis on how this construction occurs in texts, the collection will also be attractive to scholars interested in literary studies and or print culture

Reading the Qur'an in Latin Christendom, 1140-1560 Thomas E. Burman, 2011-06-03 Selected by Choice magazine as an Outstanding Academic Title Most of what we know about attitudes toward Islam in the medieval and early modern West has been based on polemical treatises against Islam written by Christian scholars preoccupied with defending their own faith and attacking the doctrines of others Christian readings of the Qur'an have in consequence typically been depicted as tedious and one dimensional exercises in anti Islamic hostility In Reading the Qur'an in Latin Christendom 1140 1560 Thomas E Burman looks instead to a different set of sources the Latin translations of the Qur'an made by European scholars and the manuscripts and early printed books in which these translations circulated Using these largely unexplored materials Burman argues that the reading of the Qur'an in Western Europe was much more complex While their reading efforts were certainly often focused on attacking Islam scholars of the period turned out to be equally interested in a whole range of grammatical lexical and interpretive problems presented by the text Indeed these two approaches were interconnected attacking the Qur'an often required sophisticated explorations of difficult Arabic grammatical problems Furthermore while most readers explicitly denounced the Qur'an as a fraud translations of the book are sometimes inserted into the standard manuscript format of Christian Bibles and other prestigious Latin texts small centered blocks of text surrounded by commentary or in manuscripts embellished with beautiful decorated initials and elegant calligraphy for the pleasure of wealthy collectors Addressing Christian Muslim relations generally as well as the histories of reading and the book Burman offers a much fuller picture of how Europeans read the sacred text of Islam than we have previously had

Muslims of Medieval Latin Christendom, c.1050-1614 Brian A. Catlos, 2014-03-20 An innovative study which explores how the presence of Muslim communities transformed Europe and stimulated Christian society to define itself
