Island Bodies Transgressive Sexualities In The Caribbean Imagination:

Island Bodies Rosamond S. King, 2014-05-13 Island Bodies analyzes cultural production from Caribbean and Caribbean diaspora writers that flouts sexual norms. The chapters focus on how homosexuality, interracial relationships, transgender people, and women's sexual agency are portrayed in film, music, and literature.

Entangled Otherness Charlotte Hammond, 2018 Entangled Otherness explores the dynamics of cross-dressing and gender performance in contemporary Francophone Caribbean cultures. Through examination of archival texts, artistic works, and oral histories, the author reveals how strategies of crossing, mimicry, and masquerade have enabled resistance to the racialised, gendered, and patriarchal classifications of bodies that characterized Enlightenment thought during the French transatlantic slave trade.

Island Time Jessica Swanston Baker, 2024-10-04 A close look at how wylers, a popular musical style from the island of St Kitts and Nevis, expresses a unique mode of relation in the postcolonial Caribbean. In Island Time, ethnomusicologist Jessica Swanston Baker examines wylers, a musical form from St Kitts and Nevis that is characterized by speed. Baker argues that this speed becomes a useful and highly subjective metric for measuring the relationship between Caribbean aspirations and the promises of economic modernity, women's bodily autonomy, and the nationalist fantasies that would seek to curb that autonomy and the material realities of Kittitian/Nevisian youth living in the disillusionment following postcolonial independence. She traces the wider Caribbean musical, cultural, and media-based resonances of wylers, posing an alternative model to scholarship on Caribbean music that has tended to privilege the big islands (Trinidad, Jamaica, and Haiti), thus neglecting not only the unique cultural worlds of smaller nations but also the unbounded nature of musical exchange in the region. The archipelago emerges as a useful model for apprehending the relationality across scales that governs the temporal and spatial logics that undergird Caribbean performance. The archipelago and its speeds ultimately emerge as a meaningful medium for postcolonial/postmodern world-making.

Erotic Cartographies Krystal Nandini Ghisyawan, 2022-01-14 Erotic Cartographies uses subjective mapping, a participatory data collection technique, to demonstrate how Trinidadian same-sex loving women use their gender performance, erotic autonomy, and space-making practices to reinforce and resist colonial ascriptions on subject bodies. The women strategically embody their sexual identities to challenge imposed subject categories and to contest their invisibility and exclusion from discourses of belonging. Erotic Cartographies refers to the processes of mapping territories of self-knowing and self-expression, both cognitively in the imagination and on paper during the mapping exercise, exploring how meaning is given to space and how it is transformed. Using the women's quotes and maps, the book focuses on the false binary of public/private, the practices of home and family, and religious nationalism and spiritual self-seeking to demonstrate the women's challenges to the structural, symbolic, and interpersonal violence of colonial discourses and practices related to gender, knowledge, and power in Trinidadian society.

Murray-Román,2016-01-11 Focusing on the literary representation of performance practices in anglophone francophone and hispanophone Caribbean literature Jeannine Murray Rom n shows how a shared regional aesthetic emerges from the descriptions of music dance and oral storytelling events Because the historical circumstances that led to the development of performance traditions supersede the geopolitical and linguistic divisions of colonialism the literary uses of these traditions resonate across the linguistic boundaries of the region The author thus identifies the aesthetic that emerges from the act of writing about live arts and moving bodies as a practice that is grounded in the historically geographically and culturally specific features of the Caribbean itself Working with twentieth and twenty first century sources ranging from theatrical works and novels to blogs Murray Rom n examines the ways in which writers such as Jacques Stephen Alexis Zo Vald s Rosario Ferr Patrick Chamoiseau and Marlon James experiment with textually compensating for the loss of the corporeality of live relationship in performance traditions Through their exploration of the interaction of literature and performance she argues Caribbean writers themselves offer a mode of bridging the disjunction between cultural and philosophical approaches within Caribbean studies Matria Redux Tegan Zimmerman,2023-06-23 In Matria Redux Caribbean Women Novelize the Past author Tegan Zimmerman contends that there is a need for reading Caribbean women's texts relationally. This comprehensive study argues that the writer's turn to maternal histories constitutes the definitive feature of this transcultural and transnational genre. Through an array of Caribbean women's historical novels published roughly between 1980 and 2010, this book formulates the theory of matria, an imagined maternal space and time as a postcolonial psychoanalytic feminist framework for reading fictions of maternal history written by and about Caribbean women. Tracing the development of the historical novel in four periods of the Caribbean past: slavery, colonialism, revolution, and decolonization, this study argues that a pan-Caribbean generation of women writers of varying discursive racialized realities has depicted similar matria constructs and maternal motifs. A politicized concept, matria functions in the historical novel as a counternarrative to traditional historical and literary discourses. Through close readings of the mother-daughter plots in contemporary Caribbean women's historical fiction such as Andrea Levy's The Long Song, Edwidge Danticat's The Farming of Bones, Paule Marshall's Praisesong for the Widow, and Marie Elena John's Unburnable, Matria Redux considers the concept of matria an important vehicle for postcolonial psychoanalytic feminist literary resistance and political intervention. Matria as a psychoanalytic postcolonial strategy therefore envisions by returning to history alternative feminist fictions, futures, and Caribbeans. In Plenty and in Time of Need Lia T. Bascomb, 2020. In Plenty and in Time of Need uses music and performance as sites of analysis for the competing ideals and realities of Barbadian national culture. The book demonstrates complex relations between national gendered and sexual identities in Barbados and how these identities are represented and interpreted on a global stage. Sexuality, Gender and Nationalism in Caribbean Literature Kate Houlden, 2016-11-18. This book focuses on sex and sexuality in post-war novels from the Anglophone Caribbean. Countering the critical orthodoxy that literature from this period dealt with sex only tangentially, implicitly transmitting sexist or homophobic messages, the author instead highlights the range and diversity in its representations of sexual life. She draws on gender and sexuality studies, postcolonial theory, and cultural history to provide new readings of seminal figures like Samuel Selvon and George Lamming, whilst also calling attention to the work of innovative lesser-studied authors such as Andrew Salkey, Oscar Dathorne, and Rosa Guy. Offering a coherent and expansive overview of how post-war Caribbean novelists have treated the persistently controversial topic of sex, this book addresses one of the blind spots in Caribbean literary criticism. It mines a range of little-studied archival materials and texts to argue that fiction of the post-war era exhibits both continuities with the sexual emphases of earlier writing and connections to later trends. The author also presents nationalist ideology as central to the literature of this era. It is in the fictional rendering of sexuality that the contradictions of the nationalist project are most apparent: sex both exceeds and threatens the imagined unity on which the political vision depends. Imagining Motherhood in Contemporary Irish and Caribbean Literature Abigail L. Palko, 2016-07-25. Imagining Motherhood in Contemporary Irish and Caribbean Literature undertakes a comparative transnational reading to develop more expansive literary models of good mothering.

Abigail L Palko argues that Irish and Caribbean literary representations of non normative mothering practices do not reflect transgressive or dangerous mothering but are rather cultural negotiations of the definition of a good mother This original book demonstrates the sustained commitment to countering the dominant ideologies of maternal self sacrifice foundational to both Irish and Caribbean nationalist rhetoric offering instead the possibility of integrating maternal agency into an effective model of female citizenship The Queer Caribbean Speaks K. Campbell,2014-02-05 In most Caribbean countries homosexuality is still illegal and many outside of the region are unaware of how difficult life can be for gay men and lesbians This book collects interviews with queer Caribbean writers activists and citizens and challenges the dominance of Euro American theories in understanding global queerness Caribbean Literature in Transition, 1920-1970: Volume 2 Raphael Dalleo,Curdella Forbes,2021-01-14 The years between the 1920s and 1970s are key for the development of Caribbean literature producing the founding canonical literary texts of the Anglophone Caribbean This volume features essays by major scholars as well as emerging voices revisiting important moments from that era to open up new perspectives Caribbean contributions to the Harlem Renaissance to the Windrush generation publishing in England after World War II and to the regional reverberations of the Cuban Revolution all feature prominently in this story At the same time we uncover lesser known stories of writers publishing in regional newspapers and journals of pioneering women writers and of exchanges with Canada and the African continent From major writers like Derek Walcott V S Naipaul George Lamming and Jean Rhys to recently recuperated figures like Eric Walrond Una Marson Sylvia Wynter and Ismith Khan this volume sets a course for the future study of Caribbean literature Bay Lodyans Cécile Accilien,2023-08-01 In Haitian Creole bay lodyans means to tell stories to an audience and more generally to entertain This book is the first to analyze popular contemporary Haitian films looking especially at how they respond to the needs and desires of Haitian audiences in and beyond Haiti Produced between 2000 and 2018 and largely shot with digital cameras and sometimes cellphones these films focus on the complexities of community nostalgia belonging identity and the emotional landscapes of exile and diaspora They reflect sociopolitical and cultural issues related to family language im migration religion gender sexuality and economic hardship Using storytelling and other less traditionally academic techniques Cécile Accilien advances Haitian epistemological frameworks Bay Lodyans integrates terms and concepts from Haitian culture such as jerans and kafou derived from the French words for to manage and crossroads respectively and includes interviews with Haitian filmmakers actors and scholars in order to challenge the dominance of Western theoretical approaches and perspectives Queer Freedom : Black Sovereignty Ana-Maurine Lara,2020-11-01 2021 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title Winner of the 2021 Gregory Bateson Book Prize presented by the Society for Cultural Anthropology Winner of the 2020 Ruth Benedict Prize presented by the Association for Queer Anthropology Theoretically wide ranging and deeply personal and poetic Queer Freedom Black Sovereignty is based on more than three years of fieldwork in the Dominican Republic Ana Maurine Lara draws on her engagement in traditional ceremonies observations of national Catholic celebrations and interviews with activists from peasant feminist and LGBT communities to reframe contemporary conversations about queerness and blackness The result is a rich ethnography of the ways criollo spiritual practices challenge gender and racial binaries and manifest what Lara characterizes as a shared desire for decolonization Queer Freedom Black Sovereignty is also a ceremonial ofrenda or offering in its own right At its heart is a fundamental question How can we enable queer black life in all its forms and what would it mean to be free sovereign in the twenty first century Calling on the reader to join her in exploring possible answers Lara maintains that the analogy between these terms queerness and blackness freedom and sovereignty is necessarily incomplete and unresolved to be determined only by ongoing processes of embodied relational knowledge production Queer Freedom Black Sovereignty thus follows figures such as Sylvia Wynter Mar a Lugones M Jacqui Alexander douard Glissant Mark Rifkin Gloria Anzald a and Audre Lorde in working to theorize a potential roadmap to decolonization
