The first part of this volume will reconceptualize the property rights reform in post Mao China to provide a political economy explanation of why the transformation of property rights in China appears piece meal. The success of the post Mao reforms can be attributed to China's ability to integrate the experience of a variety of transition models. The second part of the paper investigates two distinct transition models in light of the lessons from current Vietnamese reform. It explores the dynamics of political actions and analyzes the political reasons for economic reform.
